CANDIDATE KIELY A LIGHT DOCKET BOSTON & MAINE HAD ROMANTIC CAREER

Made Fine Impression at Rally Last Evening

A Forceful Speaker He Discussed Seventh District Senatorial Matters in Plain Language and Received Ovation From Big Gathering

Mr. Philip Kiely, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh senatorial district, which includes wards five and nine of this city, made no mistake when he came to Lowell to address the democracy, for no stranger candidate ever made a more favorable impression upon an audience than did Mr. Kiely and he made hundreds of votes by coming.

Lowell working men were interested to see and hear Mr. Kiely because of the fact that he conducted a valiant though unsuccessful fight in the house in behalf of the workmen's compensation bill, which is one of the best measures for the employees of the mills and workshops ever presented to the legislature. Mr. Kiely stated that he would support the bill if elected to the senate. Mr. Kiely is a forceful speaker, never hesitating and using plain language that all can readily understand. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, and he was cheered at the conclusion of the rally. He will speak at the Tannery tomorrow noon.

The evening rally held in Keyes' auction rooms in the old Boston & Maine depot drew a gathering that overflowed the building. The meeting was called to order by James H. Rogers, democratic candidate for representative in ward one, and Dracut, Mr. Rogers, after brief remarks, introduced as the presiding officer Gardner W. Pearson. On the platform were Mr. Kiely, Edward F. Tierney, representing Col. Carmichael, Mayor Meenan, Hon. Peter H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, John W. Daly, candidate for alderman, Edward Foye, candidate for purchasing agent, and Edward Gallagher, of the state central committee. Col. Carmichael appeared toward the close of the meeting, having been at city hall. Mr. Tierney at the time was addressing the gathering and he gracefully gave way to the colonel.

Chairman Pearson in opening discussed the tariff and the injustice of the present district arrangements in this state, whereby the little town of Ashby, 30 miles away, is in a senatorial district with a portion of Lowell, while Sausal, which Mr. Pearson pointed out must be reached by bus if one stayed in the district, was also in a senatorial district with Lowell.

Mr. Pearson was vehement in his denunciation of republican policies which planned and executed such an arrangement of districts. He criticized Senator Lodge also, touching upon the matter of the high cost of living, and Mr. Pearson in conclusion pointed out the many indications of success now apparent and urged all to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Mayor Meenan, the first speaker received a warm welcome and after referring to the excellent record of Candidate Kiely in the house, he dealt with state issues and Lodge's republican state machine.

Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was introduced and though suffering from a cold, spoke in the interests of the candidacy of Mr. Kiely and his own interests, discussed the election of the balance of the democratic state ticket, and urged that all his hearers, democrats and republicans alike, vote for democratic candidates.

Mr. Kiely was then introduced as the speaker of the evening, and he spoke at considerable length. He declared that if the opposing candidate, Mr. Bennett of Saugus, could point out one occasion when the speaker, while in the lower house of the legislature, voted against the interests of the people, he would withdraw as a candidate against Mr. Bennett. On the other hand, he challenged Mr. Bennett to do the same thing on his record.

Mr. Kiely made an attack on Mr. Bennett's record, declaring that the present senator had voted against the interests of the people on several occasions, among them when he voted against the election of United States senators by popular vote, his vote against the 54-hour bill for women and children, and other bills affecting corporations and labor.

The speaker also attacked the republicans for the gerrymander which placed Lowell and Lynn in the "showing" district, and demanded that the democrats take control of the state, that they might give justice to all. In speaking of Sen. Lodge and national issues, he complimented the insurgent republican senators such as Sen. La Follette. He was frequently applauded and was given an ovation at the conclusion of the remarks.

Col. Carmichael, Mr. Tierney, Mr. Foye and Mr. Daly then made brief speeches, the rally closing at 10 o'clock.

DEATHS

DAVIS—Died, Nov. 2, in this city, William F. Davis, aged 62 years, at his home, 83 Shaw street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Davis, two daughters, Effie M. and Eva R. Davis; four brothers, Josiah W., Martin V., Lafayette P., and Albert P. Davis; and one sister, Mrs. Lizzie A. Carr. Mr. Davis was a member of Grand Union lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F.

CARRUTHERS—Joseph Carruthers died Nov. 1st at the Chelmsford Street hospital, aged 68 years. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertaker George M. Eastman, 24 Jackson street. Funeral notice later. Deceased leaves one son in England.

MORGAN—Mrs. Jane Ballou Morgan, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William A. McEvoy, of Tenth street, came to this city as a young girl, from her birthplace in Bristol, N. H., and worked in the saw-mill in the Lowell mills with Lucy Larcom. She was married to William L. Long of Lowell and with him went west, where they lived for several years until Mr. Long's death. She later came the wife of Ira N. Morgan, of Bow, N. H., and since 1870 has resided chiefly in Lowell.

Her living children are William C. Long of Claremont, N. H.; Lorin O. Morgan of Somerville, and Mrs. William A. McEvoy of this city. She is also survived by four grandchildren. Mrs. Morgan was a descendant of Hester Ballou, the famous Universalist divine, and was a connection of Mrs. Eliza Ballou Garrison, a mother of President James A. Garfield.

She was of a quiet and retiring disposition and much respected and beloved by all who knew her.

LEBEL—Mrs. Thomas Lebel died yesterday at her home, 27 Dayton street, aged 65 years. She leaves her husband, four sons, Joseph, Alfred, John and Lord Lebel, all of Lowell, and a daughter, Flora, of Williams-town, Vt.; also two brothers, Ernest Boudanger of Lowell and Henry Boudanger of Canada, and two sisters, Mrs. Jenn Martin and Mrs. Louis Boudanger of Canada.

VIANCOUR—Joseph Viancour died yesterday at his home, 5 Fulton avenue, aged 36 years, 4 months. He left his mother, Mrs. Marie Viancour; two brothers, Oscar of Lowell and Henry of the west, and a sister, Mrs. Alfred Raymond, of Newburyport.

GOSSHEIN—Mrs. Abigail Gossheine died yesterday at her home, 6 McIntire street, aged 25 years. She leaves a husband and two small children.

BEAN—Mrs. Jessie E. Bean died yesterday at the Lowell General hospital, aged 84 years. Death followed a short illness. The body was removed to the home, 3 Hazel square, Centralville, by Undertaker Eastman. Mrs. Bean was the widow of the late Abisha B. Bean.

OIL PAINTING OF EX-MAYOR PALMER AT CITY HALL

An oil painting of the late ex-Mayor Charles O. Palmer has been hung in the city messenger's office at city hall. The picture was done by a Boston artist and the only criticism heard thus far has to do with the background, which has a little too much light. Mr. Palmer was mayor in 1883-84-85.

The contract for the new boiler for the Central Fire station has been awarded to D. J. Leary. The contract was signed by Mayor Meenan today.

Before Judge Hadley in Court Today

Judge Hadley presided over the session of the police court this morning, and found awaiting his consideration very few cases. Philip Drouin was before the court for the fourth time, and the court sentenced him to five months in the Lowell jail.

Elizabeth Riley became rather strenuous last evening and attempted to break up furniture in the house of Mrs. Frank Carroll on Church street. She was adjudged guilty of wilfully destroying property, and ordered to serve a term of 60 days in the local jail. It is understood, however, that Dr. Benner will make an examination as to the defendant's mental condition.

Charles George was arrested last evening by Special Officer Mahan when coming from his work in the Tremont & Suffolk mills, and this morning he was found guilty of the larceny of two pounds of cotton and ordered to pay a fine of $15 within three days or be sentenced to jail for the term of three months. He paid the fine.

It would appear from the evidence that the man was coming out of the mill gate last evening when Officer Mahan said to him: "What have you got there?" The reply was: "Simply my lunchbox, and nothing more; just search me and find out." The officer searched him and discovered two pounds of cotton valued at 30 cents in the lunchbox.

There were three $2 fines and two were released by the probation officer. Patrick V. McCarthy, charged with larceny, was continued until the ninth day of November, upon his plea of not guilty, at the request of the government.

FUNERALS

PANGBURN—The funeral of E. Lucille Pangburn, daughter of Clarence J. and Mary A. Pangburn, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 31 B street, and was largely attended. Rev. Selden W. Cummings was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Arthur Howard and Herbert Draper. Selections were given by Miss E. Parkinson. ROACH—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Roach took place this morning from her late home, 3 rear of 80 Dummer street at 9 o'clock. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 9:45 o'clock. Rev. Timothy Callahan officiated. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, sang the Gregorian mass and rendered the usual music. Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew McCarthy sustaining the solos. Among the floral tributes were a spray inscribed "At Rest," from Mrs. Deliscoll and family; sprays from Mrs. Nettie Hyde and the Cackley children. The bearers were Redmond Sullivan, James J. McAndrews, Michael Riley, Daniel Roach, John Roach and Arthur Dufresne. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Timothy Callahan and the committee prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage had charge of the funeral.

CHERRY—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Cherry took place this morning at 8:30 from her late home, 7 State street. A high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I., in the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. The Gregorian chant was sung by the boys' choir of the church. Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon was the soloist and director of the choir. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. The bearers were James Young, Alexander Curry, Harry Lappin and John Lappin. Among the floral offerings were: Spray of chrysanthemums with ribbon inscribed "Mamma," from Miss Gladys Curry; basket of flowers, Mrs. Alice Oakes and daughter; anchor on base, Mr. and Mrs. John Lappin; standing cross inscribed "Mother," from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lappin; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Young; spray, Miss Annie Sullivan, C. H. Molloy & Sons, undertakers, in charge.

Three Carmichael Rallies Through his personal friendship for Col. Carmichael, Congressman-elect McGillicuddy of Maine will come to Lowell Friday evening and will address three Carmichael rallies, at Mathews hall, Lincoln hall and Keyes' auction rooms. Col. Carmichael and other speakers will also address the gatherings. While in Lowell Congressman McGillicuddy will be entertained by Col. Carmichael at his home in Rolfe street. Both men speak tomorrow night at a big rally at Lawrence and immediately after speaking Col. Carmichael will come over the road to Lowell to attend the rally in Mathews hall.

Touring the Towns Starting out early tomorrow morning, Col. Carmichael will tour the towns of Dracut, Billerica, Chelmsford, Tewksbury, Reading and Wilmington, making brief speeches at each place. On Friday he will give his attention to Andover, Methuen, Lynnfield and the other places in the lower end of the district. While Col. Carmichael is touring the district a corps of clerks is engaged sending through the mail campaign literature in the interest of the party and its congressional candidates. By Saturday 18 mail pouches of such literature will have been sent out.

A CHIMNEY FIRE An alarm from box 125 at 8:25 o'clock last night was for a chimney fire at 500 Market street. Sparks set the roof smoking, but there was little or no damage.

Votes a Substantial Increase of Capital Stock

For Additions of Equipment and Abolition of Grade Crossings—Special Meeting of Stockholders Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad here this morning, President Mellen presiding, it was voted to increase the capital stock of the corporation by the issue of 100,037 new shares of its common stock for the purpose of making additions to the equipment of the company, for making improvements to the road and for abolishing grade crossings, each subscriber to receive one share at $1.10 and the remainder to be sold to non-subscribers according to law. It was also voted to amend article

3 of the by-laws authorizing the president or vice-president in charge of the financial department and the treasurer to sign the certificates and bonds of stock of the corporation.

It was voted to hold the annual meeting of the stockholders on the second Wednesday of October in each year, in Boston, instead of at Lawrence.

Clerk Ryder was certified to issue all bonds.

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

Foss and Cassidy Visit This City Tomorrow Evening

On Friday Night Congressman McGillicuddy, of Maine, Will Address Three Rallies in This City—French Rally For Joseph L. Marin in Pawtucketville Tonight

The big democratic rally at which Messrs. Foss and Cassidy and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston and Col. Carmichael will be the principal speakers will be held tomorrow evening at Mathews hall in Dutton street and weather permitting an overflow meeting will be held in front of city hall. John C. Burke will preside and there will be a short parade headed by the Lowell Cadet band. There will be no rally in Lincoln hall tomorrow evening. As this will be the only opportunity to hear Messrs. Foss and Cassidy before the election every workingman regardless of party should avail himself of the opportunity.

French Rally Tonight A French-American rally in the interest of Joseph L. Marin and Dexter C. Whittemore for county commissioners will be held at the rooms of the Pawtucketville social club, Moody street and Gershorn avenue. Among the speakers will be Col. Carmichael.

Three Carmichael Rallies Through his personal friendship for Col. ## Major Charles Derudio, U. S. A., Passed Away

Empress Eugenie Saved Him From Guillotine and Had Violent Quarrel With Napoleon III as Result—He Fought With Grant and With Custer

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Major Charles Derudio, U. S. A., retired, died yesterday at his home here at the age of 78 years. An emperor and an empress quarreled on his account. Once he was led to the guillotine, but a minute before the knife was to fall, he was reprieved. For a long time he was a prisoner in a dungeon, but he escaped, and after a series of remarkable adventures reached America.

Born in Italy in 1832, Major Derudio began a turbulent career by ally himself with Garibaldi while still hardly more than a boy. From Italy he went with three companions to Paris, where the four attempted to kill Napoleon III, and Empress Eugenie with bombs. For this three of them were sentenced to be guillotined. One of the conspirators was executed first. Derudio said farewell to his wife and child and as a last favor asked that he be allowed to smoke a pipeful of tobacco. The executioner filled the pipe for the doomed man, placed it in his mouth and gave him a light. Then came a reprieve. The secret of the reprieve was that Derudio's young wife had so impressed the empress with her tearful pleas for her husband's life that the empress, failing to win mercy for the condemned man from Napoleon III, had issued orders herself that the execution should be stopped. When Napoleon III learned of Derudio's return from death he was furious. He and the empress had a violent quarrel. But Derudio had only a short gleam of hope. He was tried once more and again condemned to die. By this time Napoleon's wrath had cooled and the tears of the empress were too much for him so he commuted the sentence to life imprisonment in one of France's penal institutions. There Derudio spent more than five years and then, by taking advantage of a sick of quarrel, he managed to escape and make his way to America.

He joined Company A of the 78th New York volunteers as a private, fought under Grant and other great commanders and when he was mustered out in 1865 was second lieutenant of the Second United States Infantry. In August, 1867, he joined the regular army and was appointed second lieutenant of infantry. Two years later he was assigned to the Seventh cavalry and under General Custer saw much Indian fighting. In 1876 he was with Custer's command that was wiped out at the Little Big Horn.

TREADWELL DEAD WAS EXETER'S "JOHN, THE ORANGE MAN."

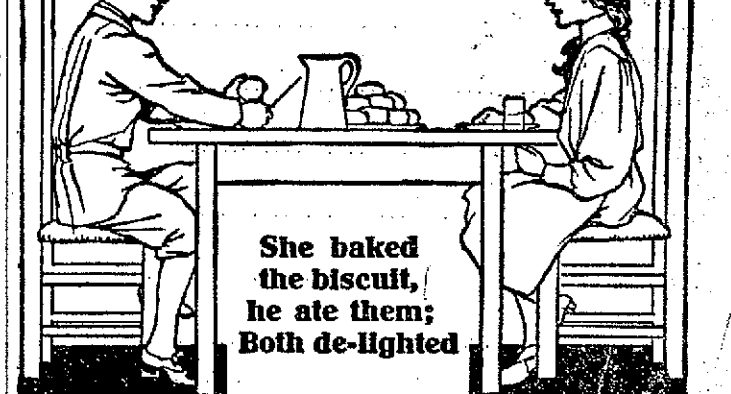

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 2.—Charles Treadwell, aged 75, one of the best known characters of the academy town, died at his home yesterday, after a brief illness. He was known to the students of Phillips Exeter as "John, the Orange Man," from his long-time selling apples to the boys, coming into their dormitories nightly.

Mr. Treadwell early learned the engraver's trade here, where he did much of the farm work with cows and bulls. It was his favorite pastime to drive to town in a two-wheeled cart drawn by a bull harnessed horse fashion.

FUNERAL NOTICES McEVY—The funeral of the late Mary Louise McEvoy will take place Friday morning at 8 o'clock from her home, 109 Powell street, and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BEAN—Died in this city, Nov. 1, at the Lowell General hospital, Mrs. Jessie E. Bean, aged 84 years. Funeral from the residence, 3 Hazel square, Centralville, Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Friends invited. Burial private. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker Geo. M. Eastman.

DAVIS—Private funeral services over the remains of William F. Davis will be held at his late residence, 85 Shaw street, Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. George W. Halsey, undertaker.

JUDGE A. B. PARKER

Made Rousing Speech at Plattsburg Last Night

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Judge Alton B. Parker, the democratic candidate for president in 1904, who went to Connecticut Monday to speak for the democratic ticket there, returned last night and the only democratic state nominee at a big rally here last night.

Five special trains brought voters from all parts of the county. Judge Parker in his speech called attention to Colonel Roosevelt's discovery of an alleged alliance between Mr. Dix and Wall street and said in this connection: "Col. Roosevelt and his candidate, whom he calls 'Harry,' instead of answering the issues presented to them in this campaign, are shouting about an alliance between Wall street and Tammany hall, and the only evidence the colonel has pretended to adduce in a circular asking for funds, issued by the chairman of the finance committee of that organization, I hold that circular in my hand and also similar circulars issued by the republican committee and the democratic state committee."

"In the appeals therein for funds they do not differ in substance but there are marked differences in the reasons assigned for the need of funds as well as in the affiliations of the men who sign them. The democratic appeal is more impressive than that of the republicans."

"As for the signatures to each of these appeals, they seem to be those of reputable men who are not unacquainted with the public of this city. I do not find on the democratic circular, however, the names of many Wall street men who would be supposed to have special influence with the Wall street brethren, but I do find a great volume and variety of Wall street interests represented among the signers of the republican circular. For instance, there is Cornelius Vanderbilt, whose name stands well up on the list.

"Mr. Ogden Mills, who has kindly consented to act as treasurer this year is also somewhat identified with Wall street interests. He is director of only two corporations, a railroad, banking and other corporations. Besides that he is president and director of a daily newspaper that is loudly extolling the many good qualities of the republican candidate, and incidentally is not too boisterous in its praise of the colonel's conduct as a campaigner."

"Mr. Otto P. Bannard, another of the signers, is a director in only 11 corporations, among them financial institutions, railroads and mills."

Mr. B. A. Sands sits at the same table with the directors of 16 corporations and he, too, signed the Macedonians' cry for help.

"Mr. Walter T. Rosen, another signer, is a director of 11 corporations while Mr. Cornelius N. Dills, of whom you have heard before in the matter of raising campaign funds, has secured his interests in Wall street corporations to a meagre two."

"Mr. B. W. Bloomingdale also has two, so has Mr. William H. Douglas, while Mr. James B. Ford has 11, four of which are corporations concerned in the manufacture and sale of machinery. Mr. John Hays Hammond aids in the direction of a steel corporation and a roller bearing company. Mr. Alfred E. Marling is a director in only nine corporations and their titles seem to indicate that he is the representative of important insurance interests."

Mr. John R. Sheffield is a director in a land company. Mr. Louis Stern is a director in 13 corporations while Mr. Bronson Winthrop, the law partner of Mr. Stimson, is a director of three corporations.

"Mr. Victor Morawitz is also a director, we are told, in eight corporations, one of which is a sugar company."

and so it goes. I give these facts to you not in criticism of the efforts of these gentlemen to help their party, but solely to show how absurd is the colonel's contention that there can be any connection between Wall street and any body of men that is diligently seeking to promote the candidacy of Mr. Dix for governor."

GREATEST DANGER

OF THIS COUNTRY IS ROOSEVELT, SAYS WHITNEY

BROOKLINE, Nov. 2.—"This country's greatest danger today is Theodore Roosevelt and his preaching of new nationalism," declared Henry M. Whitney, a former democratic candidate for governor here last night. "If Roosevelt is allowed to continue his preaching," Mr. Whitney continued, "the capitalists will refuse to invest their money and the country will feel the effects. Mr. Whitney predicted sweeping general victories in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Ohio. Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke.

THE REFORM CLUB

Pres. Bowers Delivers a Rousing Address

At the close of a short but important business meeting last evening, during which three candidates were initiated and several new names were proposed, The Reform club held a most delightful housewarming and smoke talk by way of dedicating their new quarters in Odd Fellows Temple, Middlesex street.

After cigars had been passed around and several musical numbers were given, President Noonan of the club congratulated the members on their new quarters and spoke words of encouragement to the members present. He called upon President E. M. Bowers of the Reform club corporation, who spoke earnestly and impressively of the great work done by the three total abstinence institutes in Lowell, the Mathews, the Burkes and the Reform club.

"The good people of our city," said the speaker, "have never been brought to realize the great work that has been done by these three institutions." Mr. Bowers paid a glowing tribute to Father Mathew and to the Mathew Temperance institute in Lowell and said that every business man in the city should glory in the privilege of assisting the Mathews in wiping out the debt on their building. "The life of this noble institution may be at stake, can Lowell afford to lose such a bulwark of righteousness? Are her citizens ready to make a little financial sacrifice? Yes, Lowell is always ready and is today waiting to assist and will promptly respond to the call."

Mr. Bowers dwelt on the splendid work done by the Reform club during its history of nearly thirty-five years. "Every tree is known by its fruit," said the speaker, "but not until the dawn of eternity will we realize the harvest."

"You are to be congratulated on your neat, cozy home-like quarters. You are up high here, a delightful view of the city. Take an optimistic view of life. Keep the atmosphere pure here. There is a good influence. The future of the club is in your hands, young men, much depends upon your conduct. Make every day you live just a little better than the day just past and our society's future is secure. Remember the moral obligation you have assumed in becoming a member. Do not disappoint us then, but put forth your best efforts. Be zealous, aggressive and earnest. Lead a hand where you can. Give a lift, not a kick to the poor fellow who is down and out. The Mathews, I understand, are to give a series of big temperance meetings; try and attend them. You will receive a moral uplift, yourselves and besides, your presence may help the other fellow, too."

The regular weekly meetings of the club will be held every Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Temple.

UP 10,500 FEET
Glidden Has Beaten Johnstone's Record

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—J. Walter Flagg and Charles J. Glidden on May 4 last reached an altitude of 10,500 feet in the balloon "Boston," thus going nearly 1000 feet higher than the previous altitude record established by Ralph Johnstone at Belmont park Monday.

Mr. Flagg talked about his trip last night, while at the dinner of the Association of International Aeronautical Pilots at the Hotel Somerset.

"The view of the ground from such a height is more beautiful than can be imagined. Large buildings are but dots of color on the earth, while the lakes seem but flecks of blue in the surrounding green of the trees and fields. The big black shadow of the balloon noticed when but a few hundred feet from the earth is diminished by the distance and shows just a slightly darker line on the ground."

SENATOR LODGE
REPEATS HIS OLD DEFENSE OF THE TARIFF

CLINTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking at a largely attended republican rally here last night, repeated his claims made in the fall at Melrose Monday night that the tariff is not responsible for the increased cost of living, citing examples in cotton, hides and other staples that are either on the free list or have been greatly reduced under the new tariff bill but which have not continued to increase in price. He also referred to the fact that although Mr. Foss is posing as a friend of labor he has had two strikes on his hands during the past few months.

The other speakers at the rally included Speaker Joseph Walker of Massachusetts, two of the representatives of Congressional Candidate William H. Wilder of Gardner and Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester and Amos T. Sanders of Clinton.

BIG GAS BUOYS

Will Guide Shipping in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The ten big gas buoys, each of which weighs more than three tons, have been put in position in Broad sound, and Boston harbor now has the only lighted channel for big ships in the United States, with the exception of New York. Each buoy has been fitted with gas and will burn for six months without refilling. It costs Uncle Sam just 4 cents a day to keep the buoys going.

As the buoys would be placed two weeks ago, and this was the intention of the officials of the lighthouse department. But the delay in getting them shipped here made this out of the question. Monday night the monster buoys were operated for the first time.

The lighted ship channel owes its existence to an organized demand by all shipping interests at this port. The most formidable petition ever sent to Washington from Boston stated the case plainly, and the government was quick to respond. It allows the docking of big ships at night with practically the same ease and safety as in the daytime. It is believed the new step will be of immense advantage to Boston's commerce.

PROF. BREWER
FAMOUS YALE EDUCATOR IS DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—William Henry Brewer, professor emeritus of agriculture in the Yale Sheffield Scientific school, died at his home here early today from infirmities due to old age. Professor Brewer was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1828, and was graduated from the Sheffield school at Yale in 1852, completing his education abroad, studying at Heidelberg, Munich and Paris. He was twice married, his first wife dying in 1860, and his second wife dying in 1889. He took up educational work in 1858 when he became connected with Washington college as professor of chemistry and geology. In 1860 he acted as first assistant in geology and the survey of California, and in 1863 became professor of chemistry in the University of California. In 1864 he came to Yale as professor of agriculture in the scientific school. He had been a member of the National Society of Science and in 1892 was made president of the Connecticut board of health.

LIVINGSTONE KILLED
TIRE PUNCTURED ON A PRACTICE SPIN

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—While spinning around the motor speedway yesterday afternoon, practicing for the races here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, a National car, driven by Al Livingstone of California, punctured a tire and the Californian was hurled to the ground head foremost. He was hurried to a hospital where he died.

WOMEN BEATEN
SUFFRAGETTES FARED BADLY IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Municipal elections throughout England and Wales yesterday showed a considerable growth in the labor and socialist parties. The women candidates fared badly.

To Remove Superfluous Hair
Dr. Duval, the eminent physician, says: "I consider Depilatory the only safe, sure and radical cure for that very common and objectionable trouble, superfluous hair. Depilatory is totally different from the powders, pastes and other remedies, which simply break the hair off, making it grow thicker than before after each removal. Booklet containing full information of this remarkable treatment, with testimonials of many persons, done in the Depilatory, will be mailed free, in plain sealed envelope, on request to Depilatory Chemical Co., Park Ave. and 12th St., New York."

FEAR FOR DRAPER

Caused Adjournment of Cattlemen's Meeting

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—There was considerable discussion at the widely advertised meeting of the New England Live Stock Dealers' association at the Revere house last night, and three members of the minority voted against the adjournment of the meeting when that motion was put and hastily carried declaring that republican influence was brought to bear, through fear that political questions might arise.

Walter S. Glidden of the governor's council and Fred Walker of Belcher town, chief of the cattle bureau of the state, were both about the corridors of the hotel, and it was claimed they exerted influence to bring about an adjournment of the meeting. Mr. Glidden and Mr. Walker emphatically denied the allegations.

A portion of the advertisement of the meeting, which was sent broadcast inviting all members, butchers and farmers to be present, read: "Important business questions that affect all the above classes who do business at the Brighton market under the present law will be discussed by competent speakers. Open free discussion, whether for or against the existing law."

When the meeting was called shortly after 8 o'clock the rooms used were cleared of all persons not actually members of the association. The greatest secrecy was maintained and within a short period the doors were opened and it was declared the meeting had been adjourned for two weeks.

Five members voted against the adjournment. They were James Bryan of Westboro, Harry Kelley of Brighton, Henry Gusemshiser of Brighton, A. C. Foss of Lynn and Samuel E. Winch of Shrewsbury.

Immediately after the adjournment Harry Kelley said to a reporter: "The reason for the hasty adjournment was obvious. It was feared the question of the laws relative to 'bobby' might become a topic for discussion, with the result that it would injure Gov. Draper. The meeting was a farce and most of the 50 men present knew they would vote for an adjournment the minute they entered the room."

Mr. Foss said: "The meeting was adjourned for purely political reasons. It was feared that arguments would be started which would be detrimental to Gov. Draper, and the republicans got together and decided before the meeting to vote at once for an adjournment. Why, just before I entered the room E. J. Eggs, Bostonian told me the meeting would be adjourned within a few minutes after it had been called to order."

Mr. Foss and Mr. Winch pointed out a man they said was Mr. Briggs to the reporter, but when the gentleman was asked if he were Mr. Briggs he replied he was not. He was informed of what Mr. Foss had said, but insisted in declaring he was not Mr. Briggs.

Mr. Winch said: "Politics was the reason for the hasty adjournment. The present laws would be discussed for they would injure Gov. Draper. That was known and that was the reason for the adjournment."

The president of the association, H. L. Goodrich of Palmyra, Me., and Vice Presidents B. L. Gabley and A. M. Ricker of Hingham, Va., denied that politics played any part in the meeting whatever. Goodrich disclaimed all responsibility for calling the meeting. Mr. Kiker did the same and said that Mr. Glidden was invited by him to address the gathering.

Mr. Glidden was told by a reporter of the charges which had been made against him. He was most emphatic in his denial and scoffed at the allegations. Mr. Walker was also indignant when the matter was broached to him.

FOSS CONFIDENT
Expects to Carry State by 50,000

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—"Going to win by 50,000," Eugene N. Foss, democratic candidate for governor, told everybody he met yesterday.

"I'm satisfied with the outlook and was never more confident of winning than I am at the present time," Gov. Draper told his friends.

Back from his second trip to the western part of the state yesterday Eugene N. Foss said that only one inference could be drawn from the big rallies he addressed in Holyoke and Springfield, and that was democratic victory. Mr. Foss says he is sure that the democrats are going to gain three or four congressional seats, capture the legislature and elect a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

He added that the republican campaign managers realized months ago that they have a pretty tough job on their hands to elect Draper this year, but in addition they must carry Lodge along with them, and this burden he deemed was more than the faithful G. O. P. elephant can stand.

FOUND IN CAVE
Lawrence Man Died From Exposure

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—The body found in the cave at Den Rock reservation yesterday was identified as that of Lisle H. Conlle of 99 Foster st. He left a wife and several small children. In the opinion of the medical examiner death was due to exposure.

THE STERRETT
SHOWS UP WELL ON TRIAL TRIPS

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 2.—Although slightly slower than her sister ship, the Drayton, as shown by the standardization test of yesterday, the torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett put out to sea this morning with the prestige of having surpassed the three other oil-burning craft of this type of naval construction. Today's trial of the Sterrett consists of a 12 hour run at a speed of 25 knots for tests of water and fuel consumption. The builders are confident that today's showing will be relatively better than that of yesterday.

HERRING SCARCE
EASTPORT FISHERMEN WILL SUFFER BIG LOSS

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 2.—A loss of many thousands of dollars will be sustained by the fishermen of Passamaquoddy bay by the absence of the schools of herring which ordinarily frequent that body of water at this time of year. The local canning factories are receiving their supplies of fish almost wholly by rail and boat from Portland. No diminution of the sardine output is expected to result from the failure of the herring to come back.

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

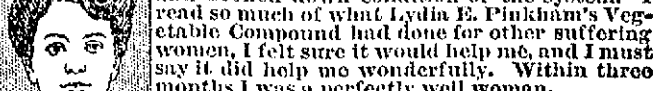

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St., North Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

TRAIN DERAILED

Passengers Escaped but
Fireman Was Injured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Excitement prevailed aboard an express for Buffalo and the west on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad when the train ran into an open switch at the South Orange station early today. The only one seriously injured was fireman James Ferguson who jumped when his engine hit the open switch. Eight cars were derailed but only the Chicago mail car was upset. Passengers in the day coaches were thrown from their seats and those in the sleepers tumbled out of their berths. A number of women fainted. When it was learned that none of the passengers was seriously injured another train was made up and the trip to Buffalo continued.

THE NEW PLAIN STREET BRIDGE

Yesterday the planking was laid upon the new steel bridge by which the dangerous crossing on Plain street will be abolished, and in a day or two it will be open for travel. This is the first of the four dangerous crossings to be abolished this year by the railroad company. The work on the other three, Lincoln street, Walker street and School street, is being pushed rapidly, and the last will probably be completed before the new year.

BOWLING SCORES

Some Lively Contests
on the Alleys

Two games in the Manchester Unity league, two in the Manufacturers league and one in the Minor league were the principal games played on the alleys last night.

Last night marked the opening of the Manchester Unity (Odd Fellows) and in one of the games the Integrity lodge team defeated the Excelsior lodge aggregation by the narrow margin of eight pins, while in the other game Wamslett lodge defeated Merrimack Valley lodge by six pins. If last night's games are a criterion of what is to come the bowlers of the Manchester Unity league will attract considerable attention.

In the Manufacturers league the Boot defeated the Lawra, the team and the Lowell Machine shop team administered a slaughter to the Bigelow aggregation.

The Primrose Five and Lamsons had at it in the Minor league, but there was nothing to it after the first string. The Lamsons started out by trimming the opposing team by three pins in the first string, but look at the scores of the second and third strings.

TEXTILE DUCK PIN LEAGUE

The students of the Textile school have organized a duck pin league and a five-weeks' schedule has been arranged for. Definite plans have not as yet been arranged for but during the first week the designers will meet the chemists, the engineers will have at it with the instructors and the wool men will try to "pull the wool" over the engineers. In the second week the schedule will be: Cotton vs. designers, chemists vs. engineers, and wool vs. instructors; the third week, designers vs. engineers, cotton vs. wool, and chemists vs. instructors; the fourth week, designers vs. wool, engineers vs. instructors, and cotton vs. chemists; the fifth week, designers vs. instructors, wool vs. chemists and cotton vs. engineers.

The following have been appointed captains of the various teams: Instructors, Ferguson; cotton, Crane; wool, Elliot; designers, Morris; chemists, Phillips; engineers, King. The games will be played on the Vesper club alleys, and the winners of the series will be tendered a banquet by the losers. It is also intended to start a candlepin league after the duckpin schedule is completed.

The football team meets St. Anselm's on the Textile campus, Saturday afternoon. Some of the men on the injured list are also expected to be in condition to play Saturday.

PETITION OF BOSTON & NORTHERN STREET RAILWAY COMPANY FOR POLE LOCATION

City of Lowell, Oct. 28, 1910.
To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the City of Lowell:
The Boston & Northern Street Railway Company respectfully petitions that your honorable board will grant a location for the erection of a pole together with permission to erect and maintain wires thereon as follows: One pole on the southerly side of Merrimack street near Dutton street, the present location of a pole in the same locality to be abandoned, substantially as shown on Boston & Northern Street Railway Company's plan numbered 4350, dated October 24, 1910.
Boston & Northern Street Railway Company and Board of Directors of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company.
By ROBERT S. GOFF,
Vice President.

CITY OF LOWELL
In Board of Aldermen, Nov. 1, 1910.
Read and hearing ordered on the foregoing petition, Tuesday evening, November 15, 1910, at eight o'clock.
Attest:
GILBERT P. DADMAN,
City Clerk.

JOLLY BARN PARTY

The Misses Midgley and McDougall tendered a Halloween party to about fifty of their friends Monday night in "The Barn" in Meadowcroft street. The upper part of the barn was decorated in an artistic manner with pumpkins, autumn foliage and other things appropriate to the occasion. The carriage shed was made into a real old-fashioned parlor, a large open fireplace adding to the brilliancy. The usual Halloween games were played, and through the generosity of a kind friend, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour to the music of a hurdy gurdy. A genuine harvest luncheon was served by the hostesses.

BUNTING FOOTBALL NEWS

The "Clan" McPherson team of Lawrence will play a league game with the Buntlings on Saturday on the South Lowell grounds for the benefit of J. Ashworth, who broke his arm early in the season in a game against the Manchester club.
The first half of the Bunting season is over, with the result of their six games standing: one won; one drawn and four lost. They have scored eight goals to their opponents' 11, which shows that their defense is good, but the forwards have been very weak in front of the goal.

FOR NEW CHARTER

The Movement Inaugurated Auspiciously Monday Evening

Charter Committee of Citizens Assembled at Board of Trade Rooms and Organized to Consider the Matter of Charter Revision — The Movement is General

The movement for a new city charter is on and it was inaugurated Monday evening at the board of trade rooms under most auspicious circumstances.

While the movement was promoted through the medium of the board of trade, it is by no means a board of trade movement for a board of trade charter but the effort of a committee of citizens who include all of the different political parties and nearly all the waives of life, and many of them are not members of the board of trade at all.

Some time ago the directors of the board of trade discussed the matter of city charter and decided unanimously that the time had come to take up the matter. The directors referred the matter to the executive committee and the executive committee after a discussion of the subject came to the conclusion that the best way to proceed would be by appointing a charter committee from the citizens at large in and out of the board and have them take the initiative. Accordingly the following committee was named:

Chas. B. Anderson, Andrew E. Barrett, John H. Beaulieu, Rev. Charles T. Billings, Edward B. Carney, Daniel P. Carroll, J. T. Chaffoux, William Drapau, John E. Drury, Cyrus A. Durkin, Patrick H. Farrell, Rev. Allan C. Ferrin, Frederick A. Fisher, Marshall C. Forrest, Jas. J. Gallagher, Edward J. Gallagher, Thomas J. Goyette, Fred. George B. Greenwood, H. C. Hall, George M. Harrigan, Henry H. Harris, Dennis Healey, Walter H. Howe, Walter H. Hoyt, Rev. George F. Kennett, Irving D. Kimball, Fred L. Knapp, Dr. Frank McAvinue, Craven Mingley, Hugh J. Molloy, Albert E. O'Hair, John J. Mahoney, Louis L. Oliver, William N. Osgood, Clovis Ouellette, Philip J. Parent, Carl M. Pihl, John C. Pihl, Murray H. Pratt, Charles S. Proctor, Francis W. Qua, Esq., Henry Robertshaw, Henry A. Smith, William E. Sproule, Alonzo G. Welsh, Fred C. Weld, Paul E. Wesson, Royal P. White, Harold A. Varnum, William H. Wilson, Esq., Frank Ricard, Dennis J. Murphy, Esq., Dr. Joseph Lamoureux, Michael A. Lee, Fred A. Flather, John W. McEvoy, Philip S. Marden, Harvey B. Greene, John H. Murphy, A. T. Sanford.

In the above committee are democrats, republicans, former members of the independence league, and at least one prominent socialist. There are also city officials, newspapermen, manufacturers, mill workers and organized labor men, tradesmen and businessmen.

The first meeting was held at the new board of trade rooms last evening with an attendance of about 50. President Greene of the board of trade called to order and opened the meeting by explaining the purpose of the gathering. A permanent organization was then perfected with William E. Wilson, as chairman and John H. Murphy, secretary.

Mr. Wilson then called for expressions of opinion and a general informal discussion was held at the conclusion of which it was voted to meet next Monday night and to invite the mayor, city solicitor and an alderman of Haverhill to address the meeting upon the new charter under which that city is now operating, while Secretary Murphy will endeavor to have copies of the Haverhill and Lynn charters for distribution among the members.

CAPTAIN OF HARVARD, WHO IS PLAYING A BRILLIANT GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2.—Head Coach Houghton has the Harvard men in fine fettle for the game with Cornell to be played at the stadium Nov. 5. The Crimson men came out of the game with the Army in good shape and are ready to down the Ithacans. In the game with West Point recently Harvard showed great strength in all departments. Her attack was sudden, powerful and varied, while her defense seemed invulnerable. The only weakness shown by the Crimson team was a tendency to lose ground by incurring penalties for holding in the line and a slight disposition to fumble. These defects, Coach Houghton claims, have been remedied, and he says Harvard has one of the strongest football teams in the history of the university. The playing of Captain Withington at right tackle has been brilliant all season. Experts here say he classes with Ham Fish, last year's captain and right tackle.

SECRET DIVORCE

GOT A SETBACK IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The practice of allowing divorce suits to be tried in secret before a referee, received a blow from Justice Greenbaum in the supreme court yesterday when he refused to confirm a referee's report recommending an absolute divorce in favor of Mrs. Ledonya Burrell Alexandre, wife of Francis Alexandre, a wealthy clubman.

Alexandre is a son of J. Harry Alexandre, founder of the line of steam boats that formerly bore his name and is said to have inherited a fortune of $2,000,000.

FOOTBALL NOTES

There's hard work ahead for the Harvard substitutes.

Little will be known of the onside kicking game that Harvard is developing until the team gets to Yale field Nov. 19.

Cornell has been scored against only once this fall, while Harvard, which the Ithacans meet this week, has kept its goal line clear.

Harvard was between 18 and 30 points better than West Point Saturday, judging the teams by last year's football standards.

Michigan would have beaten Syracuse by a much larger score than 11 points had it not been for repeated holding and offside penalties.

Corbett got some awful knocks at West Point in running back the Army kinks, but was in fine fettle after the game, although his face showed what he had been through.

As usual, the question of officials is keeping the Harvard and Yale managers awake nights. It will be hard to fill the places of Bill Edwards and E. K. Hall satisfactorily.

Harvard had some success running its ends from position against the Army. But it takes a good rushline and one with every man on the works to make these plays go.

Andover and Exeter will end their season Saturday at Andover. The home team started like a winner, but just now Fred Murphy's team appears to have a reasonably good chance.

Pennsylvania goes against Lafayette this week, the Boston team being the one that was beaten by Princeton only by a field goal. Pennsy, however, did much better against the Indians than Princeton did.

Dartmouth has Amherst this week as the last trial game before coming to Cambridge next week. The Dartmouth coaches believe that the Princeton game experience will make the Hanover eleven capable of playing Harvard a very close match.

Dartmouth ran kinks back much better than the Tigers did in the New York game. The Hanover team made 270 yards on the Tiger kinks, and Princeton backs ran back Dartmouth kinks only 145 yards, including the run that was made by Pendleton.

Dud Dean should know what he's talking about when he says that the present day football men know vastly more about the interference for the runner than they did a few years ago. Dud helped win the Yale game, 12 to 6, for Harvard just 20 years ago this month.

DIAMOND NOTES

The minor league leagues cannot advance the argument that they are unfairly treated by the big leagues, according to a bulletin issued by the National Commission. It appears that during the season just closed the National and the American leagues combined paid $206,850 to the minor leagues for players purchased and have promised to pay $35,600 additional in prize to all players who are drafted for next season. The two majors also paid $34,500 for drafted players, which brings the total up to $287,000. Of this amount the big leagues are credited with the following: Expanded for purchased players $100,000; American league, $12,600; National league, $88,400. For drafted players: American league, $37,800; National league, $46,700. Additional amount to be paid for purchased players if retained—American league, $60,850; National league, $34,500, all of which shows that the American league's output is $316,150 and the National league's $170,850.

In spite of Willie Keeler's famous explanation of successful batting, "Hit 'em where they ain't!" Hans Wagner says it's all a matter of good and bad luck. Says the illustrious Duteinander: "If you hit 'em where they ain't you're all right, but if you hit 'em where they are you're out! That's all there is to it and it's a whole lot easier to hit 'em where they are too. Only luck puts 'em any place. A player may have a good year, then an off year with the stick. It's a case of luck and it doesn't mean a thing this year, but the ball just as hard and as squarely as I ever did in my life, but it went at the fielders instead of away from them. Luck cuts a figure in fielding too. Errors in a large majority of instances are due to something being off in the fielder's skill in handling the ball. The ground is uneven, a stone is in the way, the cover of the ball is wet or a fellow's spikes don't hold, but the player's hands and eyes are all right. For that reason I say mighty few fielding errors can be blamed on the players. If there isn't a hoodoo somewhere well and good, but if there is a jinks, good night!"

Those who had anticipated that the governor would be called upon to reply to queries emanating from sources which are critical of his attitude toward organized labor, will not have their expectations realized. In fact, practically no opportunity was afforded to put these questions, and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham was the only speaker who discussed in detail the governor's action relative to labor issues.

The governor urged the importance of maintaining the progress for which the republican party had stood in this commonwealth by electing the party candidates for senator and representatives and the congressional candidates. As for himself, he stood upon his record.

Mr. Parker eulogized the state of Massachusetts and claimed that the laws which placed it in the front rank for progressive legislation should be attributed to the republican party.

"Better take and tie to demonstrated accomplishments than to empty promises," he said, "and let the people see the results of the progress for which the republican party has stood in this commonwealth by electing the party candidates for senator and representatives and the congressional candidates. As for himself, he stood upon his record."

Lieut. Gov. Frothingham declared that it was for the voters to decide whether they wanted the methods of Boston democracy carried to Beacon Hill. "If it hadn't been for the Boston machine I would not have been nominated," he asserted.

Congressman Ames attributed to senatorial opposition some of the short comings of the tariff. He told of his effort to have schedule K reduced and the obstacles encountered. In the tariff commission, however, he foresees the panacea of existing and future difficulties.

Harry R. Lawrence, chairman of the city committee, called the meeting to order, and Hon. William B. Russell was the presiding officer.

Obliged to Stop Machinery Because of Low Water

All the mills in Lowell are more or less affected because of the low water. The Merrimack river is unusually low and the Locks and Canals Co. has been obliged to curtail on the amount allowed the mills.

This process of curtailment has been going on for some time and it has finally arrived at the point where the mills have found it necessary to stop some of their machinery. Inquiries at four of the cotton mills elicited the information that they were effected to the extent of being obliged to stop some of their machinery.

It is the driest fall known in many years and unless there is a good rain before the frost comes conditions will be anything but favorable.

Porky Flynn of Boston Defeated Jim Barry

Won Point Trophy in A. A. U. Meet

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—"Porky" Flynn of Boston was given the decision over Jim Barry of Chicago at the end of 12 rounds of boxing at the Armory Athletic association last night, notwithstanding that the local boy was sent tumbling to the mat in each of the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds by terrific blows on the back of the neck.

Tom Sullivan of Lawrence knocked out Bob LeFavor of Brockton in the first round of a scheduled six round bout.

Tom Foley and A. J. Duffy, both local boxers, went six rounds to a draw and Howard Briggs of Brockton won from Dick Howell of Canada in six rounds.

FINLAYSON GOES SOUTH

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—Pitcher Tom Finlayson, the former Brooklyn National twirler, who played with the Lawrence New England league team the past season, has been sold to the Memphis club of the Southern league. When the Lawrence club was sold a short time ago to Peeper and Sullivan of Boston, Finlayson was not included in the list of players transferred and so the old Lawrence Athletic association, the former club owners, were obliged to dispose of him elsewhere. The papers transferring him to Memphis were signed yesterday.

NASHUA TRACK PLAIN "COMRADE"

The Highest Title for G. A. R. Vets

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—Nashua's first harness racing in nearly two years took place at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the newly organized New Hampshire fair association. The racing resembled old times, when Nashua was noted for its "overcast meetings."

Cox has the same good horses with him that he had at Hill's Grove. Ed Gillies' string and other fast ones were also present.

Yesterday's classes were the 2.21 pace and the 2.15 trot, the former being continued until today's card, with three heat winners to start.

The horse race was started by Chester Pike. The most ideal weather conditions that have ever been known here at this time of year prevailed yesterday. The track was in excellent shape, and although not so fast by a second or two as the Hills Grove circle, it was fast enough to furnish good time.

The crowd was unusually large for an opening day, and it included many horsemen who have not visited the track for years. Today will bring more horsemen and probably a still larger attendance. The summary:

GOES TO JAIL

ON ACCOUNT OF HER LOVE FOR DOGS

SANFORD, Me., Nov. 2.—Because she would not furnish a bond of $1000 required of her by the local court yesterday as an assurance that she would keep the peace for a year, Mrs. Kate N. Ross, 48 years old, passed last night in the York county jail at Alfred.

Mrs. Ross' difficulties grew out of her fondness for dogs, particularly spotted dogs. Three bulldogs, owned by her, attacked a girl Sunday, severely injuring the child.

The dogs were killed by order of the court. Mrs. Ross threatened to file a paper bond, insisting upon her right to replace the slain pets with others.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The question of giving military rank to elected officers of the Grand Army of the Republic has disturbed many comrades of the order for years, particularly those affiliated with posts in the western part of the country. In some sections of the country, the custom to add military rank to officers of the various posts, while in many instances letters and communications, addressed to the commander-in-chief and members of his official family have been forwarded with "General," "Colonel" or "Captain" added, as the position of the comrade addressed might suggest.

Commander-in-Chief Gilman of Massachusetts has strong ideas on the subject, and his forthcoming general order will emphasize them. He believes that "Comrade" is the highest title that can be given a member of the order, and suggests that he himself should be addressed as "Comrade John E. Gilman, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic."

The rules of the G. A. R. do not suggest military rank. The head of a post is "commander." The next in rank is "junior vice commander," and so on. The commander-in-chief is followed by the senior vice commander-in-chief, junior vice commander-in-chief and accordingly.

CAMBRIDGE BOY CRUSHED BY FENDER

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2.—Raymond Toulson, 12 years old, was killed by an electric car last evening. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Toulson, of 144 Webster avenue.

With several companions, the boy was on his way to a candy store near the corner of Hampshire and Windsor streets. He had a cent, and was going to give them a treat.

He was in front of an outboard car on Hampshire street, only to be struck by an inbound car.

Raymond was jammed under the fender. He was taken from under the car alive, but died at the hospital an hour after the accident.

WILL COACH NAVAL ACADEMY BALL TEAM

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—John J. Evers, the phenomenal second baseman of the Chicago Nationals, who broke his leg shortly before the beginning of the world's series, probably will coach the baseball squad of the naval academy at Annapolis next winter and spring. He received an offer yesterday from Lieut. F. H. Follet, who has charge of the middles baseball and talked last night as if he would accept.

If he does he will have to go to Annapolis in February and remain until the early part of May. He figures he can get permission from Manager Chance to skip the spring training trip and thus give his leg a two months' additional rest.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—With the eight leading teams still tied the third day of the six day bicycle race at the Arena gave promise that when the riders once more get under way this afternoon a heartbreaking pace will ensue. The Wiley-Lawrence team has made determined but fruitless efforts to shake the field. Other teams, which have heretofore contented themselves with maintaining the tie are now expected to adopt these tactics.

A FROSTY RALLY

Held by Lawrence Republicans Last Night

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—An audience of about 1000, including a few women, assembled at the republican rally in city hall last night and listened to addresses by Gov. Draper, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Congressman Butler Ames and ex-Atty. Gen. Herbert Parker. It was an attentive but not a demonstration assemblage and none of the speeches aroused much enthusiasm.

Those who had anticipated that the governor would be called upon to reply to queries emanating from sources which are critical of his attitude toward organized labor, will not have their expectations realized. In fact, practically no opportunity was afforded to put these questions, and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham was the only speaker who discussed in detail the governor's action relative to labor issues.

The governor urged the importance of maintaining the progress for which the republican party had stood in this commonwealth by electing the party candidates for senator and representatives and the congressional candidates. As for himself, he stood upon his record.

Mr. Parker eulogized the state of Massachusetts and claimed that the laws which placed it in the front rank for progressive legislation should be attributed to the republican party.

Lieut. Gov. Frothingham declared that it was for the voters to decide whether they wanted the methods of Boston democracy carried to Beacon Hill. "If it hadn't been for the Boston machine I would not have been nominated," he asserted.

Congressman Ames attributed to senatorial opposition some of the short comings of the tariff. He told of his effort to have schedule K reduced and the obstacles encountered. In the tariff commission, however, he foresees the panacea of existing and future difficulties.

BLOWN BY CUBANS

Col. Jasper E. Brady Makes a Sensational Statement

Claims That He Investigated Blowing Up of the Maine and Found It Was Done by Cubans to Precipitate War With Spain

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Lecturing at St. George's church last night, Colonel Jasper E. Brady, one of the four officers sent by the government to investigate the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor February 14, 1898, declared the mine which destroyed the battleship was placed by the Cubans in order to bring war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba. He further asserted that the information had been sent to the president and the secretary of war.

"When I went to investigate the disaster with three other United States officers," Col. Brady said, "there were three theories concerning the origin of the disaster—that the explosion was caused from the outside by agents of Spain; that it was caused from the inside, and that the Maine was anchored over a mine prepared by the Cubans. We were able to inform the president and secretary of war that the last theory was the most consistent with the facts. This leads to the conclusion that the Maine was blown up by the Cubans in order to bring on war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba."

Continuing, he said:

"Now I will tell you for the first time the name of the man who blew up the Maine. He is or was Jose Zavaldo. He was electrician at Morro castle. It was he who threw the switch which set off the powerful mine that destroyed the ship and sent 207 lives into eternity in a flash. Zavaldo was afterward shot by order of General Blanco. We even got a piece of the cable that led from the mine to the room in Morro castle. That piece of cable is now in the navy department at Washington."

Colonel Brady resigned from the army in 1899. Asked this morning why the report given the president and the secretary of war had not been made public, he said:

"Well, I'm sure I don't know." Col. Brady is a brother of the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the author, who is pastor of St. George's church, where the lecture was delivered.

Jasper Ewing Brady was formerly attached to the signal corps of the United States army and held rank of captain, but resigned in 1899. Gen. James Allen, chief of the signal corps, said Brady was a member of the editorial staff of a number of magazine articles. He did not know, however, that he had been on any board charged with the investigation into the destruction of the Maine.

Admiral Wainwright, who was executive officer on the Maine at the time the vessel was blown up, said today that there had been no military board appointed to investigate the disaster. The story told by Brady was one of the theories advanced at the time the naval board of inquiry, of which Rear Admiral Wainwright was a member, investigated the matter. It was discredited then and Rear Admiral Wainwright said today he placed no stock in it now. He branded as untrue Brady's statement that a piece of the cable that led from the mine to a room in Morro castle now was in the navy department. If there had been any such cable, he declared, it would have been discovered by the divers who examined the hull after the explosion.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that 98 per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce or his able staff, have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half a million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and attests Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult us by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as to what fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

STRIKE OF 30,000 MEN

Is Threatened by New York Teamsters Today

Gov. Fort and Mayor Gaynor Are Trying to Bring Employers and Employes Together—Police Ordered Not to Ride With Strike Breakers on Express Wagons

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers neared a settlement today when Mayor Gaynor announced that the strikers had agreed to arbitrate. The strikers informed the mayor that they were willing to leave their case in the hands of arbitrators to be selected by the conciliation committee of the National Civic federation and return to work and wait for the decision of the arbitrators until Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. Mayor Gaynor held a conference this afternoon with Frank Platt, president of the United States Express Co., on the strike situation. All that is needed to secure a settlement of the strike by arbitration is the consent of the employing companies.

STRIKE OF 30,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The threat of a general strike of all drivers, teamsters and men in allied occupations hung over the city today as a result of the failure, so far, of the express companies and their striking employees to come to terms. Exercise of the authority to call a general strike which was conferred last night upon the general officers of the teamsters by the executive council of the brotherhood would affect approximately 30,000 men in addition to the upwards of 5000 men involved in the strike of express company drivers and helpers and practically tie up all traffic in the city. It is asserted.

No promulgation of a general strike order was expected, however, pending formal presentation announced to take place today of the men's demands on the companies and conferences expected to grow out of this move and the efforts being made by Gov. Fort of New Jersey, Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor W. W. W. of Jersey City to bring representatives of the companies and men together.

Announcement of an order that New York city policemen hereafter shall not ride on express wagons while engaged in protecting the passage of these vehicles through the streets seemed to have a pacifying effect, for the moment at least. Labor leaders had complained that an alleged unjustified use of the uniformed force was being made in this way.

The guard upon property was in no wise relaxed, however. Orders were that mounted on express patrolmen accompanied company wagons sent out by the companies. The heavy reserve detachments stationed about the company's offices and stables and other danger points were also maintained in force.

William E. Rogers, chief mediator of the bureau of mediation and arbitration of the state department of labor, announced today that his bureau had drawn up plans that if adopted will end the trouble at once.

He said he has conferred with representatives of both sides. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals today sent men to the train sheds to feed livestock awaiting shipment.

ELECT COL. CARMICHAEL

If Col. Carmichael could cover the rest of the district as well as he has covered Lowell he would be elected by a big majority. As it is his chances of election are very encouraging. He has put his candidacy before the people in a square and manly way, and voters of all classes should unite to elect him as a protest from the fifth district.

Nothing will scare the trusts, the speculators and the cold storage combines into fair dealing so readily as the election of democratic congressmen pledged to fight the combines responsible for the high cost of living.

PAYING DAMAGE CLAIMS

At a recent meeting of the committee on claims there was a very formidable list of claims, many of them for personal injuries caused by some roughness or obstruction in the public streets. When some of the claims were investigated awards were made according to the discretion of the committee. One claimant was paid a certain amount on account of injuries sustained in falling over a projecting stone on a certain sidewalk. Although the award was made several weeks ago the same stone is still there and still as high above the grade of the sidewalk as before. In view of what has happened one would naturally imagine that steps would be taken at once to protect the city against another accident of the same kind and to remove the stone or grade around it so that it will not remain as an invitation to somebody else to fall and collect damages from the city. This is but one of many similar cases that might be cited.

As a protection to the city in such matters would it not be well for the street department to take notice of all claims for damages on account of street accidents and proceed at once to repair the portions of the streets or sidewalks reported as dangerous? A little systematic attention to such matters might lessen the number of claims or at least prevent a multiplication of similar claims arising from the same cause; it may be an ugly stone or a hollow in the street, a broken sidewalk, a trough in a smooth-paved street or one of many other causes familiar to the committee on claims.

PROTECT THE HOMES AGAINST VILE LITERATURE

When a medical advertisement is rejected by the press on account of obscenity or some criminal suggestion the authors simply have it printed in the form of a circular or handbill and distributed to the homes of the city. Is this fair or is it right?

When some quack invents a supposed remedy that druggists are afraid to handle on account of some objectionable quality, the quack can deliver sample packages to the homes with circulars landing his discovery as a sure cure for one or more diseases, although as a medical remedy it may not only be worthless but injurious. Is not this a menace to the lives of children who may pick up such packages and eat the contents, delivering them to be candy?

Then again it is a common practice to distribute about the doors objectionable literature that no man would want his children or any member of his family to read. It may exploit some new cult, condemn some society or organization or assail some movement or some cause to which the recipient is deeply devoted. It is wrong to allow the home to be besieged in this manner, and we are rather surprised that so much latitude is allowed in this respect.

We do not refer here to the advertising sheet which announces bargains at stores, special sales or anything of that kind. If the housekeeper can get any free information of this kind that may be useful nobody has any right to object. But it is the distribution of the vile, scurrilous and objectionable literature to which we refer.

Is it just or right that the homes of our city should be exposed to any such abuse?

Certainly not.

We believe the homes of the people should be protected against literature that will alarm the nervous, excite the weak-minded and suggest criminal practices. It should be protected against the advertising of quacks that assails the upright and reliable medical practitioner who does not advertise and makes many people believe they are in the early stages of some dread disease when in reality they are in perfectly good health.

There is a law that partly covers the various evils here complained of, but not all of them. The law should be more comprehensive so as to cover all the objectionable literature, samples and packages delivered at doors.

Section 21 of chapter 212 of the revised laws reads as follows:

Whoever sells, lends, gives away or has in his possession with intent to sell, lend, give away or distribute or offers to sell, lend, give away or distribute to a minor a book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or other printed paper which is devoted to the publication or principally made of criminal news, police reports or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of lust and crime; or exhibits upon the street or highway or in any other place within the view or which may be within the view of a minor, or employs a minor to sell, lend, give away or distribute, or, having the custody or control of a minor, permits him to sell, lend, give away or distribute any such book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or printed paper, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years or by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

With slight amendment this section would cover the evils mentioned and thus protect the homes of our citizens against immoral, obscene or inflammatory literature, against dangerous medical samples, against the booklets of the quacks and every other objectionable book, circular or package delivered otherwise than by mail.

The police authorities of every city and town should be the censors of all matter, advertising, political or otherwise, distributed to the homes, so as to exclude whatever may be offensive, immoral or dangerous.

SEEN AND HEARD

Common sense bows to the inevitable and makes use of it.

If you are lonesome, cultivate the habit of work and you will soon get over it.

A cruel story runs on wheels and every hand oils the wheels as they run.

Literally saturate your whole being with what you aim to do in life and there is nothing that can stand in your way.

While we stop to think we often miss our opportunity.

The greatest work has always gone hand in hand with the most fervent moral purpose.

There is only one real failure in life possible; and that is not to be true to the best one knows.

The wise prove, and the foolish confess, by their conduct, that a life of employment is the only life worth leading.

A man cannot keep his grudge and his friends at the same time.

Success in life is not as difficult as is generally believed. It is a habit, once acquired it is as easy as being lazy.

Nothing is too high for a man to reach, but he must climb with care and confidence.

William had just returned from college, recumbent in peep-toe trousers, silk hose, a fancy waistcoat, and a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked, the more disgusted he became. "Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a damn fool."

Just then, the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with undisguised admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago when he came back from school like a damn fool."

"Yes," replied William, "so father was just telling me."

"Papa?"

"Well?"

"Is there a Christian flea?"

"Why, what on earth ever put that idea in your head?"

"The preacher read it today from the Bible—the wicked flee when no man pursueth."

"Why, Tommy, that means that the wicked men flee."

"Then, papa, is there a wicked woman flea?"

"No," he means that the wicked flees, runs away."

"Why, do they run?"

"Who?"

"The wicked fleas."

"No, no! Don't you see? The wicked man runs away when no man is after him."

"Is there a woman after him?"

A LADY JOURNALIST'S ADVICE

Of all the troubles mother endures during baby's helpless days, skin troubles are the most perplexing. There are so many, and all are so obstinate and persistent, so wearying to the little sufferer, and so apt to become chronic, and mar baby's beauty. I am constantly being asked for some safe and effective home remedy for blemishes on baby's skin, rashes, pimples, blotches, eruptions, and especially for something really effective in cases of eczema, and I am quite delighted to hear from several of my correspondents that they have used Cadum, the new medical compound, and have obtained results far in excess of their expectations. 10c and 25c per box.

STIMSON'S TALK

He Says Cost of Living Can be Reduced

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Before an audience in Brooklyn last night, Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, replying to the charge of his opponents that republicans are responsible for the high cost of living, declared that while the cases are world-wide, there are some elements of the evil "which we can grapple by legislation and administrative action." He said:

"When I became district attorney for the federal government about five years ago, I found that the sugar trust, established here in your borough, had entrenched itself against competition from the various small competitors that it was meeting throughout the country by a gigantic and most complete system of special railroad rates. I found for instance, that they had secured special rates on the New York Central to crush out a growing competition in the state of Michigan. "Within an hour after I took office on the first of February, 1906, I was engaged in the study of certain evidence bearing on these discriminations. It formed the main part of my work for nearly a year, prosecuted the New York Central railroad, the Great Northern railroad, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Central Vermont and also the sugar trust itself for receiving rebates from those roads, and I convinced myself that I think it is proper to say, and I think it is true to say, that mainly as a result of those prosecutions the entire fabric of special secret rates in this locality has been wiped out and the great highways of commerce are free on even terms to the small as well as to the great shipper."

3804 KILLED

AND 82,374 INJURED BY RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—"Killed, 3804; injured, 82,374." This is the casualty record of the railroads in the United States during the year ended June 30 last, according to the interstate commerce commission yesterday. It is an increase of 1012 in the number killed, and 18,454 in the number injured over the previous year's figures. There were 5861 collisions, killing 433 persons and injuring 7765 and damaging railroad property $4,829,279. In the year's 5910 derailments, 245 persons were killed and 11,435 injured. During the last three months of the year the total killed or injured was 26,650.

ECZEMA ON HANDS FOR TEN YEARS

Were Raw All Over—Was Spreading to Body and Limbs—Used Cuticura and was Cured—Also Cured Daughter's Eczema.

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it finally came to stay. I had three good doctors to do all they could but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, together with the Cuticura Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was fatter than I ever was. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to fool with nothing else, but to get Cuticura and get well. My hands, cured by the use of Cuticura, have never given me any trouble since. I am now. I cannot recommend Cuticura highly enough. It has done me and my family so much good. My daughter's hands this summer became perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing that would do them any good until she tried Cuticura. She used two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for other members of my family and it always becomes successful. I recommend it to any one with eczema. The best place to get it is from a reliable dealer. I am using it. I will never use anything else. Mrs. E. F. Fain, Speers Ferry, Va., Oct. 10, 1909."

Cuticura is the most economical treatment for eczema of the skin and scalp. A case of Cuticura cured a case of eczema of the scalp. Sold throughout the world. Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Mfrs., Boston.

WELLESLEY GIRL

Becomes a Bride at Age of 17 Years

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—Lourin Seth Ulman, who gave his residence Lynn, Mass., and the name of his father Seth A. Ulman, a banker and broker of the shoe city, and Miss Madeline Powers, a student of Wellesley college, aged 17, were married yesterday morning at the parsonage of the First Congregational church by Rev. George Edmund Sobber.

The couple came to Nashua unaccompanied and telephoned from the station to the office of the city clerk to know whether it would be necessary for the bride to appear personally at the clerk's office to get a license. Mr. Ulman, who did the talking, was informed that it would not if he or any applicant had the necessary knowledge to impart to all the blank.

Some time afterward the couple drove up in a hack and the man came in. When he gave the bride's age as 17 Miss Coranah Bourgoine, the assistant city clerk, asked the groom to bring his lady in, that she, the clerk, might have a chance to judge her age personally, the limit in New Hampshire being 16 years.

To this the man demurred, and finally Miss Bourgoine issued the license and the couple went to the minister's and were married. Mr. Ulman, who said he was 20 years of age, declared he intended to open a branch of his father's business in Freetown, Me., whether they would go from Nashua. Later they will visit the home of the bride's parents in San Francisco, he said.

OUR GERALDINE

Patriotically Says Dukes Aren't Worth a D---

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, was an arrival yesterday aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm

der Grosse. Miss Farrar arrived about a week earlier than usual, in order that she might appear in Boston Friday and Saturday as soloist at the Symphony concert there.

"Aren't you going to marry somebody or elope with a grand duke or something?" asked one of the interviewers hovering near the singer, who was closely chaperoned by her mother. "Married, ha, ha," was the jovial reply. "No, I have not met my fate yet."

The personal story about Mr. Scott is absurd, I never see him very much, except during the opera season. You see, I never could sing 'Madame Butterfly' and 'Tosca' without Scotti. "And as for grand dukes," sighed the singer, "oh, dear, I have known so many, and I can assure you that not one of them was worth a damn."

She did not say whether this applied also to the counts and lords, but apparently Miss Farrar patriotically approves of the American man. Shortly before sailing she had an interesting experience when she sang for the Emperor of Germany at the royal palace at Potsdam on the occasion of the fifty-second birthday of the Empress.

"It was a very delightful time," said Miss Farrar. "The Emperor presided and about fifty members of the royal family were present. At the request of the Empress I sang English ballads—she didn't want any heavy music—and Caruso sang with me."

"The Emperor was very nice. I talked to him about twenty minutes and he asked me why I was returning to the United States. He declared that when he wished to hear opera in the winter, he finds that almost all the singers have departed for America. He is a wonderful man. When you look the Emperor in the eye, you recognize that he is a remarkable personality."

On Question of Voting Money for Financially Embarrassed and Affairs Under Investigation the Shedd Park

Similar Disagreement on Appropriation For Fire and Police Autos—Anne Street Park to be Named After Lucy Larcom

There were meetings of both branches of the city council last night. The aldermen held a regular meeting and the council met in special session. The special meeting of the common council was called by the mayor in order that prompt action might be taken in the matter of voting money for preliminary work in Shedd park, but the council refused to vote the money. The aldermen voted it unanimously. The council also refused to concur with the board of aldermen in voting money for an auto police patrol and automobile for the fire chief.

Board of Aldermen

All members of the board of aldermen were present when Chairman Gray called to order at 8.15. Aldermen Carmichael had made a flying trip from Lawrence, where he had addressed meetings in order to attend the meeting of the board.

The aldermen voted a loan of $10,000 for preliminary work on Shedd park; loan of $7000 for an auto police patrol and an automobile for the fire chief; $500 for two fire alarm boxes and $300 for a new boiler in the Central fire station.

The proposed loan of $2000 for an increase in the wages of street laborers was turned down and the $25,000 for a new stable in the health yard was referred to next year's government.

The committee on convenience station met in the mayor's reception room at city hall last night. The members of the committee are Councilman Chapman, chairman; Aldermen Adams and Byam and Councilmen Morin and Gargan.

Councilman Chapman said that the committee had been unable to find a suitable place for a convenience station in Merrimack square or in close proximity thereto.

Just for that, Alderman Adams moved that the mayor be instructed to petition the legislature for the passage of a bill to be prepared by the city solicitor providing that the Boston & Northern Street Railway company build and maintain a convenience station in Merrimack square. Mr. Adams' motion was seconded by Councilman Gargan.

Alderman Byam allowed that the bill should include all cities in the state. He thought it would meet with strong support in the legislature. If other cities were included, this view in the matter, however, did not coincide with those of his colleagues. Councilman Gargan and Alderman Adams expressed the belief that other cities might look out for themselves and they believed that to make it a general proposition throughout the state would kill it in the legislature.

The original motion was put and carried.

Councilman Chapman brought up the question of a public bath on the South common, the bath to be built at a cost of $27,000, divided as follows: Steam and plumbing, $7000; stone and cement, $6000; carpenter work, $5000.

Alderman Adams thought that inasmuch as there is a demand for a new bath stand on the South common, it might be erected top of the bath house. Councilman Chapman and other members of the committee believed this feasible, particularly in view of the fact that a bath stand has been advocated in the hollow of the South common.

On motion of Alderman Adams it was voted to invite the park commission and the city solicitor to attend a meeting to be called by the chair at an early time to discuss the matter with the committee.

The following jurors were drawn by Alderman Byam to serve at Cambridge the first Monday in November: George B. Holden, 363 Walker street, clerk; James S. Hastings, 20 Bartlett street, storekeeper; Henry Clay, 31 Race

The creditors and bondholders of the E. R. Warren company met at the office of the company in Warrenville yesterday to look into the financial standing of the concern and to ascertain whether the financial obligations can be met.

Among the bondholders are many residents of Lowell and the Federal trust company of Boston. After a prolonged discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of five made up of three creditors and two bondholders to devise a means of meeting the obligations and if possible starting up the plant.

At a meeting of the stockholders on Friday, it was discovered that the liability was pressing beyond the company's ability to pay and Treasurer Charles Bradford was appointed a trustee to manage the property for the benefit of the creditors and bondholders.

The company has employed about 125 persons in the manufacture of fancy paper boxes, cigar labels and other work of this kind. It has had orders for millions of boxes from the sugar trust, from candy manufacturers, the tobacco trust and other concerns.

The joint resolution to lay out and accept Shaw street from Warwick street to Wilder street, and that certain sums be paid parties for land taken, was read and adopted.

The extension of Shaw street, named in the preceding resolution, was read and adopted.

A communication from Robert W. Van Tassel, president of the water board, asking for permission to expend $200 for a pump in the Centralville station, was read and referred to the committee on appropriations.

The recommendation of the committee on appropriations for a loan order of $7000 for the purchase of an auto police patrol and an automobile for the fire chief was read.

Alderman Byam was in favor of "striking out" the chief's wage. Alderman Carmichael asked as to the life of an automobile. He said if he were sure the life of an automobile was ten years he would vote for it. "I say ten years," he said, "because we are having a new one every ten years."

The question came on the adoption of the order, and it was adopted by a vote of 8 to 1. Alderman Carmichael voted against.

The joint order appropriating $300 for a new boiler for the Central fire station was adopted.

The report of the committee on appropriations recommending that the proposition to borrow $25,000 for a new stable for the board of health be referred to next year's government, was read and the recommendation adopted.

The joint order for a loan of $10,000 for the Shedd park was read and adopted unanimously.

The report of the committee on appropriations recommending that $500 be appropriated for fire alarm boxes at the corner of Cashin street and Prince street, was read and adopted.

The report of the committee on appropriations recommending that $500 be appropriated for fire alarm boxes at the corner of Cashin street and Prince street, was read and adopted.

The order from the lands and buildings committee recommending an appropriation of $900 for a new boiler at the central fire station, was adopted in concurrence.

The proposition concerning the sale of the Fayette street school property came up for consideration and was adopted.

The man asking for $7500 for fire apparatus and also for $500 for an auto police patrol, was next considered. The appropriation committee recommended purchasing the auto police patrol and an auto for Chief Hosmer. The order was voted down, 14 to 12.

The joint order asking for $10,000 for improvement of Shedd park was read. Councilman Achin offered as an amendment that the sum $10,000 be reduced to $5000 because of the lateness of the season.

Councilman Kilpatrick opposed the order. He said that that particular section of the city is in need of fire protection than anything else; yet it had been refused.

On a ye and nay vote the amendment was lost 14 to 12.

Councilman Kilpatrick moved that action on the original order be put over to the next meeting, but this was voted down.

A vote on the original order, recommending $10,000 was taken, showing 15 in favor and 11 against, and was declared lost as a two-thirds vote was necessary.

A SUICIDE PACT

Couple Married Only Two Weeks

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A suicide pact between a despondent young couple on the upper West Side of the city, and carried into at least partially successful execution, was revealed yesterday afternoon when a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Torrea broke into their rooms. Torrea was found dead in bed and his young wife, partially overcome by gas and a wound in her left wrist, calmly waiting for her life to end.

When Mrs. Torrea was revived in the hospital to which she was taken a prisoner, she said that the knife wound had been inflicted by her husband in the carrying out of a suicide agreement which they made yesterday morning. She told the police that her husband had first cut a deep incision in her left arm and then slashed his own right arm. He then turned on the gas and they lay down to die.

The Torrea were married only on October 11 last. The small of gas escaping from the room led to the discovery of the dead man and his wounded wife.

of a similar kind as far west as Ohio and as far south as Washington, D. C. Among the bondholders are the H. A. Smith Boxboard Co. and H. L. H. Smith, they being the heaviest holders.

At yesterday's meeting there was every evidence of an intention to repair the finances of the company and to endeavor to treat all creditors with fairness and consideration. The company issued $75,000 in bonds and of these but $500 remain unsold. The Warrenville plant is an extensive one and the machinery is a considerable asset.

The company located in the Warrenville plant a little over three years ago. It is hoped that some arrangement can be made to keep the plant running as there are families employed there who have recently from New York and have no resources except what they can earn at the factory.

A great many people are surprised to find the company embarrassed although the lack of sufficient capital has been felt for some time.

At yesterday's meeting the unsecured creditors were represented to the amount of $46,000 but this amount may be reduced to $38,000 when the assets are canvassed.

Hold Annual Convention at Amherst Today

AMHERST, Nov. 2.—How to bring about a concentration of interests that will be effective and yet conserve unimpaired the individuality of the institutions which they represent, was the general theme for discussion among the presidents and delegates of New England colleges who gathered at Amherst college today for their annual convention. The prime purpose of these meetings, which really partake of the character of a symposium, is to coordinate so far as may be practicable the aims of New England's higher institutions of learning and to this main purpose are added other changes of views were today subordinating.

Harvard, Yale, Amherst, Brown, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Trinity, Middlebury, Tufts, Williams, Wesleyan, Clark, Clark and Boston university are each represented by the president and a delegate.

Tonight a reception will be given by President and Mrs. Harris in honor of the visiting educators.

BOY DEPORTED

WAS A DESCENDANT OF COUNT KOSCIUSKO

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Piotr Sinezek, 15 years old, was deported yesterday to Poland from the country for which his ancestor, Kosciuszko, fought in the revolution.

The boy's greatest pride is his relationship to the Polish nobleman who came to this country in 1777, offered his services to Gen. Washington and was made a general. So by hard work the boy saved nearly $50 and came to Boston unaccompanied.

The immigration officers had no difficulty in gaining from him the admission that he was not 16 years old. There was nothing to do but order his deportation.

Sobbing as the Cymrie left her pier, he declared he would return to America and become a citizen here as soon as opportunity offered.

The boy's father, von Bloemberg, another passenger on the Cymrie, is making her 51st trip across the Atlantic. In the ship's hold were 25,000 barrels of apples.

CENTENARIAN ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING LIQUOR LAW

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Nov. 2.—Probably the oldest man ever arrested in the United States was imprisoned at Fort Totten yesterday, when O. M. Ziebach, aged 107 years, was arrested on a charge of introducing liquor on the Indian reservation.

Ziebach's case will be considered by the next federal grand jury, and in the meantime he will be allowed freedom under bonds.

DUE TO NIGHTMARE

RICH MERCHANT KILLS WIFE, SON AND HIMSELF

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 2.—While possessed of murderous mania, caused presumably by nightmare, Jos. D. Wallace, a wealthy merchant, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning seized a pistol and opened fire on his family.

He shot his son Felton, aged 9, inflicting a dangerous wound, killed his wife and son Cline, aged 7, fired several shots at his two little girls and then blew out his own brains.

The surviving members of the family can give no clear idea of the tragedy, but they insist that Wallace was subject to nightmare and that he began shooting while in a state of madness following an attack.

Wallace came home from a lodge meeting late Monday night and immediately retired. About 3 o'clock the children were awakened by wild shouting in their father's room and ran into the room and found their mother dead and father standing over her apparently a raving maniac. As the children entered Wallace began to utter unintelligible cries and to shoot at the little ones, wounding Felton and killing Cline.

The other children fled and Wallace turned the weapon on himself.

The family physician says that Wallace had been afflicted by nightmares for some months and that frequently when aroused from one of his seizures he would be in a state of mania for several minutes. Mrs. Wallace, talking to friends about her husband's nightmares, had expressed the fear that some time he would harm her or the children.

ACROSS CONTINENT

Big Balloon Trip Planned By Pilots' Association

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Plans were discussed at the second meeting and banquet of the Association of International Pilots of America at the Hotel Somerset last evening for a balloon flight across the American continent, which, if successful, will serve as a preliminary to a balloon passage of the Atlantic ocean. It was the opinion expressed by H. Helm Clayton, the meteorologist, who won the Herald balloon trophy last season, and Charles J. Glidden, president of the Aero Club of New England, that the prospective cross-continent flight, in view of the recent record-breaking trip of the America II, is practicable in every way. The experience gained in the flight from coast to coast of this country, they say, will pave the way for crossing the ocean.

The starting point was not settled, but four cities were considered, San Francisco, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, Ore. Mr. Clayton, Jay R. Benton and J. Walter Flagg, all international pilots under license from the Aero Club of America, were nominated to pilot the balloon.

Mr. Glidden was instructed to obtain bids from the balloon builders of the United States, England and France for the construction of a hydrogen gas, spherical rubber and silk balloon of a capacity of 200,000 cubic feet to be used in the attempt to cross the continent, which will probably be made during the early spring of 1911.

Of the proposed aerial voyage Mr. Clayton said:

"With a balloon of this capacity, using hydrogen gas, a lift of 14,000 pounds (seven tons) would be obtained. Of this six tons of ballast at least could be carried. We would immediately ascend to an elevation of three miles to clear the mountains, and after that maintain a lower elevation but high enough not to be affected by the variable winds at the usual levels in which balloons sail. Starting from a point on the Pacific coast the landing would probably be made on the Atlantic coast, south of New York city, and the journey could be accomplished in four days. This trip is preliminary to an attempt to cross the Atlantic across the continent, in every respect of air, which in this latitude at certain elevations moves from west to east."

"It would not be difficult for a balloon of the type mentioned to stay in the air three days," said Mr. Glidden, in discussing the feasibility of the trip across the continent. "There is no doubt that it would be possible to add another day, and in this time the trip could be made. This balloon would be twice the capacity of the America II, in which the aeronauts, Mr. Gray and I, traveled over 1300 miles. Since this distance is about half that from coast to coast, a balloon of twice the capacity of the America II, should be able to make the passage without difficulty."

"As for the flight across the Atlantic, Mr. Gray and I agree that it can be accomplished in order to do so, the balloon would ascend to a height of two miles to take advantage of the steady west wind that has been found to prevail at this altitude. If Wallace had ascended to this height, he would have been all right, but dying at the altitude he chose, the north wind carried him into the cyclone that took him to the south. I think that a balloon would be able to cross the Atlantic in four or five days.

"The basket of the balloon will be large enough to provide sleeping quarters for three men, who would take turns in the navigation of the craft."

Aeroplane Tour
Mr. Glidden announced that the National council of the Aero Club of America, had considered his offer of a trophy for aeroplane touring, and referred it to the committee on rules. In the letter of acceptance the secretary of the national council said: "I am directed to express to you the thanks of the national council for the offer and for the sportsmanlike and generous spirit shown by your tender of the trophy."

It is planned to make the contest for which this trophy is offered take place in aviation similar to that held in automobile by the Glidden tour. The starting point would be from Boston, and although no limits to the tour have been set, South Framingham and Worcester have been suggested as offering suitable lighting spots on a flight to extend beyond these cities.

Previous to the banquet the annual meeting of the association, which was held in observance of the 120th anniversary of the first ascension in a balloon from the city of Boston, took place, and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Charles J. Glidden, president; H. Helm Clayton and J. H. Wade, Jr., vice presidents; J. Walter Flagg, treasurer; advisory board, Charles J. Glidden, A. Holsted, Forbes, Jay R. Benton, H. Helm Clayton and A. T. Lambert.

BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY

Rheumatism

An Account of a Painful and Deforming Disease.

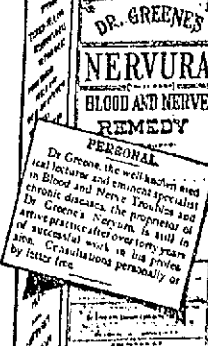

Many persons claim that they can fortell changes in the weather, the only explanation for their knowledge being that "they feel it in their bones." This is a foolish notion. The nerves of persons suffering from rheumatism are more highly sensitive than those of other people, and for that reason they are more easily affected by any change in the atmosphere.

Rheumatism is the subtle foe which steals away the joy of life. It gets into your joints and your muscles. It comes and stays and everything you do to dislodge it seems useless. Sometimes it lays you up, sometimes it lets you drag around, but its sting is always with you when you make a quick or unguarded movement.

Don't think because nothing has yet helped your rheumatism that Dr. Greene's Nervura won't do it, for it will if you give it a chance. Start today using Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for now at all times it is most dangerous to neglect your health, and the system is always made strong and vigorous by this perfect medicine.

Remember the great advantage of having your medicine put up by Dr. Greene, a regular practicing physician, who guarantees his Nervura and will stand behind it at all times. Dr. Greene himself will give free consultation and advice, personally or by mail, at his office, 24 Temple Place, Boston, Massachusetts, to all.

LABOR LEADERS

Reply to Draper in Favor of Foss

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Replying to Gov. Draper's letter stating that he neither condemned nor praised Eugene N. Foss for his vote on the Hughes amendment while in congress, James W. Wall and Martin T. Joyce, chairman and secretary of the labor campaign committee of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, wrote to the governor, yesterday asking why labor men should vote against Mr. Foss. The letter says:

"You say, you may remember that Mr. Foss severely criticized me for having vetoed the so-called eight-hour bill after having advised me to veto it. You are in error in the statement of what you deem to be a very crucial issue in the campaign. We investigated that claim last year. Mr. Foss advised you to veto a bill which was not before you, which never has been before you, which we would never have drawn to be placed before you, and which existed only in the intention of republican machinery to inflame manufacturers against our eight-hour bill, which did not include those manufacturers, and which the wisdom of a legislature had granted us against the pressure of the master builders' lobby."

"It is possible, and more probable, that many labor men even at this hour are in doubt whether to vote for or against Mr. Foss."

"We now challenge you to either condemn or endorse the condemnation of Mr. Foss for his vote on the Hughes amendment, and to give your reasons why labor men should be influenced by any such condemnation to vote against him."

SUES DAUGHTER

FOR ALIENATING AFFECTIONS OF STEP-FATHER

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Johanna Husselmann was awarded $9800 damages from her daughter, the wife of Dr. Wilhelm Becker, in the circuit court in a $25,000 alienation of affection suit of mother against daughter.

Mrs. Husselmann and Dr. Becker were married in 1900. She was then 46. He was 31. She had two daughters. One of them was Mrs. Hattie Bolt, 26. Mrs. Bolt was then living in St. Paul. Her husband was Dr. Henry C. Bolt.

Shortly after the marriage Mrs. Bolt came to Milwaukee to visit at the home of her mother and her new stepfather. The result was that on Sept. 29, 1905, Mrs. Becker and her husband separated. On Nov. 3, 1906, Mrs. Becker got a divorce, resuming the name of Husselmann.

On Nov. 9, 1909, Mrs. Bolt began suit for divorce from Dr. Bolt. She got the divorce Nov. 24, 1907. Five days later, according to testimony, Mrs. Bolt and her stepfather were married.

The mother said that her daughter "willfully, maliciously and wickedly" gained the affections of Dr. Becker and sought to entice him to desert his wife.

MISSSES HIS JOKES

MAYOR TO DRINK GOAT MILK FOR INDIGESTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—Mayor Shank is preparing to drink two quarts of goat milk daily as a cure for indigestion and is satisfied that if a cure results he will be able to stay in his office longer, and therefore transact the business of the city more expeditiously.

He has gathered statistics showing that goat milk if taken in sufficient quantities will cure the disease and he is going to try it.

He says that as an auctioneer he was never troubled with anything, but the mayoralty gives few opportunities for cracking jokes, and he attributes his indisposition to the fact that there are not as many laughs in the mayor's business as there was in crying sales.

CHELMSFORD

Last night the Central Baptist church held its 16th annual roll call, and the meeting was a decided success, both in point of numbers and in the religious spirit that it brought to the members of the church. The roll was read by the pastor of the church, the Rev. H. Ellis, and all those present responded in a very fervent manner. A solo was given by Mrs. George Blackadar, following which Rev. Mr. Ellis expressed his regret that through illness, Rev. A. P. Wedge of the Worthen Street Baptist church, who was to have spoken, was unable to be present. Remarks were made by Rev. H. A. Cornell of the Baptist church at Groton, a former pastor of the society who spoke of the pleasant recollections of his stay here and his high regard for the present pastor, and the excellent work that he is doing. It was during Rev. Mr. Cornell's pastorate that the roll call of the church became an annual event. Duets by Misses Della and Hester Baker were a pleasing part of the program. The members of the general committee were Rev. C. H. Ellis, Miss Emma J. Perham, Miss Bertha H. Dutton, Mrs. Edward Seaton, George M. Seaton, Arthur E. Dutton. The supper was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Brown and Miss Nellie G. Hazen.

At the close of the regular weekly service at the Central Congregational church, next Friday, there will be a business meeting to decide what the church will do in regard to calling a pastor.

At the Central Congregational vestry last evening the pupils of the primary and intermediate departments were entertained by their teachers at a Halloween social. Games were played, refreshments were served, and the party was brought to a close by singing, in which all joined.

The Home Study club of Lowell was pleasantly entertained on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Frank Hannaford and Mrs. M. E. Davis of Centre street. Papers were read on "Virginia and Her People," "Arlington Cemetery" and "Port Myers." The roll call was read, the members answering with quotations from Charles Dickens and Henry Van Dyke.

The death of Ella Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hunt, occurred at the home of her parents in Allendale, N. H., on Monday. She was a niece of Mr. A. C. Hemenway of Westford street.

PLAYED DETECTIVE

WIFE KEEPS TABS ON HER HUSBAND

BOSTON, November 2.—Mrs. Virginia A. Love, wife of a former Boston broker, told before the divorce court, yesterday, how she had played detective to obtain evidence against her husband, Henry H. Love, and Miss Marie Ross, who once worked in the office of Cardozo F. King, where her husband was manager.

Mrs. Love names Miss Ross and a Mrs. Wilson of Fairport, N. Y., as correspondents. Love has brought a cross libel against his wife, alleging concealed habits of intoxication and the use of drugs. Mrs. Love is daughter of a former mayor of Rochester. Her maiden name was Aldridge.

Mrs. Love was the sole witness during the afternoon.

She said she went to 90 Corey road, Allston, early in the evening of June 15, entered the third suite, that of Mrs. Aldrich, and from the veranda was able to hear conversation in what was formerly her suite below. She said she saw Miss Ross looking out of the window, and that her husband and another man arrived in an automobile.

Are Those in Which Disease Germs Go to Their Deadly Work. Carbon Will Protect You

Right now is none too soon to put a stop to their destructiveness. Use carbon throughout the house daily, in all believe your house is clean—you may even have the vacuum cleaners go through it, but even they cannot draw out all the germs lurking in out-of-the-way places. Make sure of their harmlessness by the constant use of carbon, the most effective and efficient disinfectant, deodorizer, purifier and cleanser known.

Carbon is non-poisonous and can be used by any one with perfect safety, even full strength.

The use of carbon adds nothing to the daily routine of housework because it can be poured into the water used for cleaning purposes; but it adds much to the cleanliness and healthfulness of the home.

In the sick room, carbon is a disinfectant and deodorizer, invaluable and also as an antiseptic, cleansing and healing remedy for cuts, bruises, sores and burns.

Carbon is sold by all the leading dealers. Price 10c, 25c, 50c and 75c per bottle. If your dealer doesn't handle some, send name and address and we will send you a liberal sample free. Write today to the Barrett Manufacturing Co., 297 Franklin st., Boston.

GRANITEVILLE

Very Rev. Dr. F. J. Oldaker of Boston, conducted a very interesting service in the Long-Sought-For chapel at North Westford last Sunday afternoon. The Rev. L. F. Havermale assisted by Mrs. Lucy Blood, had charge of the Sunday school work.

There were a great number of parties Monday evening and the spirit of Halloween was thoroughly gone into by those who were present, and many of the old time games were repeated.

A regular Halloween party, under the direction of Miss Angia Mattson, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mattson in West Graniteville, the proceeds of which will be added to the treasury of the Epworth league.

Many people from this village will attend the big democratic rally to be held in Ayer on Wednesday night.

MUTUAL BENEFIT

Pollard Co.'s Clerks Held Meeting

The annual meeting of the Employees Mutual Benefit association of the A. G. Pollard company was held last night in the drapery department of the store. The attendance was very large and while the feature of the meeting was the election of officers, after the meeting there was an entertainment and banquet.

At the business meeting several matters were discussed after which officers were elected for the ensuing year, the election resulting as follows: President, Robert Young; vice president, J. R. Jordan; secretary, T. Lee Taylor; treasurer, J. H. Kimball; collector, Mary Juras; auditors, N. Lozeau and F. Hutzhorn.

Following the business meeting, the guests adjourned to Middlesex hall, the use of which had been provided for the meeting by the generosity of Mrs. A. G. Pollard. Here a banquet with an elaborate menu was served followed by a delightful entertainment.

The guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Pollard and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunlap.

The program was: Selection, "The Rosary" store quartet, Misses A. Lavelle, A. J. Ducharme, Edward Desrosiers and J. A. Ducharme; piano selection, Miss A. Alexander; soprano solo, "Madrigal," Miss Margaret Turgeon; remarks, A. G. Pollard, Mr. Riley of Worcester and Mr. Kenney of Boston; piano duet, Miss Eva and Archie Archambault; remarks, Harry Dunlap; cornet solo, Charles Delarunde; piano solo, Miss Irene Parthenais; reading, David Cadell; reading, "How a Church Was Built at Koo's Bar," Mrs. Maude Knight; selection, male quartet.

Newton Woman Burned From Head to Foot

NEWTON, Nov. 2.—While her mother, who is 98 years old and not able to rise from her chair, looked on helplessly, Mrs. Mary J. Carroll of 172 Lexington street, Auburndale, was probably fatally burned yesterday when her clothing caught fire from the kitchen stove.

Her clothing a mass of flames the unfortunate woman rushed screaming from the house, scattering a group of small children who were playing in the yard. Her cries, coupled with those of the frightened children, attracted the attention of neighbors, and Mrs. Mattheys McBride of 164 Lexington street managed to beat out the flames by using wet blankets. With the help of others she then carried the unconscious woman into the house and applied oil to her entire body pending the arrival of two doctors who were called. Mrs. Carroll was then rushed to the Newton hospital, but late last night it was said there that her condition was critical and that recovery was doubtful. She was burned from head to foot.

A widow and is partly crippled. She made her home with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Benson, together with two sons, Thomas F. and John E. Carroll. Mrs. Benson suffered from a shock several years ago and has been unable to move herself without help since that time.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Carroll was at work around the stove when a towel fell from her hand and landed on top of the stove. In reaching for it the sleeve of her dress caught fire and almost instantly the flames spread to her body. At first she called in the door and then dashed blindly from the house to the yard, where the neighbors found her.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

HELD BY AUTUMN LEAF CLUB MONDAY EVENING

Halloween parties were in order on Monday evening, and many were the most enjoyable parties that took place in the city. Among the most popular might be mentioned the party held by the Autumn Leaf club, at the residence of Miss Elizabeth Robertson, 49 Quebec street. The party was one of the most successful held in years. The house was decorated with ferns and autumn leaves, and there was a great exhibition of the fruits of the season. There was a fine musical program, including selections by the Princeton orchestra, and vocal and violin solos by Sadie Robertson, Perley Bixby, Fred Bamford, Elizabeth Robertson. Halloween games were then played, after which all retired to the dining room, where a harvest supper was served by Misses Rose Eber and Mae Wallace. The entertainment was under the direction of Misses Lillian Travers and Mae Bamford. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Katherine Bamford.

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A very pretty Halloween party was held Monday evening at Clinton avenue when Misses Anna and Catherine Collins entertained a number of their friends. The house was beautifully decorated with jack-o'-lanterns, and during the course of the evening Halloween games were played. A harvest supper was served. The musical program consisted of a quartet, Messrs. Doyline, Regan, Kelleher, Smith and McEwan; piano solos by Miss Yvonne Martel; recitations by Miss Mary Garvey.

BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS

Formally Dedicated by Many Prominent Citizens

FREEMAN BALLARD SHEDD HONORED BY BOARD OF TRADE AS A BENEFACTOR OF THE CITY OF LOWELL.

Freeman B. Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer Made Honorary Members of the Organization—Gathering Addressed by Well Known Speakers

The formal opening of the new rooms of the Lowell board of trade, on the top floor of the Central block, took place last night under very auspicious circumstances. The feature of the meeting, however, was the action of the board in making Freeman Ballard Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer honorary members of the board. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and largest attended in the history of the organization and there were many new faces there, showing that the board has made rapid strides during the past few years from the standpoint of increasing membership.

The new quarters of the organization are on the fifth floor of the Central block and were opened at 7.30 o'clock, and for one hour the ex-presidents of the board held a reception. Among those in the receiving line were Ex-Presidents Henry A. Smith, Fred Watson, Joseph L. Chaffoux, Chas. H. Conant and A. G. Walsh. Associated with them were Harvey B. Greene, the present president of the board of trade, and Secretary John H. Murphy. A buffet lunch was served and there was music by McElroy's orchestra.

At 8.30 o'clock President Greene called to order. Up to this time there was hope that Mr. Ayer might appear, but Dr. Charles H. Stowell stated that pressing business engagements would prevent him from so doing.

Greene, after welcoming the members referred to the work accomplished by the organization. He spoke

Absolutely Safe Storage

THE LOWELL STORAGE COMPANY has filled a long felt want in our city by building one of the largest storage buildings in New England, where every kind of Merchandise from a Diamond to a Locomotive is kept. The building is fireproof with arrangements for the storing of Furniture, Pianos and in short everything but dynamite at very reasonable rent. A person would be very foolish to sell his household goods if he was going out of town, and let them go at a great sacrifice, when he can have them stored perfectly safe with us. Come up to Jackson street and talk it over with us; we can satisfy you in every way. One floor heated for automobiles.

LOWELL STORAGE WAREHOUSE CO.
JACKSON STREET
W. M. Lovejoy, President and General Manager.

Black Rocks, Salisbury, of the picnic to Tyng's Island, July 19, 1899, and of the election of Mr. Adams to the presidency on Jan. 3, 1899. Feb. 11, of that year, the last recorded meeting of the Lowell Business Men's association was held. The total membership at that time was 276.

On Jan. 16, 1899, a meeting was held to incorporate the Lowell board of trade and on Feb. 4 the by-laws were adopted. On May 13, 1899, the city council was urged to build a high school, and on April 14, 1891, a resolution was passed and forwarded to the United States treasurer, relative to the condition of the federal building. The same year a resolution was advanced asking for pure water. Charles A. Stott was elected president in 1892, and in March of that year congress was asked to establish a department of trade and commerce. In April of that year J. L. Chaffoux was chosen president.

Mr. Smith followed through the presidencies of George A. Hanscom, Jesse H. Shepard, W. S. Watson, George H. Marston, Charles H. Conant, E. J. Noble, A. Walsh and Henry A. Smith. Particular stress was laid on the many things in the way of civic improvement which had been urged by the board, under the presidencies named.

Alonso G. Walsh

Alonso G. Walsh was the next speaker and he spoke in part as follows: "I esteem it a pleasure to have this office assigned to me. On the 13th day of September it was voted to confer upon Freeman Ballard Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer the title of honorary and life members of the Lowell board of trade."

Mr. Walsh then spoke of the gift of Freeman Ballard Shedd to the city—the gift of the Shedd park and playground.

Recognition," continued Mr. Walsh, "is the highest service the Lowell board of trade wishes to confer this certificate upon you, Mr. Shedd. When we go over the names of the benefactors of Lowell, it makes a long list. Every walk of life is represented in that list; every walk has contributed richly."

The speaker referred to the many benefactions of Frederick Fanning Ayer, the subscribing of funds for the Y. M. C. A. building, of the Y. W. C. A. building, the Lowell General hospital, the work of many of the clergy of various faiths and he was not a worshiper of mankind, but the men of Lowell who had done noble service for mankind deserved the title of "princes of men."

"I've been in Lowell a great many years," he said. "I've known her to be caricatured, sneered at, vilified, but standing in the presence of one of her noblest sons, I can say, 'There are those who love her.'"

"Here was a boy, not brought up in affluence; a boy like other boys. He didn't go into the drug business because of choice, but because he changed to it. He didn't go into it and he enlisted and he did his service, perhaps in no greater degree than many others, but he did his duty. Then he returned home."

"He was thrifty; he continued in his business. Then he desired to see other things which he did not like to do. He gave this beautiful park land for the perpetuity and prosperity of the city."

Mr. Walsh then presented the engraved parchment of Mr. Shedd. For a few minutes everybody stood up and applauded and this was followed by three cheers for Mr. Shedd.

"I'm so overcome by the eloquence of my neighbor who presented this memorial and I am so completely buried up with the bouquets showered upon me, that I can't say much," said Mr. Shedd as he accepted the parchment. He then took a chair which contained Hon. Joseph Chaffoux and Lord Alton, and which caused much laughter.

"I thank you for the great compliment you have paid me for electing me an honorary member of this body," he continued. "This gives me great courage. I desire to take this opportunity to return my thanks to the mayor, the board of aldermen and the common council for the unanimous manner in which they accepted this gift. Also the press and the people for their hearty manner in receiving it."

"I have never returned to my home again but I have been invariably delighted. I have been in many states, but none of them has seemed as good as Massachusetts. I have been in many cities, but Lowell seems more comfortable to me than does any other."

Mr. Shedd in a reminiscent mood spoke of the old methods of the city government and those of the present time. Inasmuch as the speaker was familiar with the old governments and is with the present body, his remarks were very interesting.

In conclusion, Mr. Shedd said: "I have all sorts of things growing every minute here. We've got the board of trade, and we all want to get together and do all we can to help it."

"Many men live as if the world would end when they die. We want to remember that there are others to follow us on this earth and we must do all in our power to make them happy. Gentlemen, I thank you."

Secretary John H. Murphy then read letters from Frederick Fanning Ayer, regretting his inability to be present, as follows:

Hotel Touraine, Boston, Mass., Oct. 21, 1910.

Harvey B. Greene, Esq., President
Lowell Board of Trade, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Mr. Greene: Let me sincerely thank you for the kindly goodwill and action of the Lowell board of trade in-making me an honorary member of your board. It is above all things pleasant to me to be remembered by my fellow-townsmen, and your gracious consideration is, I may assure you, warmly appreciated.

There will be some doubt about my being present to accept the honor in person, when you hold your meeting, if anything prevents my being present, please accept my good wishes for your continued success and usefulness.

Very sincerely yours,
Frederick Fanning Ayer.

Hotel Touraine, Boston, Oct. 21, 1910.

Dear Mr. Greene: While I find I am not to be present at your meeting of the Lowell board of trade tomorrow evening, please allow me again to thank you, and to say how much I value the kind courtesy of your thoughtful membership.

Sincerely yours,
Frederick Fanning Ayer.

Dr. Charles H. Stowell responded for Mr. Ayer, stating that the amount of money Mr. Ayer has given to various institutions of the city is the round sum of $1,000,000.

"I suppose men have said Mr. Ayer gave this vast sum of money to the city of Lowell because he was born here and because his father made his fortune here. But men are not giving such a vast sum of money to a city simply because they were born there. I believe that Mr. Ayer gave this money to Lowell because he believed Lowell worthy of such a gift." (Applause.)

Dr. Stowell then paid a tribute to the city's courts, banks and schools. "Not all the people in Lowell believe with Mr. Ayer," he said, "that this city is worthy of such gifts. There is a small minority here who are serious and sincere who yet believe that Lowell is a rum-soaked, utterly lost city."

"Dr. Stowell believes that there are different methods of making a city better, but the right way to improve it isn't to deny that city and everybody in it."

"Do you think for one moment that Mr. Ayer would have given that sum of money to Lowell if he believed a rum-soaked, Sabbath-breaking city? No; he never would have done so. He thinks of Lowell; he thinks of it often; he loves it and he has faith in it."

In conclusion, Dr. Stowell read a succinct description of the varied attainments of Mr. Ayer, as follows:

"FREDERICK FANNING AYER. "Firm believer in higher education. Giving employment to thousands of our own New England people."

"Devoted scholar. An ardent student of the world's best literature. "Magnificent benefactor. Having given to various institutions of our own beautiful city, the home of his early life, the magnificent sum of one million dollars."

Prolonged cheers were given by everybody present, while they remained standing. And the session closed with this tribute to Mr. Ayer.

Among those present at the meeting were: Major C. S. Proctor, Hon. John H. Drury, Charles D. Whitte, Walter E. Guyette, Charles B. Redway, C. F. Grover, James E. O'Donnell, Dr. William H. Downs, Henry A. Smith, R. G. Griffiths, William N. Osgood, Dr. G. Forrest Martin, Frank Gray, A. K. Whitcomb, Marvin B. Greene, A. G. Beharrel, Daniel F. Carroll, Rev. James E. Greer, Rev. Allan Conant, Forster Lawrence Cummings, William A. Whitte, John J. Sullivan, Henry J. O'Dowd, F. D. Munn, William F. Hills, Alfred P. Sawyer, James H. McKinley, Dr. D. E. Yarnell, Col. A. M. Kimball, Craven Mideley, Capt. Geo. Kimball, F. G. Sargent, Henry A. Smith, Joseph L. Chaffoux, Charles H. Conant, A. G. Walsh, Walter S. Wood, and William C. Cogger.

The reception committee consisted of C. S. Proctor, chairman; William Cogger, William F. Hills, C. B. Redway, Walter E. Guyette, and John A. Paulkner.

TEACHERS' MEETING

CYRUS DURGIN,
Principal of the Normal School.

SUPT. A. K. WHITCOMB,
One of the Speakers.

The Value of an Organization of Teachers Intelligently Discussed

Judging from the spirit of unanimity made manifest at the meeting of the Lowell Teachers' organization held in a high school hall, yesterday afternoon, that organization bids fair to become a powerful influence for the betterment of school and educational conditions in this city and the keynote was touched by one of the speakers who said that there never was a spirit of human purpose that did not find a stimulus in organization.

The organization had for its guests the superintendent of schools, the grammar masters and the principals of the High and Normal schools.

Autumn foliage, flowers and corn were used for decorative purposes and were made to blend, prettily on the platform and refreshment tables.

Three-minute addresses were given on the general topic of "The Value to the Schools of a Teachers' Organization."

Following the speaking there was a social hour with refreshments. The hostesses were Miss Devereaux, supervisor of kindergarten; Miss Baker of the High school; Miss Jantzen of the Butler school; Miss Burroughs of the Highland school; Miss Fay of the Varnum school; Miss Josephine Coburn, assistant supervisor of music, and Miss Perham of the Bartlett school.

Miss Belle F. Batchelder presided at a business session which preceded the speech making. At the business session notice was given of a change in the constitution to be voted upon at the December meeting, providing for a permanent program committee.

The December meeting will be held on Wednesday, the 7th, at the State Normal school, in virtue of a vote suspend the rule providing for meetings to be held on Tuesdays.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to the chairman of the temporary program committee, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, who introduced, as the first speaker, Superintendent A. K. Whitcomb. His subject was "The Value to Our Schools of a Teachers' Organization." He had three reasons for believing in the organization: First, for the mutual help that it brings to the individual teacher; second, on account of its social benefit; third, because, when teachers of Lowell stand together with unity, they can have anything they ask for, within reason, for the advancement of their work.

The speakers kept well within their time limit, three minutes. Mr. A. L. Batchelder of the Green school spoke of the value of the organization in its influence upon the welfare of the city.

Mr. C. W. Burbank, of the Edison school, had for his subject, "The Value of Such an Organization With Reference to Our Standing With Other Cities."

Mr. Frederick A. Wood of the Greenhale school, spoke on the value of an organization of teachers, in securing a professional spirit. He said that the ethical consideration implied in the making of good citizens.

"The Value of the Organization in Securing and Maintaining High Ideals" was Mr. J. E. Barr's subject. Mr. Barr is principal of the Washington school.

Mr. Herbert D. Bixby, of the Bartlett school, spoke on the value of the organization in the securing of a professional spirit among teachers of all grades, to the needs and defects of the schools. He said that free discussion of the right kind is very valuable; and in order to be valuable, it must be, above all, in a kindly spirit.

Mr. C. W. Moore of the Highland school spoke on the value of organization in securing unanimity of work; not a unanimity that is prescribed, but that which is gained by rubbing elbows with each other and comparing notes.

Mr. James H. Mellen of the Lincoln school spoke on the influence of the organization upon the parents of school children. He suggested that co-operation might be advanced by a committee of the organization meeting the parents in the large school halls.

Mr. C. E. Callahan, of the Butler school, had for his subject, the value of the organization to the teacher socially. He gave as his opinion that teachers should mingle with the social life of the city, in order to prepare the pupils to meet the obligations of citizenship.

The influence of the organization upon the school board was treated by Mr. Henry H. Harris of the Varnum school. Inasmuch as the object of the organization is professional advancement, and a broadening of the outlook upon life, he believed it would receive the hearty endorsement of the board.

Mr. William S. Greene of the Moody school spoke on the value of a teachers' organization to the grade schools.

Principal C. W. Irish of the High school drew his inspiration from the football field, saying that the main point is to make progress with the ball and organization is necessary to progress. "The enemy," he said, is inertia, on the part of the city government and the public, with reference to school matters.

Principal C. A. Durgin of the Normal school spoke on the value of the organization to the Normal school. He said that much can be done by the teachers interesting themselves in the girls going through their school, by assisting them on their way to the profession. Then, after they are in the Normal school, by continuing their interest and letting them know that a great organization having the purpose of making the school better, is watching their efforts.

Miss Andrews, Miss Penn, Miss Gormley and Miss Lamore played the piano during the social hour.

REPLIED TO AMES

Col. Carmichael on Insurgents at Lawrence

Democratic Candidate Addressed
Big Gathering at Pacific Mills
Today—Also Spoke on Corrupt
Use of Money in Campaigns

Col. James H. Carmichael addressed a large gathering of workmen at the entrance to the Pacific mills, Lawrence, this afternoon and received a warm welcome.

Col. Carmichael took occasion to reply to the statements of Congressman Ames made at the rally in Lawrence, last evening to the effect that he was an out and out insurgent.

Col. Carmichael spoke in part as follows:

The republican party bowed down with the weight of many years political sins, struggling under the load of an exorbitant tariff held responsible in the public mind for the trusts which are the outgrowth of that tariff, has for two or three years been casting about for some way to stem the tide of public indignation. A short time ago there started in the west within the republican party a movement which has become known as insurgency.

To this movement, in its conception, some three years ago, was given the support of some able and earnest men. The representatives in congress from Massachusetts, who were members of the republican party bitterly and consistently fought against this movement at every turn. When the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was passed, congress the insurgents, so-called, opposed it, some in various parts and some as a whole. The republican members of congress from Massachusetts including my republican opponent supported this infamous measure at every stage of its passage. After the enactment of this law public indignation knew practically no bounds. The republican party had violated its sacred pledge given to the people to reduce the tariff and they had instead of reducing it, revised it upward. The protests of the insurgent members of congress grew in volume. The republican members who trim their sails to catch every breeze of public sentiment began to climb aboard the band wagon. Those who had for years supported the stand pat policy of the republican party, those who had supported Speaker Cannon in all his outrages upon the rights of the minority commenced to be afraid.

My republican opponent who had covered this district only four years ago with Speaker Cannon's endorsement of his course in congress, in the last bitter hour of Cannon's struggle to maintain his power, turned his back on his friend of eight years and in the hope that he might be classed as an insurgent voted against the continuation of Cannon's rule of the house.
I offer no defense of Cannon or of Can-onism. He and his system of government are typical of a party grown drunk with power, neglectful of the people's rights and hostile to public sentiment. I say, however, that those who for eight years had upheld him and who had supported him in every abuse of his power were unmanly and ungenerous to desert him for the sole purpose of saving their own political lives. I say that a man should be judged by his eight years in congress, by his acts on important measures and by his consistent record of stand pat-ism and disregard of the people's rights. Rather than by one act done, as I say, to conserve his own political wellfare.

My friends, I desire to say a word to you about the corrupt use of money to control the management of parties and the results of election. I make no charges against any man but I do say that any man who may be blessed with wealth and who uses that money to dominate and control a party and to party organization and who uses that money corruptly to control elections, is a dangerous man. I say that such a man is an enemy of government, is an enemy of society, and is unfit to be an American citizen. I trust that in this contest the people will be permitted to form a judgment and render a verdict without the corrupt influence of money illegally expended for bribery and corruption.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The French cabinet resigned today. Although the fact that there was a divergence of views among the ministers concerning legislative measures designed to prevent crises similar to that brought about by the recent railway strike was well known, the resignation created a sensation, as it had been expected that Premier Briand would remain and remodel the ministry in harmony with his views on a parliamentary program to meet future strike crises.

The exact nature of Briand's program has not been announced but it is understood that both M. Millerand, minister of public works, posts and telegraphs, and M. Viviani, minister of labor, dissented, particularly Millerand, who insisted on the principle of arbitration.

Briand's cabinet was formed on July 23, 1909, as follows:

Premier, minister of interior and public worship, Briand; minister of justice, Barthou; minister of foreign affairs, Pichon; minister of finance, George Coehery; minister of education, Doumergue; minister of public works, posts and telegraphs, Millerand; minister of commerce, Jean Dupuy; minister of the colonies, Trouillet; minister of labor, Viviani; minister of war, General Brial; minister of the navy, Boue de Lapeyrie.

Deputies Attacked Cabinet

The cabinet of Premier Briand, which succeeded the Clemenceau ministry on July 23, 1909, unexpectedly resigned today in consequence of the bitter attacks made in the chamber on the government's action in suppressing the recent railway strike and its proposed legislation for the avoidance of similar crises in the future.

A strong republican majority in the chamber voted confidence in the government but at a meeting of the ministers discussions developed, and Briand announced that new and serious problems had grown out of the labor trouble that must be met by a united ministry. Accordingly, he suggested the retirement of himself and associates.

It is probable that President Fallières will ask Briand to form a new cabinet and it is expected that the latter will remodel the retiring ministry in harmony with his views on a parliamentary program to meet crises resulting from strikes.

It is likely that foreign Minister Pichon, Minister of Commerce Dupuy, Minister of War Brial and Minister of the Navy Lecomte will be in the new cabinet. Minister Millerand and M. Vi-viani, minister of labor, dissented from Briand's program and their retirement is likely to be permanent. Millerand especially was dissatisfied, insisting that the principle of arbitration should be recognized more broadly by the government.

Just what Briand's program of future legislation provided had not been made known to the public when the resignation of the cabinet was announced.

At the meeting at which Briand suggested the resignation he thanked his colleagues for having stood together in the national crisis and shouldered unitedly the harsh attack in the chamber.

REGIMENTS KICK

Another Revolution is Threatened in Portugal

LISBON, Nov. 2.—The new republic of Portugal is threatened with a military revolution. The Second and Fifth regiments today addressed a round robin to provisional President Braga stating that they were prepared for an insurrection if they were not granted the promised promotions and pensions for helping overthrow the monarchy.

The government probably will yield.

AN ASSAULT CASE MANY ACCIDENTS

On Trial in Superior Court Today

The testimony in the case of Peck against Dwyer, for an alleged assault, was resumed before Judge Fox at the opening of this morning's session of the civil session of the superior court.
This is a Wakefield case which opened yesterday and took up the entire day.
The plaintiff in his declaration claims that the defendant struck him without cause and names the ad damnum as $10,000.

This noon the court resumed the case until tomorrow morning.

POTASH INDUSTRY

AMERICAN BUYERS WANT CON-CESSIONS IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—It is understood that American Ambassador Hill will submit to Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg today a final proposal relative to the concessions sought by American potash buyers whose interests have been adversely affected by the recently adopted legislation for the control of the potash industry in Germany. In view of this step the American representatives here have deferred their departure for home for two or three days.

Up to the present time the foreign office has not given the least satisfaction to the Americans, whose representations have been treated, it is asserted, with indifference.

STOLE CAMERAS

AND GAVE HIMSELF A HIGH TUNED NAME

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—The young man held here for the police of Washington, D. C., charged with obtaining cameras under false pretences, who gave the name of Gilbert E. Gladstone and said he was a son of Viscount Herbert John Gladstone, is Gilbert Gerguson, according to the superintendent of the industrial school, Allan Richardson.

Gerguson, when told of the identification, said:
"That is the truth."
He recently had been working on a farm in Texas.

PITCHER OVERALL

UNDERGOES TREATMENT FOR INJURED ARM

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 2.—Orval
Overall, pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, was treated here yesterday for an injury to his arm. He was here last summer and was fixed up for a similar injury. Next season he will either play first base or catch.

Treated at Emergency Hospital Today

John O'Brien, aged 15 years, residing at 355 Worthen street, met with a serious accident while riding a bicycle this morning, and was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was treated for a fractured leg.

James McQuade was injured this morning by falling against a curb stone and he sustained a fracture of the right ankle. He does not reside in Lowell but came from New York, and was treated at the Lowell Emergency hospital.

Nora Manning, 19 months old, came in contact with a sewing machine while her mother was out of the room, at 8 Perry street, and her fingers of the left hand injured and perhaps an amputation may be necessary. She was treated at the Emergency hospital.

Fingers Injured
James Stevenson, aged 30 years, who resides at 48 Waverley street, met with a very painful accident this morning, and the injuries to his second and third fingers of his right hand required treatment at the Emergency hospital. The house surgeon, after a careful examination, announced that there was no question but what one of the fingers could be saved.

SHOT HIMSELF

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER PUB-LISHER SUICIDES

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Gilbert E.
Jones, former owner of the New York Times and son of George Jones, founder of the Times, committed suicide by shooting himself in the right temple in his office in the old Times building in Park row today. Jones was secretary of the Park Building company, the owners of this building, formerly occupied by the Times.

OYSTER BEDS

CONDEMNED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—Eighty-nine acres of oyster beds in the Sacketts river were condemned by Prof.
Francis P. Gorham in a report to the commissioners of shell fisheries today.
He passes conditionally 246 acres and certifies that 317 acres of beds are above the standard of quality.

MARTIN CASE

HEARING AS TO SANITY OF DE-FENDANT

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 2.—A hearing was held today to determine the sanity of Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, under arrest for the murder of her daughter, Ocey W. M. Snead, in East Orange, last November. If Mrs. Martin is declared insane the trial of the three Wardlaw sisters will come to an end.
Virginia O. Wardlaw, one of the sisters, died in the house of detention starvation, and Mrs. Mary Snead, the other sister, is ill in jail.

Mrs. Martin was brought into the courtroom a short time after the hearing was opened. In the room were Rev. Albert G. Wardlaw of Spartanburg, S. C., and Miss Bessie G.
Spindle of Christiansburg, Va., the brother and sister of Mrs. Martin.
The inquiry is the outcome of an application made several weeks ago by the brother and sister, who believe the defendant insane. In support of their allegation they present affidavits from experts who have examined Mrs. Martin.

THE ATHLETICS

WILL PLAY SERIES OF GAMES IN CUBA

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 2.—Business Manager Bancroft of the Cincinnati Nationals has been engaged by the officers of the Philadelphia Athletics to lead that team to Cuba and to play a series of games in Havana, Santiago and other cities during December and

TRAINING SHIP

RAN HARD AROUND AT BELLE ISLE

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 2.—The training ship Gopher, manned by a number of Minnesota naval reserves, ran hard around at the head of Belle Isle opposite this city Monday night and was still fast last night with her bow out of water. She was bound from Indian to Detroit.

FLORENCE BURNS

Gets Seven Years in Prison for Extortion

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Florence
Burns Wildrick, who attained much notoriety a few years ago by being acquitted of the murder of Walter Brooks in a local hotel, was sentenced today to serve from seven to fourteen years in state prison for extortion. She seemed to take the whole proceeding as a joke. She will be sent to Auburn prison.

She smiled cheerfully while Judge Crane was pronouncing sentence and led from the courtroom she appeared happier than at any time since her arrest several weeks ago.

It was different with Edward Brooks, her co-defendant, sentenced to the same term of imprisonment. He was pale and hung his head as the judge read the sentence. On the way to the Tombs to await transportation to Sing Sing he was visibly affected.

SAFES BLOWN

CRACKSMEN DO JOB AT EAST-PORT, ME.

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 2.—The safes in the fourth class post office in Pen-brooke and the Washington county railroad station in that town were blown open with dynamite early today and the cracksmen got away with the contents without any trouble.
They left no clue. At the post office they obtained the small supply of stamps on hand and from the railroad station a number of mileage books and $5. The post office building was badly wrecked. The work was believed to have been done by crooks on their fall travels through the state.

PRESIDENT TAFT

UNABLE TO ATTEND DINNER TO ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—President Taft will be unable to attend the dinner given by the Hungarian Republican club to Col. Roosevelt in this city. In his letter to Marcus Braun, president of the club, President Taft says:
"I sincerely hope that your club is as active as it has been in the past and will roll up among Hungarians a good majority for Mr. Stimson as governor, and the rest of the ticket."
"You will have with you Col. Roosevelt, who has been giving his best efforts to the election of the ticket—efforts which I sincerely hope will be successful."

OLD ABOLITIONIST

ALONZO CUMMINGS DIES AT 91 YEARS OF AGE

BERKSHIRE, Nov. 2.—Alonzo Cummings, 91 years old, one of the last of the original abolitionists, died at his home here today of old age. When but a boy Cummings was a conductor of the underground railway from Bennington, Vt. to Manchester, N. H., used to conduct slaves to freedom in Canada.

AGAINST RAILROADS

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE FILES COMPLAINT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Chicago board of trade filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and 29 other railroads attacking their recently promulgated rules governing joint transit privileges on transit grain at Chicago districts to stop-over points. The complaint alleges that the rules increase the cost of grain transportation and, while relieving the common carriers of their proper obligations, they impose an unjust burden on the shippers. The complaint asks adequate relief.

CLUB WOMEN FIGHT

Renewed Demonstration in Garmentworkers' Strike Today

Though Several Were Arrested by Police Yesterday — Gave Visiting Cards Instead of Bail
Bonds for Their Release

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Demonstrations by striking garment workers were resumed today. Several hundred of them congregated at West Jackson boulevard and South Green street and claim to have secured many recruits from workers on their way to the day's toil.

Police were present and maintained order during the early hours.
Club women and settlement workers who did their best to conceal their identity were reported among the leaders.

Mounted police yesterday charged threatening crowds of striking garment workers and made numerous arrests in three sections of Chicago, only to be disarmed when met by obdurate groups of club women and society leaders who, when taken into custody, produced engraved calling cards at police station in place of bail bonds.

It was a new experience for the police, and it plainly confused them. A score of these women champions of the garment workers were arrested, but they were immediately released when their identity became known.

Most of the club women involved in yesterday's demonstrations were garbed as working girls, and the police could not distinguish them from strikers until after arrests were made.

Women Engaged in Riots
Riotous scenes developed down town, on the North side and on the West side. More than 500 men and women engaged in the down-town demonstration, which was broken up by the police after considerable trouble. As they left their headquarters in La Salle street the strikers and their sympathizers banged bells, blew whistles and looted horns.

The line of march proceeded into the wholesale quarter, near the Chicago river, passing large tailoring establishments, whose employees were known to join the strikers. More than 2000 took part in one of several incipient riots on the West side. In each instance women led the strikers and their friends.

"I take oath that we were doing absolutely nothing beyond the law," said Miss Ellen Starr, a club woman. "The only persons who were violating the law were policemen, who treated us roughly and hurt dreadfully with their clubs some of the poor boys were leading peacefully past the shops, and there had been a real riot this morning, and it would not have taken much to have made one, it would have been incited altogether by the police."

Miss S. M. Franklin, another volunteer picket, was indignant because of the manner in which she had been treated by the police.
"I know they would not have let me go if I had not presented my card," said Miss Franklin. "They seemed to think that I was a particularly dangerous character. Perhaps it would have been a good plan to let them take me to jail and just prove to them how little legal foundation they have to stand on."

Wealthy Women Pledge Assistance Promises from wealthy women to open their homes to destitute striking girls, offers of picket service from women social and club leaders, and pledges of assistance from many other women were received yesterday by Mrs.
Raymond Robins, president of the Women's Trade Union league. Among the volunteers were Mrs. W. E.
Hopkins and Mrs. Geo. Simpson.

Mrs. Robins last night declared that there would be at least 50 volunteer pickets from women's clubs and other sources, outside the working girls, actively engaged today.

"We cannot give their names at this time," said Mrs. Robins. "We found it advisable in New York, and I am sure we shall here, to keep the police guessing as to who our pickets are."

NOVEMBER

Quarter Month

—IS—

WASHINGTON

Savings Institution

207 Cent al Street

Striking girls, clubwomen and leaders in the Woman's Trades Union league, will meet today to discuss the strike. Among those who will be special guests will be Miss Katherine Coman, for many years professor of history at Wellesley college.

Strikebreakers Assaulted Three outbreaks occurred on the northwest side of the city. A mob stormed the Hurt, Shaffner & Marx building with bricks and stones, breaking windows and hitting a number of strike breakers. Police charged the crowd and made four arrests.

At Ederheimer and Stains plant another mob gathered and was dispersed by the bluecoats. An hour later the latter had to repeat the job at the same place.

The entire reserve force of the West Chicago Avenue police station was called to quell a riot of 800 persons at West Huron and Main streets today. A dozen arrests were made.

BARNEY OLDFIELD

BEGINS HIS FIGHT FOR REIN-STATEMENT

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—Barney Oldfield, disbarred since his race with Jack Johnson by the American Automobile association, today began his fight for reinstatement in the superior court here today. Judge Bell granted a temporary restraining order against the American Automobile association and the Atlantic Automobile association enjoining them from preventing Oldfield from contesting at the Atlanta-Speedway meet Nov.

Despite the accident last yesterday afternoon which resulted in the death of Al. Livingstone, preparations are going actively forward for the opening of the meet tomorrow.

POUNDED WIFE

AND BELIEVING HER DEAD, KILLED HIMSELF

SANBORNVILLE, N. H., Nov. 2.—Enraged by drink, it is reported, George E. Clark pounded his wife into unconsciousness with his fists here last night as they were preparing to retire and believing he had killed her, committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a double barreled shotgun. Neighbors, hearing the report of the shotgun, entered the house and found Clark lying in a pool of blood on the floor while Mrs. Clark was unconscious on the bed. Dr.
L. C. Craft, who was called, stated that the woman probably would recover.

Clark was employed in the Boston
& Maine roundhouse here.

DISMAL SEASON

SALT MACKEREL INDUSTRY HAS BAD YEAR

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 2.—"The most dismal failure in the history of the industry" is the general verdict of the Gloucester fishermen on the salt mackerel fishery for 1910 which is ending its season. With only two or three sac-kets yet to come into port, the total catch of mackerel for salting this season has been only 3165 barrels, compared with 16,206 barrels in 1909 and 20,426 barrels in 1908, both of which were disappointing as compared with a total of 30,000 barrels landed within a period of eight months a few years ago. The catch of fresh mackerel was also a great disappointment. The total of fresh mackerel landed was only 34-156 barrels against 46,439 barrels in 1909 and 47,327 barrels the year before.
Other branches of the fisheries have been successful and even considering the failure of the mackerel catch the fishermen of the vessel owners are expected to show a substantial balance on the right side when the books are closed at the end of the year. The fact that the loss of vessels and gear for the year have been small will also aid in making a satisfactory showing for the fishermen.

LEADING AVIATORS

WILL FLY AT BIG MEET IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Coming direct from the international aviation tournament at Reims, will fly a special train of seven cars bearing the aviators that are to be seen in flights at Baltimore's first aviation meet arrived here this morning and proceeded direct to Hialethorpe field, where all is in readiness for the aerial contests.
The opening event was scheduled for 1.30 p. m.

Atmospheric conditions this forenoon were ideal. The sun was shining brightly, there was scarcely any wind, and the air was mild as a May day.

Seven of the world's leading aviators are under contract to fly at Hialethorpe. They are Count Le Lesseps Radley of England, and J. A. Levesque Drexel, Clifford Harmon, Charles Willard and Eugene Ely of this country.
They will compete for purses totaling $50,000.

The addition, Latham, will fly over Baltimore for a special prize of $2500 offered by the Baltimore Sun.

6 O'CLOCK DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

Foss and Cassidy Visit This City Tomorrow Evening

On Friday Night Congressman McGillicuddy, of Maine, Will Address Three Rallies in This City—French Rally For Joseph L. Marin in Pawtucketville Tonight

The big democratic rally at which Messrs. Foss and Cassidy and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston and Col. Carmichael will be the principal speakers will be held tomorrow evening at Mathews hall in Dutton street and westward permitting an overflow meeting will be held in front of city hall. John C. Burke will preside and there will be a short parade headed by the Lowell Cadet band. There will be no rally in Lincoln hall tomorrow evening. As this will be the only opportunity to hear Messrs. Foss and Cassidy before the election every workingman regardless of party should avail himself of the opportunity.

French Rally Tonight
A French-American rally in the interest of Joseph L. Marin and Dexter C. Whittemore for county commissioners will be held at the rooms of the Pawtucketville social club, Moody street and Gershon avenue. Among the speakers will be Col. Carmichael.

Another rally will be held at C. M. A. C. hall at which Charles J. Martel, democratic candidate for secretary of state will speak.

Three Carmichael Rallies
Through his personal friendship for

Col. Carmichael, Congressman-elect McGillicuddy of Maine will come to Lowell Friday evening and will address three Carmichael rallies at Mathews hall, Lincoln hall and Keyes auction rooms. Col. Carmichael and other speakers will also address the gatherings. While in Lowell Congressman McGillicuddy will be entertained by Col. Carmichael at his home in Rolfe street. Both men speak tomorrow night at a big rally at Lawrence and immediately after speaking Col. Carmichael will come over the road to Lowell to attend the rally in Mathews hall.

Touring the Towns
Starting out early tomorrow morning, Col. Carmichael will tour the towns of Dracut, Billerica, Chelmsford, Tewksbury, Reading and Wilmington, making brief speeches at each place. On Friday he will give his attention to Andover, Methuen, Lynnfield and the other places in the lower end of the district. While Col. Carmichael is touring the district a corps of clerks is engaged sending through the mail campaign literature in the interest of the party and its congressional candidates. By Saturday 18 mail pouches of such literature will have been sent out.

Votes a Substantial Increase of Capital Stock

For Additions of Equipment and Abolition of Grade Crossings—Special Meeting of Stockholders Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad here this morning, President Mellen presiding, it was voted to increase the capital stock of the corporation by the issue of 106,637 new shares of its common stock for the purpose of making additions to the equipment of the company, for making improvements to the road and for abolishing grade crossings. Each subscriber to receive one share at $110 and the remainder to be sold to non-subscribers according to law. It was also voted to amend article

3 of the by-laws authorizing the president or vice-president in charge of the financial department and the treasurer to sign the certificates and bonds of stock of the corporation. It was voted to hold the annual meeting of the stockholders on the second Wednesday of October in each year, in Boston, instead of at Lawrence. Clerk Ryder was certified to issue all bonds. There were 162,234 shares represented. The total number of shares outstanding is 319,911.

REPORT IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Last night's rumor of a revolution in Spain and of which there was no subsequent confirmation, reached the Gaulois but was not published. According to the report an outbreak had occurred at Barcelona, resulting in several persons being killed or injured.

TREADWELL DEAD

WAS EXETER'S "JOHN, THE ORANGE MAN."
EXETER, N. H., Nov. 2.—Charles Treadwell, aged 75, one of the best known characters of the academy town, died at his home yesterday, after a brief illness. He was known to the students of Phillips Exeter as "John, the Orange Man," from his long-time selling apples to the boys, coming into their dormitories nightly. Mr. Treadwell early learned the engraver's trade here, where he did much of the farm work with cows and bulls. It was his favorite feat to drive to town in a two-wheeled cart drawn by a bull harnessed horse fashion.

FIRST ARREST

IN BRUTAL HIGHWAY ROBBERY IN BOSTON
BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The first arrest that has been made in connection with a particularly brutal assault and robbery in the South End the night of Sept. 23rd last, was made today, when the police took into custody Henry Elor. Elor was charged with being one of the men who assaulted Joseph Keddan, a hotel proprietor of Sharon, on Columbus avenue in this city and in taking a diamond ring slashed his finger so badly that he had to have treatment at a hospital. After taking the ring, a watch and chain and a small amount of money from his pockets the men threw Keddan into an alleyway 32 feet deep.

A LIGHT DOCKET

Before Judge Hadley in Court Today

Judge Hadley presided over the session of the police court this morning, and found awaiting his consideration very few cases. Philip Dröuin was before the court for the fourth time, and the court sentenced him to five months in the Lowell jail. Elizabeth Riley became rather strenuous last evening and attempted to break up furniture in the house of Mrs. Frank Carlin on Church street. She was adjudged guilty of wilfully destroying property, and ordered to serve a term of 60 days in the local jail. It is understood, however, that Dr. Benner will make an examination as to the defendant's mental condition. Charles George was arrested last evening by Special Officer Mahan when coming from his work in the Tremont & Suffolk mills, and this morning he was found guilty of the larceny of two pounds of cotton and ordered to pay a fine of $15 within three days or be sent to the jail for the term of three months. He paid the fine. It would appear from the evidence that the man was coming out of the mill gate last evening when Officer Mahan said to him: "What have you got there?" The reply was: "Simply my lunchbox and nothing more." The officer searched him and discovered two pounds of cotton valued at 40 cents in the lunchbox. There were three $2 fines and two were released by the probation officer, Patrick J. McCarthy, charged with larceny, was continued until the ninth day of November, upon his plea of not guilty, at the request of the government.

DEATHS

DAVIS.—Died, Nov. 2, in this city, William F. Davis, aged 42 years, at his home, 83 Shaw street. He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary R. Davis, two daughters, Effie M. and Eva R. Davis; four brothers, Joseph W., Martin V., Lafayette P. and Albert P. Davis; and one sister, Mrs. Lizzie A. Carr. Mr. Davis was a member of Grand Union lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F.

CARRUTHERS.—Joseph Carruthers died Nov. 1st at the Chelmsford Street hospital, aged 58 years. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertaker George M. Eastman, 24 Jackson street. Funeral notice later. Deceased leaves one son in England.

MORGAN.—Mrs. Jane Ballou Morgan, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William A. McEvoy, 104 Tenth street, came to this city as a young girl from her birthplace in Bristol, N. H., and worked in the same room in the Lowell mills with Lucy Larcom. She was married to William L. Long of Lowell and with him went west, where they lived for several years until Mr. Long's death. She later became the wife of Mr. N. H. Morgan, Row, N. H., and since 1870 has resided chiefly in Lowell.

Her living children are William C. Long of Claremont, N. H., Lorin O. Morgan of Somerville, and Mrs. William A. McEvoy of this city. She is also survived by four grandchildren.

Mrs. Morgan was a descendant of Hosea Ballou, the famous Universalist divine, and was a connection of Mrs. Eliza Ballou Garfield, a mother of President James A. Garfield.

She was of a quiet and retiring disposition and much respected and beloved by all who knew her.

LEBEL.—Mrs. Thomas Lebel died yesterday at her home, 27 Dayton street, aged 65 years. She leaves her husband, four sons, Joseph, Alfred, John and Lord Lebel, all of Lowell, and a daughter, Flora, of Williams-town, Vt.; also two brothers, Ernest Boulanger of Lowell and Henry Boulanger of Canada, and two sisters, Mrs. Jean Martin and Mrs. Louis Boulanger of Canada.

VIANCOUR.—Joseph Viancour died yesterday at his home, 5 Pulton avenue, aged 36 years, 4 months. He left his mother, Mrs. Marie Viancour; two brothers, Oscar of Lowell and Henry of the west, and a sister, Mrs. Alfred Raymond, of Newburyport.

GOSSSELIN.—Mrs. Albani Gosselin died yesterday at her home, 6 McIntyre street, aged 23 years. She leaves a husband and two small children.

BEAN.—Mrs. Jessie E. Bean died yesterday at the Lowell General hospital, aged 84 years. Death followed a short illness. The body was removed to the home, 3 Hazel square, Centralville, by Undertaker Eastman. Mrs. Bean was the widow of the late Abisha B. Bean.

FUNERALS

PANGBURN.—The funeral of E. Lucille Pangburn, daughter of Clarence J. and Mary A. Pangburn, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 81 E. street, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Selden W. Cummings was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Arthur Howard and Herbert Draper. Selections were given by Miss E. Parkinson. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and included: pinks, roses and lilies of the valley, Phyllis class, First Baptist church; wreath inscribed "Baby," Mr. Nathan N. McEwan; basket white and pink flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard and Master Arthur; white pinks, roses and lilies of the valley, Philanthropic class, First Baptist church; wreath inscribed "Baby," Mr. Nathan N. McEwan; basket white and pink flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard and Master Arthur; white pinks, roses and lilies of the valley, Philanthropic class, First Baptist church; wreath inscribed "Baby," Mr. Nathan N. McEwan. Burial was in the Edson cemetery under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

ROACH.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Roach took place this morning from her late home, 44 of 30 Dunbar street at 11 o'clock. A large number of requiem was celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 9.45 o'clock. Rev.

CANDIDATE KIELY

Made Fine Impression at Rally Last Evening

A Forceful Speaker He Discussed Seventh District Senatorial Matters in Plain Language and Received Ovation From Big Gathering

Mr. Philip Kiely, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh senatorial district, which includes wards five and nine of this city, made no mistake when he came to Lowell to address the democracy, for no stranger candidate ever made a more favorable impression upon an audience than did Mr. Kiely and he made hundreds of votes by coming.

Lowell working men were interested to see and hear Mr. Kiely because of the fact that he conducted a valiant though unsuccessful fight in the house in behalf of the workmen's compensation bill, which is one of the best measures for the employees of the mills and workshops ever presented to the legislature. Mr. Kiely stated that he would resume the fight if elected to the senate. Mr. Kiely is a forceful talker, never hesitating and using plain language that all can readily understand. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, and he was cheered at the conclusion of the rally. He will speak at the Tannery tomorrow noon.

The evening rally held in Keyes auction rooms in the old Boston & Maine depot drew a gathering that overflowed the building. The meeting was called to order by James H. Rogers, democratic candidate for representative in ward one and Dracut. Mr. Rogers, after brief remarks, introduced as the presiding officer, Gardner W. Pearson. On the platform were Mr. Kiely, Edward F. Tierney, representing Col. Carmichael; Mayor Meehan; Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district; John W. Daly, candidate for alderman; Edward F. Tierney, candidate for purveyor; and Edward Gallagher, chasing agent, and Edward Gallagher, of the state central committee. Col. Carmichael appeared toward the close of the meeting, having been at city hall. Mr. Tierney at the time was addressing the gathering and he gracefully gave way to the colonel.

Chairman Pearson in opening discussed the tariff and the injustice of the present district arrangements in the state, whereby the little town of Ashby, "30 miles away," is in a senatorial district with a portion of Lowell, while Saugus, which Mr. Pearson pointed out must be reached by boat if one stayed in the district, was also in an adjacent district with Lowell.

Mr. Pearson was vehement in his denunciation of republican policies which planned and executed such an arrangement of districts. He criticized Senator Lodge also, touched upon the matter of the high cost of living, and Mr. Pearson in conclusion pointed out the many indications of success now apparent and urged all to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Mayor Meehan, the first speaker received a warm welcome and after referring to the excellent record of Candidate Kiely in the house, he dealt with state issues and Lodge's republican state machine.

Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was introduced and though suffering from a cold, spoke in the interests of the candidacy of Mr. Kiely and his own interests, discussed the election of the balance of the democratic state ticket, and urged that all his hearers, democrats and republicans alike, vote for democratic candidates.

Mr. Kiely was then introduced as the speaker of the evening, and he spoke at considerable length. He declared that if the opposing candidate, Mr. Bennett of Saugus, could point out one occasion when the speaker, while in the lower house of the legislature, voted against the interests of the people, he would withdraw as a candidate against Mr. Bennett. On the other hand, he challenged Mr. Bennett to do the same thing on his record.

Mr. Kiely made an attack on Mr. Bennett's record, declaring that the present senator had voted against the interests of the people on several occasions, among them when he voted against the election of United States senators by popular vote, his vote against the 54-hour bill for women and children, and other bills affecting corporations and labor.

The speaker also attacked the republican party of the state, which he placed Lowell and Lynn in the "job string" district, and demanded that the democrats take control of the state, that they might give justice to all. In speaking of Sen. Lodge and national issues, he complimented the insurgent republican senators such as Sen. La Follette. He was frequently applauded and was given an ovation at the conclusion of the remarks.

Col. Carmichael, Mr. Tierney, Mr. Foye and Mr. Daly then made brief speeches, the rally closing at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Philip Kiely, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh senatorial district, which includes wards five and nine of this city, made no mistake when he came to Lowell to address the democracy, for no stranger candidate ever made a more favorable impression upon an audience than did Mr. Kiely and he made hundreds of votes by coming.

Lowell working men were interested to see and hear Mr. Kiely because of the fact that he conducted a valiant though unsuccessful fight in the house in behalf of the workmen's compensation bill, which is one of the best measures for the employees of the mills and workshops ever presented to the legislature. Mr. Kiely stated that he would resume the fight if elected to the senate. Mr. Kiely is a forceful talker, never hesitating and using plain language that all can readily understand. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, and he was cheered at the conclusion of the rally. He will speak at the Tannery tomorrow noon.

The evening rally held in Keyes auction rooms in the old Boston & Maine depot drew a gathering that overflowed the building. The meeting was called to order by James H. Rogers, democratic candidate for representative in ward one and Dracut. Mr. Rogers, after brief remarks, introduced as the presiding officer, Gardner W. Pearson. On the platform were Mr. Kiely, Edward F. Tierney, representing Col. Carmichael; Mayor Meehan; Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district; John W. Daly, candidate for alderman; Edward F. Tierney, candidate for purveyor; and Edward Gallagher, chasing agent, and Edward Gallagher, of the state central committee. Col. Carmichael appeared toward the close of the meeting, having been at city hall. Mr. Tierney at the time was addressing the gathering and he gracefully gave way to the colonel.

Chairman Pearson in opening discussed the tariff and the injustice of the present district arrangements in the state, whereby the little town of Ashby, "30 miles away," is in a senatorial district with a portion of Lowell, while Saugus, which Mr. Pearson pointed out must be reached by boat if one stayed in the district, was also in an adjacent district with Lowell.

Mr. Pearson was vehement in his denunciation of republican policies which planned and executed such an arrangement of districts. He criticized Senator Lodge also, touched upon the matter of the high cost of living, and Mr. Pearson in conclusion pointed out the many indications of success now apparent and urged all to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Mayor Meehan, the first speaker received a warm welcome and after referring to the excellent record of Candidate Kiely in the house, he dealt with state issues and Lodge's republican state machine.

Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was introduced and though suffering from a cold, spoke in the interests of the candidacy of Mr. Kiely and his own interests, discussed the election of the balance of the democratic state ticket, and urged that all his hearers, democrats and republicans alike, vote for democratic candidates.

Mr. Kiely was then introduced as the speaker of the evening, and he spoke at considerable length. He declared that if the opposing candidate, Mr. Bennett of Saugus, could point out one occasion when the speaker, while in the lower house of the legislature, voted against the interests of the people, he would withdraw as a candidate against Mr. Bennett. On the other hand, he challenged Mr. Bennett to do the same thing on his record.

Mr. Kiely made an attack on Mr. Bennett's record, declaring that the present senator had voted against the interests of the people on several occasions, among them when he voted against the election of United States senators by popular vote, his vote against the 54-hour bill for women and children, and other bills affecting corporations and labor.

The speaker also attacked the republican party of the state, which he placed Lowell and Lynn in the "job string" district, and demanded that the democrats take control of the state, that they might give justice to all. In speaking of Sen. Lodge and national issues, he complimented the insurgent republican senators such as Sen. La Follette. He was frequently applauded and was given an ovation at the conclusion of the remarks.

Col. Carmichael, Mr. Tierney, Mr. Foye and Mr. Daly then made brief speeches, the rally closing at 10 o'clock.

MAYOR GAYNOR

Will Endorse Dix's Candidacy Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The democratic managers agreed today that the rally here tonight under the auspices of the Independent Business Men's league, would be the most important of the campaign. In addition to the first campaign speech, that of John A. Dix, the candidate for governor, has delivered in New York, the meeting will be marked by the reading of Mayor Gaynor's long expected statement endorsing Dix's candidacy. On account of the weakness of the mayor's voice, he would not speak, but there is a chance that he will sit on the platform. The meeting will be at Carnegie hall and Herman Ridder, president of the league, will preside. President Stryker of Hamilton college, who recently announced that although a republican he would support Dix, will be among the speakers. Mr. Dix, who is in this city today, said: "My views on the issue and the methods of the campaign have not changed. The issue is the constitution and its preservation; that and the safeguarding of business. I am much gratified by the assurances of support I have had from the business men of the state. From what those in charge of the campaign tell me I am well satisfied with its progress."

When the charges of opponents affecting his labor record were mentioned, Mr. Dix dismissed them with the remark that they were not the issue. He said that his own employees had effectively refuted the attacks on his methods as an employer.

FUNERAL NOTICES

McEVY.—The funeral of the late Mary Louise McEvoy will take place Friday morning at 8 o'clock from her home, 109 Powell street, and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BEAN.—Died in this city, Nov. 1, at the Lowell General hospital, Mrs. Jessie E. Bean, aged 84 years. Funeral from the residence, 3 Hazel square, Centralville, Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Friends invited. Burial private. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker Geo. M. Eastman.

DAVIS.—Private funeral services over the remains of William F. Davis will be held at his late residence, 83 Shaw street, Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. George W. Healey, undertaker.

A CHIMNEY FIRE
An alarm from box 125 at 8.28 o'clock last night was for a chimney fire at 508 Market street. Sparks set the roof smoking, but there was little or no damage.

HAD ROMANTIC CAREER

Major Charles Derudio, U. S. A., Passed Away

Empress Eugenie Saved Him From Guillotine and Had Violent Quarrel With Napoleon III as Result—He Fought With Grant and With Custer

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Major Charles Derudio, U. S. A., retired, died yesterday at his home here at the age of 78 years. An emperor and an empress quarreled on his account. Once he was led to the guillotine, but a minute before the knife was to fall, he was a prisoner in a dungeon. He escaped, and after a series of remarkable adventures reached America.

Born in Italy in 1832, Major Derudio began a turbulent career by allying himself with Garibaldi while still hardly more than a boy. From Italy he went with three companions to Paris, where the four attempted to kill Napoleon III. He joined Company A of the 79th New York volunteers as a private, fought under Grant and other great commanders and when he was mustered out in 1865 was second lieutenant of the Second United States Infantry. In August, 1867, he joined the regular army and was appointed second lieutenant of infantry. Two years later he was assigned to the Seventh cavalry and under General Custer saw much Indian fighting.

In 1876 he was with Custer's command that was wiped out at the Little Horn.

Derudio issued orders himself that the execution should be stopped. When Napoleon III learned of Derudio's return from death he was furious. He and the empress had a violent quarrel. But he again was condemned to die. By this time Napoleon's wrath had cooled and the terms of the empress were too much for him so he commuted the sentence to life imprisonment in one of France's penal institutions. There Derudio spent more than five years and then by taking advantage of a series of queer happenings he managed to escape and make his way to America.

SPAIN IS CALM

MADRID, Nov. 2.—The rumors of revolutionary outbreaks in Spain, particularly in Barcelona, are without foundation. Calm is reported throughout the country.

The above despatch direct from Madrid disposes of the rumor given currency last night of a revolutionary outbreak in Spain. A despatch from Paris to the London Daily Telegraph stated that a rebellion movement had been begun in Madrid.

LOWELL AUTO

COLLIDED WITH WAGON AND WOMAN WAS INJURED

NASHUA, Nov. 2.—As Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds of the Lowell road were driving home Monday evening they were struck by an automobile coming towards the city and both were thrown from their carriage. Mrs. Reynolds was thrown against the auto and her head was cut so that stitches were taken by the attending physicians. She was also badly bruised and shaken up and is suffering severely today. Mr. Reynolds was thrown out on the opposite side and fell on his face. He clung to the reins, but when he heard his wife's cries he let go and went to her assistance.

The auto was a small one and is owned by a party in Lowell. Three young men were out in it and it is said they were on a demonstration tour. Mr. Reynolds says they had but one forward light going, and that a large semi burner. He claims they were not making a straight course in the road. When they tried to pass the team of Mr. Reynolds the wheels of the carriage and auto locked, with the result that the carriage was smashed and the occupants were thrown out. The front axle of the automobile was bent.

BRUTAL ASSAULT

ON UNKNOWN STOWAWAY OF STEAMER ST. ANDREW

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A murderous assault with an iron bar on a nameless stowaway occurred today on the Phoenix line steamer St. Andrew which arrived after midnight from Antwerp with a cargo of 99 Belgian horses and other livestock. One member of the crew is locked up, another is missing and a number of horsemen on board were questioned as to their knowledge of the affair.

The stowaway, who is a German, when he was sufficiently revived to talk, declared that he had been enticed aboard the steamer by a horseman, who promised to get him safely ashore at this port. While the steamer was still down the harbor today the stowaway was discovered and at once sent upon in force, he declares, an iron bar being one of the implements used in the attack. His head was badly battered and his hands were severely cut. The man's watch was missing and what money he had with him had been taken.

TRAIN DERAILED

Passengers Escaped but Fireman Was Injured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Excitement prevailed aboard an express for Buffalo and the west on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad when the train ran into an open switch at the South Orange station early today. The only one seriously injured was Fireman James Ferguson who jumped when his engine hit the open switch. Eight cars were derailed but only the Chicago mail car was upset.

Passengers in the day coaches were thrown from their seats and those in the sleepers tumbled out of their berths. A number of women fainted. When it was learned that none of the passengers was seriously injured another train was made up and the trip to Buffalo continued.

THE NEW PLAIN STREET BRIDGE

Yesterday the plunking was laid upon the new steel bridge by which the dangerous crossing on Plain street will be abolished, and in a day or two it will be open for travel. This is the first of the four dangerous crossings to be abolished this year by the railroad company. The work on the other three, Lincoln street, Walker street and School street, is being pushed rapidly, and the last will probably be completed before the new year.

BOWLING SCORES

Some Lively Contests on the Alleys

Two games in the Manchester Unity league, two in the Manufacturers' league and one in the Minor league were the principal games played on the alleys last night.

Last night marked the opening of the Manchester Unity (Odd Fellows) and in one of the games the Integrity lodge team defeated the Excelsior lodge aggregation by the narrow margin of eight pins, while in the other game Warrant lodge defeated Merrimack Valley lodge by six pins. If last night's games are a criterion of what is to come the bowlers of the Manchester Unity league will attract considerable attention.

In the Manufacturers' league the Boott defeated the Lawrence team and the Lowell Machine shop team administered a slaughter to the Bigelow aggregation.

The Elmrose Five and Lamsons had at it in the Minor league, but there was nothing to it after the first string. The Lamsons started out by trimming the opening team by three pins in the first string, but look at the scores of the second and third strings. The scores:

TEXTILE DUCK PIN LEAGUE
The students of the Textile school have organized a duck pin league and a five-weeks' schedule has been arranged for. Deductions have not as yet been arranged for but during the first week the designers will meet the chemists, the cotton men will have at it with the instructors and the wool men will try to "pull the wool" over the engineers. In the second week the schedule will be: Cotton vs. designers, chemists vs. engineers, and wool vs. instructors; the third week, designers vs. engineers, cotton vs. wool, and chemists vs. instructors; the fourth week, designers vs. wool, engineers vs. instructors, and cotton vs. chemists; the fifth week, designers vs. instructors, wool vs. chemists and cotton vs. engineers.

The following have been appointed captains of the various teams: Instructors, Ferguson; cotton, Crane; wool, Elliot; designers, Morris; chemists, Phillips; engineers, King. The games will be played on the Vesper Club alleys, and the winners of the series will be tendered a banquet by the losers. It is also intended to start a duckpin league for the duckpin schedule is completed.

The football team meets St. Anselm's on the Textile campus, Saturday afternoon. Some of the men on the injured list are also expected to be in condition to play Saturday.

PETITION OF BOSTON & NORTHERN STREET RAILWAY COMPANY FOR POLE LOCATION

City of Lowell, Oct. 28, 1910.

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the City of Lowell:
The Boston & Northern Street Railway Company respectfully petitions that your honorable board will grant a location for the erection of a pole to support the permission to erect and maintain wires thereon as follows: One pole on the southerly side of Merrimack street near Dutton street, the present location of the pole, the same locality to be abandoned, substantially as shown on Boston & Northern Street Railway Company's plan numbered 1348, dated October 2, 1910.

Boston & Northern Street Railway Company and Board of Directors of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company.

By ROBERT S. GOFF,
Vice President.

In Board of Aldermen, Nov. 1, 1910.
Read and hearing ordered on the foregoing petition, Tuesday evening, November 15, 1910, at eight o'clock.

Attest: GUARD P. DAUMAN,
City Clerk.

JOLLY BARN PARTY

The Misses Midgley and McDougal tendered a Halloween party to about fifty of their friends Monday night in "The Barn" in Meadowcroft street. The upper part of the barn was decorated in an artistic manner with pumpkins, autumn foliage and other things appropriate to the occasion. The carriage shed was made into a real old-fashioned parlor, a large open fireplace adding to the brilliancy. The usual Halloween games were played, and through the generosity of a kind friend, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour to the music of a hurdy gurdy. A genuine harvest luncheon was served by the hostess.

BUNTING FOOTBALL NEWS

The Cian McPherson team of Lawrence will play a league game with the Buntings on Saturday on the South Lowell grounds for the benefit of J. Ashworth, who broke his arm early in the season in a game against the Manchester club.

The first half of the Bunting season is over, with the result of their six games standing, one won, one drawn and four lost. They have scored eight goals to their opponents' 11, which shows that their defense is good, but the forwards have been very weak in front of the goal.

FOR NEW CHARTER

The Movement Inaugurated Auspiciously Monday Evening

Charter Committee of Citizens Assembled at Board of Trade Rooms and Organized to Consider the Matter of Charter Revision — The Movement is General

The movement for a new city charter is on and it was inaugurated Monday evening at a board of trade rooms under most auspicious circumstances.

While the movement was promoted through the medium of the board of trade is by no means a board of trade movement for a board of trade charter but the effort of a committee of citizens who include all of the different political parties and nearly all the walks of life, and many of them are not members of the board of trade at all.

Some time ago the directors of the board of trade discussed the matter of city charter and decided unanimously that the time had come to take up the matter. The directors referred the matter to the executive committee and the executive committee after a discussion of the subject came to the conclusion that the best way to proceed would be by appointing a charter committee from the citizens at large in and out of the board and have them take the initiative. Accordingly the following committee was named:

Chas. E. Anderson, Andrew E. Barrett, John H. Beattie, Rev. Charles B. Phillips, Edward B. Casper, Daniel F. Carroll, J. L. Chalifoux, William Drapau, John E. Drury, Cyrus A. Durgin, Patrick H. Farrell, Rev. Allan C. Forrin, Frederick A. Fisher, Marshall C. Forrest, Jas. J. Gallagher, Edward J. Gallagher, Thomas J. Givette, Fred. E. Greenhalgh, Joseph H. Guillet, George M. Harrigan, Henry H. Harris, Dennis Healey, Walter H. Howe, Walter H. Hoyt, Rev. George P. Kenngott, Irving D. Kimball, Fred L. Knapp, Dr. Frank McAlvane, Craven Midegley, Hugh J. Molloy, Albert D.

O'Heir, John J. Mahoney, Louis L. Olney, William N. Osgood, Clavis Ouellette, Philip J. Parent, Carl M. Phil, John C. Phil, Murray H. Pratt, Charles S. Proctor, Francis W. Qua, Esq., Henry Robertshaw, Henry A. Smith, William E. Sproule, Alonzo G. Walsh, Fred C. Weld, Paul E. Wesson, Royal P. White, Harold A. Varnum, William H. Wilson, Esq., Frank Ricard, Dennis J. Murphy, Esq., Dr. Joseph Lamoureux, Michael A. Lee, Fred A. Plather, John W. McElvoy, Philip S. Marden, Harvey B. Greene, John H. Murphy, A. T. Safford.

In the above permanent organization, citizens, republicans, former members of the independence league, and at least one prominent socialist. There are also city officials, newspapermen, manufacturers, mill workers and organized labor men, tradesmen and businessmen.

The first meeting was held at the new board of trade rooms last evening with an attendance of about 50. President Greene of the board of trade called to order and opened the meeting by explaining the purpose of the gathering. A permanent organization was then perfected with William H. Wilson as chairman and John H. Murphy, secretary.

Mr. Wilson then called for expressions of opinion and a general informal discussion was held at the conclusion of which it was voted to meet next Monday night and to invite the mayor, city solicitor and an alderman of Haverhill to address the meeting upon the new charter under which that city is now operating, while Secretary Murphy will endeavor to have copies of the Haverhill and Lynn charters for distribution among the members.

CAPTAIN OF HARVARD, WHO IS PLAYING A BRILLIANT GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2.—Head Coach Haughton has the Harvard men in fine fettle for the game with Cornell to be played at the stadium Nov. 5. The Crimson men came out of the game with the Army in good shape and are ready to down the Ithacans. In the game with West Point recently Harvard showed great strength in all departments. Her attack was sudden, powerful and varied, while her defense seemed invulnerable. The only weakness shown by the Crimson team was a tendency to lose ground by incurring penalties for holding in the line and a slight disposition to fumble. These defects, Coach Haughton claims, have been remedied, and he says Harvard has one of the strongest football teams in the history of the university. The playing of Captain Withington at right tackle has been brilliant all season. Experts here say he classes with Ham Fish last year's captain and right tackle.

SECRET DIVORCE

GOT A SETBACK IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The practice of allowing divorce suits to be tried in secret before a referee, received a blow from Judge Greenbaum in the supreme court yesterday when he refused to confirm a referee's report recommending an absolute divorce in favor of Mrs. Ledonya Burrell Alexander, wife of Francis Alexander, a wealthy clubman.

Alexander is a son of J. Harry Alexander, founder of the line of steamboats that formerly bore his name and is said to have inherited a fortune of $2,000,000.

FOOTBALL NOTES

There's hard work ahead for the Harvard football team.

Little will be known of the onside kicking game that Harvard is developing until the team gets to Yale field Nov. 18.

Cornell has been scored against only once this fall, while Harvard, which the Ithacans meet this week, has kept its goal line closed.

Harvard was between 18 and 30 points better than West Point Saturday, judging the teams by last year's football standards.

Michigan would have beaten Syracuse by a much larger score than 11 points had it not been for repeated holding and offside penalties.

Corbett got some awful knocks at West Point in running back the Army kicks, but was in fine fettle after the game, although his face showed what he had been through.

As usual, the question of officials is keeping the Harvard and Yale managements awake nights. It will be hard to fill the places of Bill Edwards and E. K. Hall satisfactorily.

Harvard had some success, running its ends from position against the Army. But it takes a good rushline and one with every man on the works to make these plays go.

Andover and Exeter will end their season Saturday at Andover. The home team started like a winner, but lost now Fred Murphy's team appears to have a reasonably good chance.

Pennsylvania goes against Lafayette this week, the Eastern team being the one that was beaten by Princeton only by a field goal. Pennsy, however, did much better against the Indians than Princeton did.

Dartmouth has Amherst this week as the last trial game before coming to Cambridge next week. The Dartmouth coaches believe that the Princeton game experience will make the Hanover eleven capable of playing Harvard a very close match.

Dartmouth ran kicks back much better than the Tigers did in the New York game. The Hanover team made 270 yards on the Tiger kicks, and the Princeton backs ran back Dartmouth kicks only 145 yards, including the run that was made by Pendleton.

Dud Deane should know what he's talking about when he says that the present day football game is vastly more about interference for the run than they did in his day—and Dud helped win the Yale game, 12 to 6, for Harvard just 20 years ago this month.

DIAMOND NOTES

The minor baseball leagues cannot advance the argument that they are unfairly treated by the big fellows, according to a bulletin issued by the National Commission. It appears that during the season just closed the National and the American leagues combined paid the players a total of $1,000,000. The big leagues have promised to pay $95,650 additional in case all these players are retained for next season. The two majors also paid $84,500 for drafted players, which brings the total up to $1,084,500. The amount of the big leagues are divided up as follows:—American league, $117,500; National league, $89,350. For drafted players—American league, $37,800; National league, $46,700. Additional amount to be paid for purchased players is $1,000,000. American league, $580,000; National league, $420,000, all of which shows that the American league's output is $216,150 and the National league's $170,850.

In spite of Willie Keeler's famous explanation of successful batting, "Hit 'em where they ain't," Hans Wagner says it's all a matter of good and bad luck. Says the illustrious Dutchman: "If you hit 'em where they ain't you're all right, but if you hit 'em where they are you're out. That's all there is to it and it's a whole lot easier to hit 'em where they are too. Only luck puts 'em any place. A player may have a good year, then an off year with the stick. It's a case of luck and it wasn't with me this year. I hit the ball just as hard and as squarely as I ever did in my life, but it went at the fielders instead of away from them. Luck cuts a figure in baseball too. Errors in a large majority of instances are due to something besides inferior skill in handling the ball. The ground is uneven, a stone is in the way, the cover of the ball is wet or a fellow's spikes don't hold, but the player's hands and eyes are all right. For that reason, I say, might as well where well and good, but if there is a jinks, good night!"

Lawrence, Nov. 2.—An audience of about 1000, including a few women, assembled at the republican rally in city hall last night and listened to addresses by Gov. Draper, Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Congressman Butler Ames and ex-Atty. Gen. Herbert Parker. It was an attentive but not a demonstration assemblage and none of the speeches aroused much enthusiasm.

Those who had anticipated that the governor would be called upon to reply to queries emanating from sources which are critical of his attitude toward organized labor did not have their expectations realized. In fact, practically no opportunity was afforded to put these questions, and Lieut. Gov. Frothingham was the only speaker who discussed in detail the governor's action relative to labor issues.

The governor urged the importance of maintaining the progress for which the republican party had stood in this commonwealth by electing a party candidate for senator and representatives and the congressional candidates. As for himself, he stood upon his record.

Mr. Parker eulogized the state of Massachusetts and claimed that the laws which placed it in the front rank for progressive legislation should be attributed to the republican party.

"Better take and do to demonstrated accomplishments than to empty promises" was his counsel, and he closed with an endorsement of Gov. Draper's administration.

Lieut. Gov. Frothingham declared that it was for the voters to decide whether they wanted the methods of Boston democracy carried to Beacon Hill. "If it hadn't been for the Boston machine Foss would not have been nominated," he asserted.

Congressman Ames attributed to senatorial opposition some of the short comings of the tariff. He told of his effort to have schedule K reduced and of the obstacles encountered. In the tariff commission, however, he forecast the passage of existing and future legislation.

Harry R. Lawrence, chairman of the city committee, called the meeting to order, and Hon. Wilbur K. Rowell was the presiding officer.

Obliged to Stop Machinery Because of Low Water

All the mills in Lowell are more or less affected because of the low water. The Merrimack river is unusually low and the Locks and Canals Co. has been obliged to curtail on the amount allowed the mills.

This process of curtailment has been going on for some time and it has finally arrived at the point where the mills have found it necessary to stop some of their machinery.

Inquiries at four of the cotton mills elicited the information that they were effected to the extent of being obliged to stop some of their machinery.

It is the driest fall known in many years and unless there is a good rain before the frost comes conditions will be anything but favorable.

Porky Flynn of Boston Defeated Jim Barry

Won Point Trophy in A. A. U. Meet

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—"Porky" Flynn of Boston was given the decision over Jim Barry of Chicago at the end of 12 rounds of boxing at the Armory Athletic association last night, notwithstanding that the local boy was sent tumbling to the mat in each of the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds by terrific blows on the back of the neck.

Flynn came back in the 11th round and was able to finish.

Tom Sullivan of Lawrence knocked out Bob LeFavor of Brockton in the first round of a scheduled six round bout.

Tom Foley and A. J. Duffy, both local boxers, went six rounds to a draw and Hayward Briggs of Brockton won from Dick Howell of Canada in six rounds.

FINLAYSON GOES SOUTH

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—Pitcher Pembroke Finlayson, the former Brooklyn National twirler, who played with the Lawrence New England league team the past season, has been sold to the Memphis club of the Southern league.

While the Lawrence club was sold a short time ago to Pioneer and Sullivan of Boston, Finlayson was not included in the list of players transferred and so the old Lawrence Athletic association, the former club owners, were obliged to dispose of him elsewhere. The papers transferring him to Memphis were signed yesterday.

NASHUA TRACK PLAIN "COMRADE"

The Highest Title for G. A. R. Vets

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—Nashua's first harness racing in nearly two years took place at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the newly organized New Hampshire fair association. The racing resembled old times, when Nashua was noted for its "overcast meetings," which usually wound up the racing on the two-grounds in New England.

About 50 horses of the large entry were at the fair grounds in the morning, shipments from Hills Grove being delayed by the morning there but continued into Saturday. Two classes raced yesterday and only one was finished. Every heat was a race of the kind that horsemen and lovers of the sport like to see.

The presence of Walter Cox on the Nashua track, who he formerly trained, after an absence of several years, also lent interest to the racing. Cox has the same good horses with him that he had at Hill's Grove. Ed Gilles' string and other fast ones were also present.

Yesterday's classes were the 221-mile and the 215-mile, the former being continued until today's card, with three heat winners to start.

The horses were started by Chester Pike. The most ideal weather conditions that have ever been known here at this time of year prevailed yesterday. The track was in excellent shape and although not so fast by a second or two as the Hills Grove circle, it was fast enough to furnish good time.

The crowd was unusually large for an opening day, and it included many horsemen who have not visited the track for years. Today will bring more horsemen and probably a still larger attendance. The summary:

GOES TO JAIL

ON ACCOUNT OF HER LOVE FOR DOGS

SANFORD, Me., Nov. 2.—Because she would not furnish a bond of $1000 required of her by the local court yesterday as an assurance that she would keep the peace for a year, Mrs. Kate N. Ross, 48 years old, passed last night in the York county jail at Alfred.

Mrs. Ross' difficulties grew out of her fondness for dogs, particularly spotted dogs. Three bulldogs owned by her attacked a girl Sunday, severely injuring the child.

The dogs were killed by order of the court. Mrs. Ross thereupon refused to file a peace bond, insisting upon her right to replace the slain pets with others.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The question of giving military rank to elected officers of the Grand Army of the Republic has disturbed many comrades of the order for years, particularly those affiliated with posts in the western part of the country. In some sections it has become the custom to add military rank to officers of the various posts, while in many instances letters and communications, addressed to the commander-in-chief and members of his official family have been forwarded with "General," "Colonel" or "Captain" added, as the position of the comrade addressed might suggest.

The rules of the G. A. R. do not suggest military rank. The head of a post is "commander," the next in rank "junior vice commander," and so on. The commander-in-chief is followed by the senior vice commander-in-chief, junior vice commander-in-chief and accordingly.

KILLED BY CAR

CAMBRIDGE BOY CRUSHED BY FENDER

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2.—Raymond Toulson, 11 years old, was killed by an electric car last evening. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Toulson, of 144 Webster avenue.

While the boy was crossing the street on his way to a candy store near the corner of Hampshire and Windsor street, he had a cent, and was generously taking his companions along to give them a treat. He ran in front of an outboard car on Hampshire street, only to be struck by an inbound car.

Raymond was jammed under the fender. He was taken from under the car alive, but died at the hospital an hour after the accident.

Several who saw the accident said that it seemed to be the boy's fault.

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 2.—Game receipts yesterday were 70 deer and 2 moose, making the record for the season 1075 deer and 80 moose.

The weather conditions are reported ideal at Bangor. A Boston party came down from Bangor last night with a good showing of game.

Estabrook had a moose and deer, G. W. Clement and W. O. Mann, deer and birds; F. B. Lane and A. Master of Boston had a moose and deer from the Fish River region. Another Boston delegation came down from Bangor with two deer apiece—H. A. Winters, A. S. Phillips, J. W. Colgan, E. Parrish and W. A. Washburn. B. W. Stark and A. L. Stark had two deer each from Sherburne. G. L. Tobey, Jr., had a buck and doe from Massadiss. Deer from Moosehead lake were tagged to H. L. Lawrence and T. Kimball of Bangor. R. C. Green of Boston had a deer from Wytopitlock.

Woman hunters on the trains were Mrs. V. Reynolds of St. Louis and Mrs. M. D. Bishop of Boston, with deer from Portage lake, and Mrs. Ora Belmont of Hallowell with two deer from Bangor.

Other Massachusetts hunters with deer were C. P. Anderson of Everett, R. J. Murphy and W. O. McCulloch of Springfield, J. F. Dennison of Medford,

WILL COACH NAVAL ACADEMY BALL TEAM

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—John J. Evers, the phenomenal second baseman of the Chicago Nationals, who broke his leg shortly before the beginning of the world's series, probably will coach the baseball squad of the naval academy at Annapolis next winter and spring.

He received an offer yesterday from Lieut. F. H. Fotel, who has charge of the midshipmen's baseball and talked last night as if he would accept.

If he does he will have to go to Annapolis in February and remain until the early part of May. He figures he can get permission from Manager Chance to skip the spring training trip and then give his leg a two months' additional rest.

Col. Jasper E. Brady Makes a Sensational Statement

Claims That He Investigated Blowing Up of the Maine and Found It Was Done by Cubans to Precipitate War With Spain

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Lecturing at St. George's church last night, Colonel Jasper Ewing Brady, one of the four officers sent by the government to investigate the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor February 14, 1898, declared the mine which destroyed the battleship was placed by the Cubans in order to bring war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba. He further asserted that the information had been sent to the president and the secretary of war.

"When I went to investigate the disaster with three other United States officers," Col. Brady said, "there were three theories concerning the origin of the disaster—that the explosion was caused from the outside by agents of Spain; that it was caused from the inside, and that the Maine was anchored over a mine prepared by the Cubans. We were able to inform the president and secretary of war that the last theory was the most consistent with the facts. This leads to the conclusion that the Maine was blown up by the Cubans in order to bring on war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba."

Continuing, he said: "Now I will tell you for the first time the name of the man who blew up the Maine. He is or was Jose Zavaldo. He was electrician at Morro castle. It was he who threw the switch which set off the powerful mine that destroyed the ship and sent 267 lives into eternity in a flash. Zavaldo was afterward shot by order of General Blanco. We even got a piece of the cable that led from the mine to the room in Morro castle. That piece of cable is now in the navy department at Washington."

Colonel Brady resigned from the army in 1899. Asked this morning why the report given the president and the secretary of war had not been made public, he said:

"Well, I'm sure I don't know," Col. Brady is a brother of the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the author, who is pastor of St. George's church, where the lecture was delivered.

Jasper Ewing Brady was formerly attached to the signal corps of the United States army and held rank of captain, but resigned in 1899.

Gen. James Allen, chief of the signal corps, said Brady was a telegraph operator and had written a number of magazine articles. He did not know, however, that he had been on any board charged with the investigation into the destruction of the Maine.

Admiral Wainwright, who was executive officer on the Maine at the time the vessel was blown up, said today that there had been no military board appointed to investigate the disaster. The story told by Brady was one of the theories advanced at the time the naval board of inquiry, of which Rear Admiral Wainwright was a member, investigated the matter. It was discredited then and Rear Admiral Wainwright said today he placed no stock in it now. He branded as untrue Brady's statement that a piece of the cable that led from the mine to a room in Morro castle now was in the navy department. If there had been any such cable, he declared, it would have been discovered by the divers who examined the hull after the explosion.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that 98 per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce or his able staff, have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult us by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

STRIKE OF 30,000 MEN

Is Threatened by New York Teamsters Today

Gov. Fort and Mayor Gaynor Are Trying to Bring Employers and Employees Together—Police Ordered Not to Ride With Strike Breakers on Express Wagons

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers neared a settlement today when Mayor Gaynor announced that the strikers had agreed to arbitrate. The strikers informed the mayor that they were willing to leave their case in the hands of arbitrators to be selected by the conciliation committee of the National Civic Federation and return to work and wait for the decision of the arbitrators until Dec. 1 or Jan. 1.

Mayor Gaynor held a conference this afternoon with Frank Platt, president of the United States Express Co., on the strike situation. All that is needed to secure a settlement of the strike by arbitration is the consent of the employing companies.

STRIKE OF 30,000
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The threat of a general strike of all drivers, teamsters and men in allied occupations hung over the city today as a result of the failure, so far, of the express companies and their striking employees to come to terms.

Exercise of the authority to call a general strike which was conferred last night upon the general officers of the teamsters by the executive council of the brotherhood would affect approximately 30,000 men in addition to the upwards of 5,000 men involved in the strike of express company drivers and helpers and practically tie up all traffic in the city, it is asserted.

No promulgation of a general strike order was expected, however, pending formal presentation announced to take place today of the men's demands on the companies and conferences expected to grow out of this move and the efforts being made by Gov. Fort of New Jersey, Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor Wittmann of Jersey City to bring representatives of the companies and men together.

An announcement of an order that New York city policemen hereafter shall not ride on express wagons while engaged in protecting the passage of these vehicles through the streets seemed to have a pacifying effect, for the moment at least. Labor leaders had complained that an alleged unjustified use of the uniformed force was being made in this way.

The guard upon property was in no wise relaxed, however. Orders were that mounted or bicycle patrolmen accompany wagons sent out by the companies and the heavy reserve detachments stationed about the company's offices and stables and other dangerous points were also maintained in force.

William E. Rogers, chief mediator of the bureau of mediation and arbitration of the state department of labor, announced today that his bureau had drawn up plans that if adopted will end the trouble at once.

He said he has conferred with representatives of both sides.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals today sent men to the train sheds to feed livestock awaiting shipment.

ELECT COL. CARMICHAEL

If Col. Carmichael could cover the rest of the district as well as he has covered Lowell he would be elected by a big majority. As it is his chances of election are very encouraging. He has put his candidacy before the people in a square and manly way, and voters of all classes should unite to elect him as a protest from the fifth district.

Nothing will scare the trusts, the speculators and the cold storage combines into fair dealing so readily as the election of democratic congressmen pledged to fight the combines responsible for the high cost of living.

PAYING DAMAGE CLAIMS

At a recent meeting of the committee on claims there was a very formidable list of claims, many of them for personal injuries caused by some roughness or obstruction in the public streets. When some of the claims were investigated awards were made according to the discretion of the committee. One claimant was paid a certain amount on account of injuries sustained in falling over a projecting stone on a certain sidewalk. Although the award was made several weeks ago the same stone is still there and still as high above the grade of the sidewalk as before. In view of what has happened one would naturally imagine that steps would be taken at once to protect the city against another accident of the same kind and to remove the stone or grade around it so that it will not remain as an invitation to somebody else to fall and collect damages from the city. This is but one of many similar cases that might be cited.

As a protection to the city in such matters would it not be well for the street department to take notice of all claims for damages on account of street accidents and proceed at once to repair the portions of the streets or sidewalks reported as dangerous? A little systematic attention to such matters might lessen the number of claims or at least prevent a multiplication of similar claims arising from the same cause; it may be an ugly stone or a hollow in the street, a broken sidewalk, a trough in a smooth-paved street or one of many other causes familiar to the committee on claims.

PROTECT THE HOMES AGAINST VILE LITERATURE

When a medical advertisement is rejected by the press on account of obscenity or some criminal suggestion the authors simply have it printed in the form of a circular or handbill and distributed to the homes of the city.

Is this fair or is it right?

When some quack invents a supposed remedy that druggists are afraid to handle on account of some objectionable quality, the quack can deliver sample packages to the homes with circulars landing his discovery as a sure cure for one or more diseases, although as a medical remedy it may not only be worthless but injurious. Is not this a menace to the lives of children who may pick up such packages and eat the contents, supposing them to be candy?

Then again it is a common practice to distribute about the doors objectionable literature that no man would want his children or any member of his family to read. It may exploit some new cult, condemn some society or organization or assail some movement or some cause to which the recipient is deeply devoted. It is wrong to allow the home to be besieged in this manner, and we are rather surprised that so much latitude is allowed in this respect.

We do not refer here to the advertising sheet which announces bargains at stores, special sales or anything of that kind. If the housekeeper can get any free information of this kind that may be useful nobody has any right to object. But it is the distribution of the vile, scurrilous and objectionable literature to which we refer.

Is it just or right that the homes of our city should be exposed to any such abuse?

Certainly not.

We believe the homes of the people should be protected against literature that will alarm the nervous, excite the weak-minded and suggest criminal practices. It should be protected against the advertising of quacks that assails the upright and reliable medical practitioner who does not advertise and makes many people believe they are in the early stages of some dread disease when in reality they are in perfectly good health.

There is a law that partly covers the various evils here complained of, but not all of them. The law should be more comprehensive so as to cover all the objectionable literature, samples and packages delivered at doors.

Section 21 of chapter 212 of the revised laws reads as follows:

Whoever sells, lends, gives away or has in his possession with intent to sell, lend, give away or distribute or offers to sell, lend, give away or distribute to a minor a book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or other printed paper which is devoted to the publication or principally made of criminal news, police reports or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of lust and crime; or exhibits upon the street or highway or in any other place within the view or which may be within the view of a minor, or employs a minor to sell, lend, give away or distribute, or having the custody or control of a minor, permits him to sell, lend, give away or distribute any such book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or printed paper, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years or by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

A slight amendment to this section would cover the evils mentioned to protect the homes of our citizens against immoral, obscene or vulgar literature, against dangerous medical samples, against the quacks and every other objectionable book, circular or advertisement otherwise than by mail.

The authorities of every city and town should be the censors of all advertising, political or otherwise, distributed to the homes, no matter how offensive, immoral or dangerous.

SEEN AND HEARD

Common sense bows to the inevitable and makes use of it.

If you are lonesome, cultivate the habit of work and you will soon get over it.

A cruel story runs on wheels and every hand oils the wheels as they run.

Literally saturate your whole being with what you aim to do in life and there is nothing that can stand in your way.

While we stop to think we often miss our opportunity.

The greatest work has always gone hand in hand with the most fervent moral purpose.

There is only one real failure in life possible, and that is not to be true to the best one knows.

The wise prove, and the foolish confess, by their conduct, that a life of employment is the only life worth leading.

A man cannot keep his grinch and his friends at the same time.

Hard things are put in our way not to stop, but to call out our courage and our strength.

Success in life is not as difficult as is generally believed. It is a habit, once acquired it is as easy as being lazy.

Nothing is too high for a man to reach, but he must climb with care and confidence.

William had just returned from college, resplendent in pinstrip trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, and a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became.

"Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a dern fool!" Just then, the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with unfeigned admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago when he came back from school!" "Yes," replied William, "so father was just telling me."

"Papa?" "Well?" "Is there a Christian sea?" "Yes, where on earth ever put that idea in your head?" "The preacher read it today from the Bible: 'The wicked flee when no man pursueth.'"

"Why, Tommy, that means that the wicked men flee!" "Then, papa, is there a wicked woman sea?" "No, no. It means that the wicked flees, runs away."

"Why do they run?" "Who?" "The wicked flees." "No, no. Don't you see? The wicked man runs away when no man is after him."

"Is there a woman after him?" "Tommy, go to bed!"

A NEGLECTED EDUCATION. When Ned, the eldest son, came on, To Art he turned his mind. So went abroad to Barbizon. An Art "atmosphere" he found. Five years in Paris, he remained. Tho' Pa sometimes protested— But, then, as he to Pa explained, 'Twas money well invested.

Sam was the next in order, he On Literature decided. So studied for his Ph. D. To start out well provided. Then travelled for a year or two 'Thro' all of Europe's quarters— As Sam explained to Pa anew, 'Twas bread upon the waters.

Alonso followed Sam, but turned His ear to Music's voice. He felt that genius in his burned. He was Apollo's choice. So, like his brothers, forth he fared His soul in travel steeping— Assuring Pa when he got scared, 'Twas seed for future reaping.

Now, last of all came little Jim. A simple lad and plain; No god had set his seal on him. His was no mighty brain. Pa's money, too, had all been spent— Twice grow as fortune bends them. "Twixt brothers have not a cent— Except what Jimmy sends them. —William Wallace Whitlock in Life.

Of all the troubles mother endures during baby's helpless days, skin troubles are the most perplexing. # STIMSON'S TALK

He Says Cost of Living Can be Reduced

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Before an audience in Brooklyn last night, Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, replying to the charge of his opponents that republicans are responsible for the high cost of living, declared that while the causes are worldwide, there are some elements of the evil "which we can grapple by legislative and administrative action." He said: "When I became district attorney for the federal government about five years ago, I found that the sugar trust, established here in your borough, had entrenched itself against competition from the various small competitors that it was meeting throughout the country by a gigantic and most complete system of special railroad rates. I found, for instance, that they had used special rates over the New York Central to crush out a growing competition in the state of Michigan. "Within an hour after I took office on the first of February, 1906, I was engaged in the study of certain evidence bearing on these discriminations. It formed the main part of my work for nearly a year. I prosecuted the New York Central railroad, the Great Northern railroad, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Central Vermont and also the sugar trust itself for receiving rebates from these roads, and I convicted them all. I think it is proper to say, and I think it is true to say, that mainly as a result of those prosecutions the entire fabric of special secret rates in this locality has been wiped out and the great highways of commerce are free for even terms to the small as well as to the great shipper."

3804 KILLED

AND 82,374 INJURED BY RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—"Killed, 3804; injured, 82,374." This is the casualty record of the railroads in the United States during the year ended June 30 last, according to the interstate commerce commission yesterday. It is an increase of 1013 in the number killed, and 18,454 in the number injured over the previous year's figures. There were 5861 collisions, killing 433 persons and injuring 1765 and damaging property to the extent of $1,899,271. In the year's 5010 derailments, 345 persons were killed and 4185 injured. During the last three months of the year the total killed or injured was 20,650.

ECZEMA ON HANDS FOR TEN YEARS

Were Raw All Over—Was Spreading to Body and Limbs—Used Cuticura—and was Cured—Also Cured Daughter's Eczema.

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it finally came to stay. I had three good doctors to do all they could but they did me no good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was healthier than I ever was. To anyone who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to use Cuticura, and to get Cuticura and get well. My hands, cured by the use of Cuticura, have never given me the least bit of trouble up to now. I cannot recommend Cuticura highly enough. It has done me and my family so much good. My daughter's hands were raw because perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing that would do them any good until she tried Cuticura. She used two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for several members of my family and it always proved successful. I recommend it to anyone with eczema. After using it I will never use anything else. Mrs. M. E. Fallis, Spear Ferry, Va., Oct. 19, 1909."

Cuticura is the most economical treatment for eczema of the skin. It is a combination of Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient to cure the worst case. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Preps., Boston.

WELLESLEY GIRL

Becomes a Bride at Age of 17 Years

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—Lourin Seth Uiman, who gave his residence Nashua, Mass., and the name of his father Seth A. Uiman, a banker and broker of the shoe city, and Miss Madeline Powers, a student of Wellesley college, aged 17, were married yesterday morning at the parsonage of the First Congregational church by Rev. George Edmund Soper.

The couple came to Nashua unaccompanied and telephoned from the union station to the office of the city clerk to know whether it would be necessary for the bride to appear personally at the clerk's office to get a license. Mr. Uiman, who did the talking, was informed that it would not if he or any applicant had the necessary knowledge to impart to fill the blank. Some time afterward the couple drove up in a hack and the man came in. When he gave the bride's age as 17 Miss Cornelia Doughton, the assistant city clerk, asked the groom to bring his lady in, that she, the clerk, might have a chance to judge her age personally, the limit in New Hampshire being 16 years.

To this the man demurred, and finally Miss Doughton issued the license and the couple went to the minister's and were married. Mr. Uiman, who said he was 20 years of age, declared he intended to open a branch of his father's business in Butte, Mont., whither they would go from Nashua. Later they will visit the home of the bride's parents in San Francisco, he said.

OUR GERALDINE

Patriotically Says Dukes Aren't Worth a D---

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, was an arrival yesterday aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm

der Grosse. Miss Farrar arrived about a week earlier than usual, in order that she might appear in Boston Friday and Saturday as soloist at the Symphony concerts there. "Aren't you going to marry somebody or elope with a grand duke or something?" asked one of the interviewers hovering near the singer, who was closely chaperoned by her mother. "Married, ha, ha," was the jovial reply. "No, I have not met my fate yet. That perennial story about Mr. Scotti is absurd. I never see him very much, except during the opera season. You see, I never could sing 'Madame Butterfly' and 'Pasci' without Scotti."

"And as for grand dukes," signed the singer, "oh, dear, I have known so many, and I can assure you that not one of them was worth a damn!"

She did not say whether this applied also to the counts and lords, but apparently Miss Farrar patriotically approves of the American man. Shortly before sailing she had an interesting experience when she sang for the Emperor of Germany at the royal palace at Potsdam on the occasion of the fifty-second birthday of the Empress. "It was a very delightful time," said Miss Farrar. "The Emperor presided and about fifty members of the royal family were present. At the request of the Empress I sang English ballads—she didn't want any biary music—and Caruso sang airs by Mozart. "The Emperor was very nice. I talked to him about twenty minutes and he asked me why I was returning to the United States. He declared that when he wished to hear opera in the winter, he finds that almost all the singers have departed for America. He is a wonderful man. When you look the Emperor in the eye, you recognize that he is a remarkable personality."

Made Rousing Speech at Plattsburg Last Night

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Judge Alton B. Parker, the democratic candidate for president in 1904, who went to Connecticut Monday to speak for the democratic ticket there, returned his campaign for the democratic state nominees at a big rally here last night.

Five special trains brought voters from all parts of the county. Judge Parker in his speech called attention to Colonel Roosevelt's discovery of an alleged alliance between Mr. Dix and Wall street and said in this connection:

"Col. Roosevelt and his candidate, whom he calls 'Harry,' instead of answering the issues presented to them in this campaign, are shouting about an alliance between Wall street and Tammany hall, and the only evidence he can produce is a circular asking for funds, issued by the chairman of the finance committee of that organization. I hold that circular in my hand and also similar circulars issued by the republican committee and the democratic state committee."

"In the appeals therein for funds they do not differ in substance but there are marked differences in the reasons assigned for the need of funds as well as in the affiliations of the men who sign them."

"I cannot help feeling that the democratic appeal is more impressive than that of the republicans."

"As for the signatures to each of these appeals, they seem to be not unknown to the public of that city. I don't find on the democratic circular the names of many Wall street men who were supposed to have special influence with the Wall street brethren, but I do find a great volume and variety of Wall street interests represented among the signers of the republican circular. For instance, there is Cornelius Vanderbilt, whose name stands well up on the list.

"Mr. Ogden Mills, who has kindly consented to act as treasurer this year is also somewhat identified with Wall street interests. He is a director of only seventeen steamships, railroad, banking and other corporations. Besides that he is president and director of a daily newspaper that is loudly extolling the many good qualities of the republican candidate, and incidentally is not too boastful in its praise of the colonel's conduct as a campaigner."

"Mr. Otto T. Barnard, another of the signers, is a director in only 11 corporations, among them financial institutions, railroads and mills."

"Mr. B. A. Sands sits at the same table with the directors of 16 corporations and he, too, signed the Macdonalds' cry for help."

"Mr. Walter T. Rosen, another signer, is a director of 11 corporations while Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, of whom you have heard before in the matter of raising campaign funds, has reduced his interests in Wall street corporations to a meagre two."

"Mr. E. W. Bloomingdale also has two, so has Mr. William H. Douglas, while Mr. James B. Ford has 11, four of which are corporations concerned in the manufacture and sale of rubber. Mr. John Hays Hammond aids in the direction of a steel corporation and roller bearing company. Mr. Alfred E. Marling is a director in nine corporations and their titles seem to indicate that he is the representative of important insurance interests. Mr. John R. Sheffield is a director in a land company. Mr. Louis Stern is a director in 11 corporations while Mr. Ernon Wintthrop, the law partner of Mr. Stimson, is a director of three corporations."

"Mr. Victor Morawitz is also a director, we are told, in eight corporations, one of which is a sugar company, and, so it goes. I give these facts to you not in criticism of the efforts of these gentlemen to help their party, but solely to show how absurd is the colonel's contention that there can be any 'democratic' green Wall street and any body of men that is diligent in seeking to promote the candidacy of Mr. Dix for governor."

GREATEST DANGER OF THIS COUNTRY IS ROOSEVELT, SAYS WHITNEY

BROOKLINE, Nov. 2.—"This country's greatest danger today is Theodore Roosevelt and his preaching of new nationalism," declared Henry M. Whitney, a former democratic candidate for governor here last night. "If Roosevelt is allowed to continue his preaching," Mr. Whitney continued, "the capitalists will refuse to invest their money and the country will feel the effects. Mr. Whitney predicted sweeping democratic victories in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Ohio. Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke."

THE REFORM CLUB

Pres. Bowers Delivers a Rousing Address

At the close of a short but important business meeting last evening during which three candidates were initiated and several new names were proposed, The Reform club held a most delightful housewarming and smoke talk by way of dedicating their new quarters in Odd Fellows Temple, Middlesex street.

After cigars had been passed around and several musical numbers were given, President Noonan of the club congratulated the members on their new quarters and spoke words of encouragement to the members present. He called upon President E. M. Bowers of the Reform club corporation, who spoke earnestly and impressively of the great work done by the three total abstinence institutes in Lowell, the Mathews, the Burkes and the Reform club.

"The good people of our city," said the speaker, "have never been brought to realize the great work that has been done by these three institutions." Mr. Bowers paid a glowing tribute to Father Mathew and to the Mathew Temperance Institute in Lowell and said that every business man in the city should glory in the privilege of assisting the Mathews in wiping out the drink on their building. "The life of this noble institution may be said to be the history of nearly thirty-five years of righteousness. Are our citizens ready to make a little financial sacrifice? Yes, Lowell is always ready and is today waiting to assist and will promptly respond to the call."

Mr. Bowers dwelt on the splendid work done by the Reform club during its history of nearly thirty-five years. "Every tree is known by its fruit," said the speaker, "but not until the dawn of eternity will we realize the harvest."

"You are to be congratulated on your neat, cozy home-like quarters. You are up high here, a delightful view of the city. Take an optimistic view of life. Keep the atmosphere pure here. Throw out a good influence. The future of the club is in your hands, young men, much depends upon your conduct. Make every day you live just a little better than the day just past and our success is assured. Remember the moral obligation you have assumed in becoming a member. Do not disappoint us then, but put forth your best efforts. Be zealous, aggressive and earnest. Lend a hand where you can. Give a lift, not a kick to the poor fellow who is down and out. The Mathews, I understand, are to give a series of big temperance meetings; try and attend them. You will receive a moral uplift yourselves and besides, your presence may help the other fellow, too."

The regular weekly meetings of the club will be held every Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows' Temple.

UP 10,500 FEET

Glidden Has Beaten Johnstone's Record

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—J. Walter Flagg and Charles J. Glidden on May 4 last reached an altitude of 5,500 feet in the balloon "Boston," thus going nearly 1000 feet higher than the aeroplane altitude record established by Ralph Johnstone at Belmont park Monday. Mr. Flagg talked about his trip last night, while at the dinner of the Association of International Aeronautical Pilots at the Hotel Somerset.

"The view of the ground from such a height is more beautiful than can be imagined. Large buildings are but dots of color on the earth, while the lakes seem but flecks of blue in the surrounding green of the trees and fields. The big black shadow of the balloon noticed when but a few hundred feet from the earth is dimmed by the distance and shows just a slightly darker hue on the ground."

"No matter at what speed you may be traveling, not a breath of wind disturbs the flags of the balloon or blows against your face. This seems strange to those who have seen the wind-blown faces of the pilots of aeroplanes, but the explanation is simple. The huge gas bag of the balloon is blown along by the wind at the same rate of speed, so there is no breeze."

SENATOR LODGE

REPEATS HIS OLD DEFENSE OF THE TARIFF

CLINTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking at a largely attended republican rally here last night, repeated his claims made at the rally at Melrose Monday night that the tariff is not responsible for the increased cost of living, citing examples in cotton, hides and other staples that are either on the free list or have been greatly reduced under the new tariff bill but which have yet continued to increase in price. He also referred to the fact that although Mr. Foss is posing as a friend of labor he has had two strikes on his hands during the past few months.

The other speakers at the rally included Speaker Joseph Walker of Massachusetts, house of representatives; Congressional Candidate William H. Wilder of Gardner and Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester and Amos T. Sanders of Clinton.

BIG GAS BUOYS

Will Guide Shipping in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The ten big gas buoys, each of which weighs more than three tons, have been put in position in Broad sound, and Boston harbor now has the only lighted channel for big ships in the United States, with the exception of New York. Each buoy has been done with gas and will burn for six months without refilling. It costs Uncle Sam just 4 cents a day to keep the beacons going.

It was expected the buoys would be placed two weeks ago, and this was the intention of the officials of the light house department. But the delay in getting them together here made this out of the question. Monday night the monster beacons were operated for the first time.

The lighted ship channel owes its existence to an organized demand by all shipping interests at this port. The men getting them together here were from Washington from Boston stated the case plainly, and the government was prompt to act. It allows the docking of big ships at night with practically the same ease and safety as in the daytime. It is believed the new step will be of immense advantage to Boston's commerce.

PROF. BREWER

FAMOUS YALE EDUCATOR 18 DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—William Henry Brewer, professor emeritus of agriculture in the Yale Sheffield Scientific school, died at his home here early today from infirmities due to old age. Professor Brewer was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1825, and was graduated from the Sheffield school at Yale in 1852, completing his education abroad, studying at Heidelberg, Munich and Paris. He was twice married, his first wife dying in 1860, and his second wife dying in 1889. He took up educational work in 1853 when he became connected with Washington college as professor of chemistry and geology. In 1859 he acted as first assistant in geology and the survey of California, and in 1863 became professor of chemistry in the University of California. In 1864 he came to Yale as professor of agriculture in the scientific school. He had been a member of the National Society of Science and in 1892 was made president of the Connecticut board of health.

FEAR FOR DRAPER

Caused Adjournment of Cattlemen's Meeting

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—There was considerable discussion at the widely advertised meeting of the New England Live Stock Dealers association at the Revere house last night, and three members of the minority voted against the adjournment of the meeting when that motion was put and hastily carried declaring that republican influence was brought to bear, through fear that political questions might arise.

Walter S. Glidden of the governor's council and Fred Walker of Belchertown, chief of the cattle bureau of the state, were both about the corridors of the hotel, and it was claimed they exerted influence to bring about an adjournment of the meeting. Mr. Glidden and Mr. Walker emphatically denied the allegations.

A portion of the advertisement of the meeting, which was sent broadcast inviting all members, butchers and farmers to be present, read:

"Important business that affects all the above classes who do business at the Brighton market under the present law will be discussed by competent speakers. Open free discussion, whether for or against the existing law."

When the meeting was called shortly after 8 o'clock the rooms were cleared of all persons not actually members of the association. The greatest secrecy was maintained and within a short period the doors were opened and it was declared the meeting had been adjourned for two weeks.

Five members voted against the adjournment. They were James Bryan of Westboro, Harry Kelley of Brighton, Henry Guntenshler of Brighton, A. C. Foss of Lynn and Samuel E. Winch of Shrewsbury.

Immediately after the adjournment Harry Kelley said to a reporter:

"The reason for the hasty adjournment was obvious. It was feared the question of the law relative to 'bob' veal might become a topic for discussion, with the result that it would injure Gov. Draper. The meeting was a farce and most of the 50 men present knew they would vote for an adjournment the minute they entered the room."

Mr. Foss said:

"The meeting was adjourned for purely political reasons. It was feared that arguments would be started which would be detrimental to Gov. Draper, and the republicans got together and decided before the meeting to vote at once for an adjournment. Why, just before I entered the room A. E. Bagges of Belchertown told me the meeting would be adjourned within a few minutes after it had been called to order."

Mr. Foss and Mr. Winch pointed out a man they said was Mr. Bagges to the reporter, but when the gentleman was asked if he were Mr. Bagges he replied he was not. He was informed of what Mr. Foss had said, but insisted in declaring he was not Mr. Bagges.

Mr. Winch said:

"Politics was the reason for the hasty adjournment. The present laws could not be discussed for they would injure Gov. Draper. That was known and that was the reason for the adjournment."

The president of the association, H. L. Goodrich of Lynn, Mass., and Vice Presidents E. L. Gaynor and A. M. Ricker of St. Johnsbury, Vt., denied that politics played any part in the meeting whatsoever. Goodrich disclaimed all responsibility for calling the meeting. Mr. Ricker did the same and said Mr. Glidden was invited by him to address the gathering.

Mr. Glidden was told by a reporter of the charges which had been made against him. He was most emphatic in his denial and scoffed at the allegations. Mr. Walker was also indignant when the matter was broached to him.

FOSS CONFIDENT

Expects to Carry State by 50,000

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—"Going to win by 50,000," Eugene N. Foss, democratic candidate for governor, told everybody he met yesterday.

"I'm satisfied with the outlook and was never more confident of winning than I am at the present time," Gov. Draper told his friends.

Back from his second trip to the western part of the state yesterday Eugene N. Foss said that only one inference could be drawn from the big rallies he addressed in Holyoke and Springfield, and that was democratic victory. Mr. Foss says he is sure that the democrats are going to gain three or four congressional seats, capture the legislature and elect a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

He added that the republican campaign managers realized months ago that they have a pretty tough job on their hands to elect Draper this year, but in addition they must carry Lodge along with them, and this burden, he declared, was more than the faithful G. O. P. elephant can stand.

HERRING SCARCE

EASTPORT FISHERMEN WILL SUFFER BIG LOSS

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 2.—A loss of many thousands of dollars will be sustained by the fishermen of Passamaquoddy bay by the absence of the schools of herring which ordinarily frequent that body of water at this time of year. The local canning factories are receiving their supplies of fish almost wholly by rail and boat from Portland. No diminution of the sardine output is expected to result from the failure of the herring to come back.

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women. I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. McKee, 2115 Second St., North Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS

FREEMAN BALLARD SHEDD HONORED BY BOARD OF TRADE AS A BENEFACITOR OF THE CITY OF LOWELL.

Freeman B. Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer Made Honorary Members of the Organization—Gathering Addressed by Well Known Speakers

The formal opening of the new rooms of the Lowell board of trade, on the top floor of the Central block, took place last night under very auspicious circumstances. The feature of the meeting, however, was the action of the board in making Freeman Ballard Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer honorary members of the board. The two men, who were present, were presented to the two men, Mr. Ayer's paper being delivered by proxy in his absence.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and largest attended in the history of the organization and there were many new faces there, showing that the board has made rapid strides during the past few years from the standpoint of increasing membership.

The new quarters of the organization are on the fifth floor of the Central block and were opened at 7.30 o'clock, and for one hour the ex-presidents of the board held a reception. Among those in the receiving line were Ex-Presidents Henry A. Smith, Hon. Walter Watson, Joseph L. Chaffoux, Chas. H. Conant and A. G. Walsh. Associate president, Charles E. Adams, and Secretary John H. Murphy. A buffet lunch was served and there was music by McElroy's orchestra.

At 8.30 o'clock President Greene called to order. Up to this time there was hope that Mr. Ayer might appear, but Dr. Charles H. Lowell stated that pressing business engagements would prevent him from so doing.

Mr. Greene after welcoming the members referred to the work accomplished by the organization. He spoke of the parks, terming them as the little and big breathing spots of the city, and said that a high authority in that work stated that Lowell was better equipped with them than any other city in the country with the possible exception of Washington.

He named the different parks as follows: Water Works square, Hovey and Mansur squares, the gift of J. H. Shepard and D. C. Fuller; Franklin square and Princeton square, put in condition by the city; Glacial oval, the gift of school children and those living near it; Middlesex street square, presented by the city; Coburn square, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Cole; Smith, Spalding-Parker square, the gift of Miss Hannah H. Spalding; Anne street bank, the gift of the Look & Canals corporation, which will be added to the list shortly, and the three parks which existed in 1903, the Monument square, Pennington and Lincoln squares. After dwelling at some length on the benefits to be derived from the parks he said that the city is turning her face to the future and the best days are to come. In conclusion he said: "We have many things to be proud of here and the civic spirit is increasing."

Henry A. Smith. The next speaker called upon was Henry A. Smith, an ex-president of the board. He gave a history of the organization. He referred to the meeting on May 31, 1887, of the Lowell Business Men's association. The president was Charles H. Coburn, and the other officers were: Vice-president, Charles E. Adams; treasurer, G. W. Knowlton; and secretary, Charles W. Eaton. In January of the following year the association moved its quarters to the Hildreth building, paying for the rooms an annual rent of $500. On Sept. 28, 1887, Charles E. Adams suggested that the name be changed to the Lowell board of trade, and on Oct. 14 of the same year it was voted to incorporate it.

Mr. Smith recounted some of the interesting events in the history of the board, speaking of the excursion to Black Rocks, Salisbury, of the picnic to Tyng's Island, July 18, 1889, and of the election of Mr. Adams to the presidency on Jan. 8, 1890. Feb. 11, of that year, the last recorded meeting of the Lowell Business Men's association was held. The total membership at that time was 775.

On Jan. 18, 1890, a meeting was held to incorporate the Lowell board of trade and on Feb. 4 the by-laws were adopted. On May 13, 1890, the city council was urged to build a High School, and on April 14, 1891, a resolution was passed and forwarded to the United States treasurer, relative to the condition of the federal building. The same year a resolution was advanced asking for pure water. Charles A. Stott was elected president in 1892, and in March of that year congress was asked to establish a department of trade and commerce. In April of that year J. L. Chaffoux was chosen president. Mr. Smith followed through the presidencies of George A. Hanson, Joseph H. Shepard, W. S. Watson, George H. Marston, Charles H. Conant, E. J. Neale, A. G. Walsh and Henry A. Smith. Particular stress was laid on the many things in the way of civic improvement which had been urged by the board, under the presidencies of the above named gentlemen.

Alonso G. Walsh. Alonso G. Walsh was the next speaker and he spoke in part as follows: "I esteem it a pleasure to have this office assigned to me. On the 13th day of September it was voted to confer upon Freeman Ballard Shedd and Frederick Fanning Ayer the title of honorary and life members of the Lowell board of trade."

Mr. Walsh then spoke of the gift of Freeman Ballard Shedd to the city, the gift of the Shedd park and playground. "In recognition," continued Mr. Walsh, "of this eminent service, the Lowell board of trade wishes to confer this certificate upon you, Mr. Shedd. When we go over the names of the benefactors of Lowell, it makes a long list. Every walk of life is represented in that list; every walk has contributed richly."

The speaker referred to the many benefactions of Frederick Fanning Ayer, the subscribing of funds for the Y. M. C. A. building, of the Y. W. C. A. building, the Lowell General Hospital, the work of many of the clergy of various faiths. He said he was not a worshiper of mankind, but the man of Lowell who had done noble service for mankind deserved the title of "princes of men."

"I've been in Lowell a great many years," he said. "I've known her to be caricatured, sneered at, vilified, but standing in the presence of one of her noblest sons I can say, 'There are those who love her.'"

"There was a boy, not brought up in affluence, but boy like the Shedd. He didn't get into the drug business because of choice, but because he was forced to do so. The Civil war broke out and he enlisted and he did his service, perhaps in no greater degree than many others, but he did his duty. Then he returned home."

"He was then continued in his business. Then he desired to see other boys have what he had not had as a boy. He gave this beautiful park land for the perpetuity and prosperity of the city."

Mr. Walsh then presented the engraved parchment of the Shedd park. For a few minutes everybody stood up and applauded and this was followed by three cheers and a tiger.

"I'm so overcome by the eloquence of my neighbor who presented this memorial and I am so completely moved up with the bouquets showered upon me that I can't say much," said Mr. Shedd as he accepted the parchment. He then told a story which concerned Hon. Joseph Choate and Lord Minto, and which caused much laughter.

"I thank you for the great compliment you have paid me for electing me an honorary member of this body," he continued. "This gives me great courage. I desire to take this opportunity to return my thanks to the mayor, the board of aldermen and the common council for the unanimous manner in which they accepted this gift. Also the press and we will have our hearty manner in receiving it."

"I have never returned to my home again but I have been invariably delighted. I have been in many states, but none of them has seemed as good as Massachusetts. I have been in many cities, but Lowell seems more comfortable to me than does any other."

Mr. Shedd in a reminiscent mood spoke of the old methods of the city government and those of the present time. Inasmuch as the speaker was familiar with the old governments and with the present body, his remarks were very interesting.

In conclusion Mr. Shedd said: "We have all sorts of things growing every minute here. We've got the board of trade, and we all want to get together and do all we can to help it. Many men live as if the world would end when they die. We want to remember that there are others to follow us on this earth and we must do all in our power to make them happy. Gentlemen, I thank you."

Secretary John H. Murphy then read letters from Frederick Fanning Ayer, regretting his inability to be present, as follows:

MONEY to LOAN

In making me an honorary member of your board, it is above all things pleasant to me to be remembered by my fellow-townsmen, and your gracious consideration in I may assure you, warmly appreciated.
There will be some doubt about my being present to accept the honor in person, when you hold your meeting. If anything prevents my being present, please accept my good wishes for your continued success and happiness.
Very sincerely yours,
Frederick Fanning Ayer.

Hotel Touraine, Boston, Oct. 31, 1910.

Dear Mr. Greene: While I find I am not to be present at your meeting of the Lowell board of trade tomorrow evening, please allow me again to thank you and to say how much I value the kind courtesy of your thoughtful remembrance.
Sincerely yours,
Frederick Fanning Ayer.

Dr. Charles H. Stowell responded for Mr. Ayer, stating that the amount of money Mr. Ayer has given to various institutions of the city is the round sum of $1,000,000.

"I suppose men have said Mr. Ayer gave this vast sum of money to the city of Lowell because he was born here and because his father made his fortune here. But men are not giving such a vast sum of money to a city simply because they were born there. I believe that Mr. Ayer gave this money to Lowell because he believed Lowell worthy of such a gift." (Applause.)

Dr. Stowell then paid a tribute to the city's courts, banks and schools. "Not all the people in Lowell believe with Mr. Ayer," he said, "that this city is worthy of such gifts. There is a small minority here who are serious and sincere who do believe that Lowell is a run-soaked, utterly lost city."

"Dr. Stowell believes that there are different methods of making a city better, but the right way to improve it, isn't to decay that city and everybody in it."

"Do you think for one moment that Mr. Ayer would have given that sum of money to Lowell if he believed it a run-soaked, Sabbath-breaking city? No; he never would have done so. He thinks of Lowell; he thinks of it often; he loves it, and he has faith in it."

In conclusion, Dr. Stowell read a succinct description of the varied attainments of Mr. Ayer, as follows:

"FREDERICK FANNING AYER.
"Harvard Alumnus: A firm believer in higher education.
"Extensive Manufacturer: Giving employment to thousands of our own New England people.
"Devoted scholar: An ardent student of the world's best literature.
"Magnificent benefactor: Having given to various institutions of our own beautiful city, the home of his early life, the magnificent sum of one million dollars."

Among those present at the meeting were: Major C. S. Proctor, Hon. John H. Drury, Charles D. Whitte, Walter E. Guyette, Charles B. Redway, C. P. Grover, James E. O'Donnell, Dr. William H. Davis, Henry A. Smith, R. A. Griggs, William N. Osgood, Dr. J. F. Martin, Frank Gray, A. G. Whitcomb, Harvey B. Greene, A. G. Beharrel, Daniel F. Carroll, Rev. James E. Gregg, Rev. Allan Conant, Fernin Lawrence Cummings, William A. Whitte, John J. Sullivan, Henry J. O'Donnell, F. D. Mann, William P. Hills, Alfred P. Sawyer, James H. McKinley, Dr. J. E. Yarnall, Col. A. M. Chadwick, W. C. Purcell, Patrick O'Hearn, Walter Booth, James Dow, Warren T. Griffin, P. L. Ricard, George E. Evans, C. J. Leathers, C. P. Varnum, Samuel Ker-shaw, Newell P. Putnam, Irving G. Kimball, Francis Middleley, Capt. Geo. Kimball, F. S. Henry, A. G. Smith, Joseph L. Chaffoux, Charles H. Conant, A. G. Walsh, Hon. Walter S. Watson and William Cogger.

The reception committee consisted of C. S. Proctor chairman; William Cogger, William P. Hills, C. B. Redway, Walter E. Guyette, and John A. Faulkner.

EXTRA AUTO AND BUGGY Taken Into Court As Exhibits In Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The doors of the supreme criminal court room were taken down this afternoon and a big sixty horsepower automobile, the front badly battered and bent, was pushed inside. A wrecked buggy was next carried through the door and when these two unusual exhibits had been placed in front of the judge's bench the trial of Edward T. Rosenheimer for the murder of Miss Grace Hough was resumed. It is charged that Rosenheimer, a wealthy thread manufacturer, ran down Miss Hough with the machine as she was driving along Pelham parkway on the evening of Aug. 18 in the buggy.

JAMES J. IRWIN Dist. Atty. Candidate at Machine Shop Today

James J. Irwin, of Everett, democratic candidate for district attorney of Middlesex county, addressed a large gathering of people at the Dutton street entrance to the Lowell Machine shop this noon. He gave a very comprehensive statement of the conditions existing in the county at the present time and intimated that there was a big chance for an improvement. Among the things speakers were Whitefield L. Tucker, of Winchester, candidate for sheriff, and Joseph L. Martin, candidate for county commissioner. The speakers were introduced by Mr. Cornelius R. Cronin, chairman of the district rallying committee. Mr. Irwin paid his respects to the county ring and the republican district attorney in plain language, quoting from the county treasurer's reports to show great extravagances in county expenditures.

AGAINST RAILROADS CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE FILES COMPLAINT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Chicago board of trade filed with the Inter-state commerce commission a com-plaint against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and 22 other railroads at-tacking their recent promulgated rules governing joint transit privileges on transit grain at Chicago districts to stop-over points. The complaint alleges that the rules increase the cost of grain transportation and, while re-quiring common carriers of their proper obligations, they impose an un-just burden on the shippers. The complaint asks adequate relief.

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The French cabinet resigned today. Although the fact that there was a divergence of views among the ministers concerning legis-lative measures designed to prevent crises similar to that brought about by the recent railway strike was well known, the resignation created a sen-sation, as it had been expected that Premier Briand would remain and remodel the ministry in harmony with his views on a parliamentary program to meet future strike crises. The exact nature of Briand's program has not been announced but it is understood that both M. Millerand, minister of public works, posts and telegraphs, and M. Viviani, minister of labor, dissented, particularly Millerand, who insisted on the principle of arbitration. Briand's cabinet was formed on July 23, 1909, as follows: Premier, minister of interior and public worship, Briand; minister of justice, Barthou; minister of foreign affairs, Pichon; minister of finance, George Cochery; minister of education, Doumergue; minister of public works, posts and telegraphs, Millerand; minister of commerce, Jean Dupuy; min-ister of the colonies, Trouillet; minister of labor, Viviani; minister of war, General Brou; minister of the navy, Boue de Lapeyriere.

Deputies Attacked Cabinet

The cabinet of Premier Briand, which succeeded the Clemenceau min-istry on July 23, 1909, unexpectedly re-signed today in consequence of the bitter attacks made in the chamber of deputies on the government's action in suppressing the recent railroad strike and its proposed legislation for the avoidance of similar crises in the future. A strong republican majority in the chamber voted confidence in the gov-ernment but at a meeting of the min-isters dissensions developed, and Bri-and announced that new and serious problems had grown out of the labor trouble that must be met by a united ministry. Accordingly, he suggested the retirement of himself and associ-ates.

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

Foss and Cassidy Visit This City Tomorrow Evening

On Friday Night Congressman McGillicuddy, of Maine, Will Address Three Rallies in This City—French Rally For Joseph L. Marin in Pawtucketville Tonight

The big democratic rally at which Messrs. Foss and Cassidy will be the principal speakers, will be held tomorrow evening at Mathews' hall in Dutton street and weather permitting an overflow meeting will be held in front of city hall. John C. Burke will preside and there will be a short parade headed by the Lowell Cadet band. There will be no rally in Lincoln hall tomorrow evening. As this will be the only opportunity to hear Messrs. Foss and Cassidy before the election every workingman regardless of party should avail himself of the opportunity.

French Rally Tonight

A French-American rally in the interest of Joseph L. Marin and Dexter C. Whittemore for county commissioners will be held at the rooms of the Pawtucketville social club, Moody street and Gershom avenue. Among the speakers will be Charles J. Martel, democratic candidate for secretary of state will speak.

Three Carmichael Rallies

Through his personal friendship for

Col. Carmichael, Congressman-elect McGillicuddy of Maine will come to Lowell Friday evening and will address three Carmichael rallies at Mathews hall, Lincoln hall and Keyes' auction rooms. Col. Carmichael and other speakers will also address the gatherings. While in Lowell Congressman McGillicuddy will be entertained by Col. Carmichael at his home in Route street. Both men speak tomorrow night at a big rally at Lawrence and immediately after speaking Col. Carmichael will come over the river to Lowell to attend the rally in Mathews hall.

Touring the Towns

Starting out early tomorrow morning, Col. Carmichael will tour the towns of Dracut, Billerica, Chelmsford, Tewksbury, Reading and Wilmington, making brief speeches at each place. On Friday he will give his attention to Andover, Methuen, Lynnfield and the other places in the lower end of the district. While Col. Carmichael is touring the district a corps of clerks is engaged sending through the mail campaign literature in the interest of the party and its congressional candidates. By Saturday 18 mail pouches of such literature will have been sent out.

Votes a Substantial Increase of Capital Stock

For Additions of Equipment and Abolition of Grade Crossings—Special Meeting of Stockholders Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Nov. 2.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad here this morning, President Mellen presiding, it was voted to increase the capital stock of the corporation by the issue of 106,637 new shares of its common stock for the purpose of making additions to the equipment of the company, for making improvements to the road and for abolishing grade crossings, each subscriber to receive one share at $110 and the remainder to be sold to non-subscribers according to law. It was also voted to amend article

3 of the by-laws authorizing the president or vice-president in charge of the financial department and the treasurer to sign the certificates and bonds of stock of the corporation.

It was voted to hold the annual meeting of the stockholders on the second Wednesday of October in each year, in Boston, instead of at Lawrence.

Clerk Ryder was certified to issue all bonds.

REPORT IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Last night's rumor of a revolution in Spain and of which there was no subsequent confirmation, reached the Gaulois but was not published. According to the report an outbreak had occurred at Barcelona, resulting in several persons being killed or injured.

TREADWELL DEAD

WAS EXETER'S "JOHN, THE ORANGE MAN." EXETER, N. H., Nov. 2.—Charles Treadwell, aged 75, one of the best known characters of the academy town, died at his home yesterday, after a brief illness. He was known to the students of Phillips Exeter as "John, the Orange Man," from his long-time selling apples to the boys, coming into their dormitories nightly. Mr. Treadwell early learned the engraver's trade here, where he did much of the farm work with cows and bulls. It was his favorite feat to drive to town in a two-wheeled cart drawn by a bull harnessed horse fashion.

IN BRUTAL HIGHWAY ROBBERY IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The first arrest that has been made in connection with a particularly brutal assault and robbery in the South End the night of Sept. 23rd last, was made today, when the police took into custody Henry Elor. Elor was charged with being one of the men who assaulted Joseph Kedan, a hotel proprietor of Sharon, on Columbus avenue in this city and in taking a diamond ring slashed his finger so badly that he had to have treatment at a hospital. After taking the ring, a watch and chain and a small amount of money from his pockets the men threw Kedan into an alleyway 12 feet deep.

A LIGHT DOCKET

Before Judge Hadley in Court Today

Judge Hadley presided over this session of the police court this morning, and found awaiting his consideration very few cases. Philip Drouin was before the court for the fourth time, and the court sentenced him to five months in the Lowell jail.

Elizabeth Riley became rather strenuous last evening and attempted to break up furniture in the house of Mrs. Frank Carroll on Church street. She was adjudged guilty of wilfully destroying property, and ordered to serve a term of 60 days in the local jail. It is understood, however, that Dr. Renner will make an examination as to the defendant's mental condition.

Charles George was arrested last evening by Special Officer Mahan when coming from his work in the Tremont & Suffolk mills, and this morning he was found guilty of the larceny of two pounds of cotton and ordered to pay a fine of $15 within three days or be sentenced to jail for the term of three months. He paid the fine.

It would appear from the evidence that the man was coming out of the mill gate last evening when Officer Mahan said to him: "What have you got there?" The reply was: "I am carrying my lunchbox, and nothing more; you search me and find out." The officer searched him and discovered two pounds of cotton valued at 30 cents in the lunchbox.

There were three $2 fines and two were released by the probation officer. Patrick V. McCarthy, charged with larceny, was continued until the ninth day of November, upon his plea of not guilty, at the request of the government.

ROACH—The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Roach took place this morning from her late home, 39 West Street, at 2 o'clock. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 8:45 o'clock. Rev.

CANDIDATE KIELY

Made Fine Impression at Rally Last Evening

A Forceful Speaker He Discussed Seventh District Senatorial Matters in Plain Language and Received Ovation From Big Gathering

Mr. Philip Kiely, democratic candidate for senator in the seventh senatorial district, which includes wards five and nine of this city, made no mistake when he came to Lowell to address the democracy, for no stranger candidate ever made a more favorable impression upon an audience than did Mr. Kiely and he made hundreds of votes by coming.

Lowell working men were interested to see and hear Mr. Kiely because of the fact that he conducted a valiant though unsuccessful fight in the house in behalf of the workmen's compensation bill, which is one of the best measures for the employees of the mills and workshops ever presented to the legislature. Mr. Kiely stated that he would resume the fight if elected to the senate. Mr. Kiely is a forceful speaker, never hesitating and using plain language that can readily be understood. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, and he was cheered at the conclusion of the rally. He will speak at the Tanager tomorrow noon.

The evening rally held in Keyes' auction rooms in the old Boston & Maine depot drew a gathering that overflowed the building. The meeting was called to order by James H. Rogers, democratic candidate for representative in ward one and Dracut, Mr. Rogers, after brief remarks, introduced as the presiding officer Gardner W. Pearson. On the platform were Mr. Kiely; Edward F. Tierney, representing Col. Carmichael; Mayor Meehan; Hon. Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district; John W. Daly, candidate for alderman; Edward Foy, candidate for chasing agent, and Edward Gallagher, of the state central committee. Col. Carmichael appeared toward the close of the meeting, having been at city hall. Mr. Tierney at the time was addressing the gathering and he gracefully gave way to the colonel.

Chairman Pearson in opening discussed the tariff and the influence of the present district arrangements in this state, whereby the little town of Ashby, "30 miles away," is in a senatorial district with a portion of Lowell, while Saugus, which Mr. Pearson pointed out must be reached by boat if one stayed in the district, was also in a senatorial district with Lowell. Mr. Pearson was vehement in his denunciation of republican policies which planned and executed such an arrangement of districts. He criticized Senator Lodge also, touching upon the matter of the high cost of living, and Mr. Pearson in conclusion pointed out the many indications of success now apparent and urged all to vote the straight democratic ticket.

Mayor Meehan, the first speaker received warm applause and after referring to the excellent record of Candidate Kiely in the house, he dealt with state issues and Lodge's republican state machine.

Fisher H. Pearson, candidate for senator in the eighth district, was introduced and though suffering from cold, spoke in the interests of the candidacy of Mr. Kiely and his own interests, discussed the election of the balance of the democratic state ticket, and urged that all his hearers, democrats and republicans alike, vote for democratic candidates.

Mr. Kiely was then introduced as the speaker of the evening, and he spoke at considerable length. He declared that if the opposing candidate, Mr. Bennett of Saugus, could point out one occasion when the speaker, while in the lower house of the legislature, discussed the interests of the people, he would withdraw as a candidate against Mr. Bennett. On the other hand, he challenged Mr. Bennett to do the same thing on his record.

Mr. Kiely made an attack on Mr. Bennett's record, declaring that the present senator had voted against the interests of the people on several occasions, among them when he voted against the election of United States senators by popular vote, his vote against the 54-hour bill for women and children, and other bills affecting corporations and labor.

The speaker also attacked the republicans for the gerrymander which placed Lowell and Lynn in the "shotting" district, and demanded that the democrats take control of the state, that they might give justice to all.

In speaking of Sen. Lodge and national issues, he declared that the present republican senators, such as Sen. La Follette. He was frequently applauded and was given an ovation at the conclusion of the remarks.

Col. Carmichael, Mr. Tierney, Mr. Foy and Mr. Daly then made brief speeches, the rally closing at 10 o'clock.

Timothy Callahan officiated. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, sang the Gregorian mass and rendered the usual music, Miss Alice Murphy and Mr. Andrew McCarthy sustaining the solos. Among the floral tributes were a spray inscribed "At Rest" from Mrs. Driscoll and family; sprays from Mrs. Nettie Hyde and the Coakley children. The bearers were Rodmond Sullivan, James J. McAndrews, Michael Riley, Daniel Rouch, John Rouch and Arthur Duffness. Interment will be at the cemetery, whereby the little town of Ashby, "30 miles away," is in a senatorial district with a portion of Lowell, while Saugus, which Mr. Pearson pointed out must be reached by boat if one stayed in the district, was also in a senatorial district with Lowell. Mr. Pearson was vehement in his denunciation of republican policies which planned and executed such an arrangement of districts. He criticized Senator Lodge also, touching upon the matter of the high cost of living, and Mr. Pearson in conclusion pointed out the many indications of success now apparent and urged all to vote the straight democratic ticket.

CURRY—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Curry took place this morning at 9:30 from her late home, 7 State street. A funeral high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I. in the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. The Gregorian chant was sung by the boys' choir of the church. Mrs. Adelaide Mulrooney was the soloist and director of the choir. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. The bearers were James Young, Alexander Curry, Harry Lappin and John Lappin. Among the floral offerings were: Spray of chrysanthemums with ribbon inscribed "Mamma," from Miss Alice Oakes and daughter; anchor on base, Mr. and Mrs. John Lappin; standing cross inscribed "Sister" from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lappin; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Young; spray, Miss Annie Sullivan, C. H. Molloy & Sons, undertakers in charge.

FRACKLETON—The funeral of James Frackleton took place Monday morning from the residence, 33 Williams street, Haverhill, Mass. Rev. Paul J. Lutz was the officiating clergyman. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Burial was in the Edison cemetery under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

JENNISON—The funeral of Miss Edna E. Jennison took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 41 Willard street. Rev. George F. Kennigott, pastor of the First Trinitarian church, officiated. There was appropriate singing by Mrs. W. H. Pepin and Mrs. John R. Peabody. The bearers were Merrill Emery, Chapin Emery, Charles Merrill and Mr. Willmott. Burial was in the Edison cemetery under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

OIL PAINTING OF EX-MAYOR PALMER AT CITY HALL

An oil painting of the late ex-Mayor Charles D. Palmer has been hung in the city messenger's office at city hall. The picture was done by a Boston artist and the only criticism heard thus far has to do with the background, which was a little too much like Mr. Palmer was mayor in 1888-89-90.

The contract for the new boiler for the Central Fire station has been awarded to D. J. Leary. The contract was signed by Mayor Meehan today.

Empress Eugenie Saved Him From Guillotine and Had Violent Quarrel With Napoleon III as Result—He Fought With Grant and With Custer

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Major Charles Derudio, U. S. A., retired, died yesterday at his home here at the age of 78 years. An emperor and an empress quarreled on his account. Once he was led to the guillotine, but a miracle before the knife was to fall, he was reprieved. For a long time he was a prisoner in a dungeon, but he escaped, and after a series of remarkable adventures reached America. Born in Italy in 1832, Major Derudio began his career by studying himself with Garibaldi while still hardly more than a boy. From Italy he went with three companions to Paris, where the four attempted to kill Napoleon III and Empress Eugenie with bombs. For this three of them were sentenced to be guillotined. One of the conspirators was executed first. Derudio said farewell to his wife and child and as a last favor asked that he be allowed to smoke a pipeful of tobacco. The executioner filled the pipe for the doomed man, placed it in his mouth and gave him a light. Then came a surprise. The second of the reviews was Derudio's young wife had so impressed the empress with her tearful plea for her husband's life that the empress, failing to win mercy for the condemned man from Napoleon III had issued orders herself that the execution should be stopped. When Napoleon III learned of Derudio's return from death he was furious. He and the empress had a violent quarrel. But Derudio had only a short gleam of hope. He was loved once more, and again was condemned to die. By this time Napoleon's wrath had cooled and the tears of the empress were too much for him so he commuted the sentence to life imprisonment in one of France's penal institutions. There Derudio spent more than five years and then by taking advantage of a series of queer happenings he managed to escape and make his way to America. He joined Company A of the 78th New York volunteers as a private, fought under Grant and other great commanders and when he was discharged in 1865 was second lieutenant of the Second United States Infantry. In August, 1867, he joined the regular army and was appointed second lieutenant of infantry. Two years later he was assigned to the Seventh cavalry and under General Custer, saw much Indian fighting. In 1876 he was with Custer's command that was wiped out at the Little Big Horn.

SPAIN IS CALM

MADRID, Nov. 2.—The rumors of revolutionary outbreaks in Spain, particularly in Barcelona, are without foundation. Calm is reported throughout the country.

The above despatch direct from Madrid disposes of the rumor given currency last night of a revolutionary outbreak in Spain. A despatch from Paris to the London Daily Telegraph stated that a rebellion movement had been begun in Madrid.

LOWELL AUTO

COLLIDED WITH WAGON AND WOMAN WAS INJURED

NASHUA, Nov. 2.—As Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds of the Lowell road were driving home Monday evening they were struck by an automobile coming towards the city and both were thrown from their carriage. Mrs. Reynolds was thrown against the auto and her head was cut so that stitches were taken by the attending physicians. She was also badly bruised and shaken up and is suffering severely today. Mr. Reynolds was thrown out on the opposite side and fell on his face. He clung to the reins, but when he heard his wife's cries he let go and went to her assistance. The auto was a small one and is owned by a man in Lowell. Three young men were out in it and it is said they were on a demonstrating tour. Mr. Reynolds says they had but one forward light going, and that a kerosene burner. He claims they were not making a straight course in the road. When they tried to pass the team of Mr. Reynolds the wheels of the carriage and auto locked, with the result that the carriage was smashed and the occupants were thrown out. The front axle of the automobile was bent.

ON UNKNOWN STOWAWAY OF STEAMER ST. ANDREW

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A murderous assault with an iron bar on a nameless stowaway occurred today on the Phoenix line steamer St. Andrew which arrived after midnight from Antwerp with a cargo of 99 Belgian horses and other livestock. One member of the crew is locked up, another is missing and a number of horsemen on board were questioned as to their knowledge of the affair. The stowaway, who is a German, when he was sufficiently revived to talk, declared that he had been enticed aboard the steamer by horsemen, who promised to get him safely ashore at this port. When the steamer was still down the harbor today the stowaway was discovered and at once set upon in force, he declares, an iron bar being one of the implements used in the attack. His head was badly battered and his hands were severely cut. The man's watch was missing and what money he held with him had been taken. # TRAIN DERAILED

Fireman Was Injured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Excitement prevailed aboard an express for Buffalo and the west on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad when the train ran into an open switch at the South Orange station early today. The only one seriously injured was Fireman James Ferguson who jumped when his engine hit the open switch. Eight cars were derailed but only the Chicago mail car was upset. Passengers in the day coaches were thrown from their seats and those in the sleepers tumbled out of their berths. A number of women fainted. When it was learned that none of the passengers was seriously injured another train was made up and the trip to Buffalo continued.

THE NEW PLAIN STREET BRIDGE

Yesterday the planking was laid upon the new steel bridge by which the dangerous crossing on Plain street will be abolished, and in a day or two it will be open for travel. This is the first of the four dangerous crossings to be abolished this year by the railroad company. The work on the other three, Lincoln street, Walker street and School street, is being pushed rapidly, and the last will probably be completed before the new year.

BOWLING SCORES

Some Lively Contests
on the Alleys

Two games in the Manchester Unity league, two in the Manufacturers' league and one in the Minor league were the principal games played on the alleys last night. Last night marked the opening of the Manchester Unity (Odd Fellows) and team defeated the Excelsior lodge as aggregation, by the narrow margin of eight pins, while in the other game Wamslett lodge defeated Merrimack Valley lodge, by six pins. Last night's games are a criterion of what is to come, the bowlers of the Manchester Unity league will attract considerable attention.

In the Manufacturers' league the Boot defeated the Lawrence team and the Lowell Machine shop team administered a slaughter to the Bigelow aggregation.

The Primrose Five and Lamsons had at it in the Minor league, but there was nothing to it after the first string. The Lamsons started out by tripping the opposing team by three pins in the first string, but by the end of the second and third strings. The scores:

TEXTILE DUCK PIN LEAGUE
The students of the Textile school have organized a duck pin league and a five-weeks' schedule has been arranged for. The league plans to have as yet been arranged for but during the first week the designers will meet the chemists, the cotton men will have at it with the instructors and the wool men will try to "pull the wool" over the engineers. In the second week the schedule will be: Cotton vs. designers, chemists vs. engineers and wool vs. instructors; the third week, designers vs. engineers, cotton vs. wool, and chemists vs. instructors; the fourth week, designers vs. wool, engineers vs. instructors, and cotton vs. chemists; the fifth week, designers vs. instructors, wool vs. chemists and cotton vs. engineers.

The following have been appointed captains of the various teams: Instructors: Ferguson; cotton, Crane; wool, Elliot; designers, Morris; chemists, Phillips; engineers, King. The games will be played on the Vesper club alleys and the winners of the series will be tendered a banquet by the losers. It is also intended to start a duckpin league after the duckpin schedule is completed. The football team meets St. Anselm's on the Textile campus, Saturday afternoon. Some of the men on the injured list are also expected to be in condition to play Saturday.

PETITION OF BOSTON & NORTHERN STREET RAILWAY COMPANY FOR POLE LOCATION

City of Lowell, Oct. 25, 1910.
To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the City of Lowell:
The Boston & Northern Street Railway Company respectfully petition that your honorable board will grant a location for the erection of a pole to maintain wires thereon as follows: One pole on the southerly side of Merrimack street near Dutton street, the present location of a pole in the same locality to be abandoned, substantially as shown on Boston & Northern Street Railway Company's plan numbered 1350, dated October 24, 1910.
Boston & Northern Street Railway Company and Board of Directors of the Boston & Northern Street Railway Company.
By ROBERT S. GOFF,
Vice President.

CITY OF LOWELL
In Board of Aldermen, Nov. 1, 1910.
Read and hearing ordered on the foregoing petition, Tuesday evening, November 13, 1910, at eight o'clock.
Attest:
GIRARD P. DADMAN,
City Clerk.

JOLLY BARN PARTY

The Misses Mingley and McDougal tendered a Halloween party to about fifty of their friends Monday night in "The Barn" in Meadowcroft street. The upper part of the barn was decorated in an artistic manner with pumpkins, autumn foliage and other things appropriate to the occasion. The carriage shed was made into a real old-fashioned parlor; a large open fireplace adding to the brilliancy. The usual Halloween games were played, and through the generosity of a kind friend, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour to the music of a hurdy gurdy. A genuine harvest luncheon was served by the hostess.

BUNTING FOOTBALL NEWS

The Cian McPherson team of Lawrence will play a league game with the Buntings on Saturday on the South Lowell grounds for the benefit of J. Ashworth, who broke his arm early in the season in a game against the Manchester club. The first half of the Bunting season is over, with the result of their six games standing, one won, one drawn and four lost. They have scored eight goals to their opponents' 11, which shows that their defense is good, but the forwards have been very weak in front of the goal.

BLOWN BY CUBANS

Col. Jasper E. Brady Makes a Sensational Statement

Claims That He Investigated Blowing Up of the Maine and Found It Was Done by Cubans to Precipitate War With Spain

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Lecturing at St. George's church last night, Colonel Jasper E. Brady, one of the four officers sent by the government to investigate the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor February 14, 1898, declared the mine which destroyed the battleship was placed by the Cubans in order to bring war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba. He further asserted that the information had been sent to the president and the secretary of war.

"When I went to investigate the disaster with three other United States officers," Col. Brady said, "there were three theories concerning the origin of the disaster—that the explosion was caused from the outside by agents of Spain; that it was caused from the inside, and that the Maine was anchored over a mine prepared by the Cubans. We were able to inform the president and secretary of war that the last theory was the most consistent with the facts. This leads to the conclusion that the Maine was blown up by the Cubans in order to bring on war with Spain and the deliverance of Cuba."

Continuing, he said: "Now I will tell you for the first time the name of the man who blew up the Maine. He is or was Jose Zavaldo. He was electrician at Morro castle. It was he who threw the switch which set off the powerful mine that destroyed the ship and sent 267 lives into eternity in a flash. Zavaldo was afterward shot by order of General Blanco. We even got a piece of the cable that led from the mine to the room in Morro castle. That piece of cable is now in the navy department at Washington."

Colonel Brady resigned from the army in 1899. Asked this morning why the report given the president and the secretary of war had not been made public, he said: "Well, I'm sure I don't know." Col. Brady is a brother of the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the author, who is pastor of St. George's church, where the lecture was delivered. Jasper E. Brady was formerly attached to the signal corps of the United States army and held rank of captain, but resigned in 1899. Gen. James Allen, chief of the signal corps, said Brady was a telegraph operator and had written a number of magazine articles. He did not know, however, that he had been on any board charged with the investigation into the destruction of the Maine. Admiral Wainwright, who was executive officer on the Maine at the time the vessel was blown up, said today that there had been no military board appointed to investigate the disaster. The story told by Brady was one of the theories advanced at the time the naval board of inquiry, of which Rear Admiral Wainwright was a member, investigated the matter. It was discredited then and Rear Admiral Wainwright said today he placed no stock in it now. He branded as untrue Brady's statement that a piece of the cable that led from the mine to a room in Morro castle now was in the navy department. If there had been any such cable, he declared, it would have been discovered by the divers who examined the hull after the explosion.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that 98 per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce or his able staff, have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult us by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

STRIKE OF 30,000 MEN

Is Threatened by New York Teamsters Today

Gov. Fort and Mayor Gaynor Are Trying to Bring Employers and Employees Together—Police Ordered Not to Ride With Strike Breakers on Express Wagons

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The strike of the express company drivers and helpers neared a settlement today when Mayor Gaynor announced that the strikers had agreed to arbitrate. The strikers informed the mayor that they were willing to leave their case in the hands of arbitrators to be selected by the conciliation committee of the National Civic Federation and return to work and wait for the decision of the arbitrators until Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. Mayor Gaynor held a conference this afternoon with Frank Platt, president of the United States Express Co., on the strike situation. All that is needed to secure a settlement of the strike by arbitration is the consent of the employing companies.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The threat of a general strike of all drivers, teamsters and men in allied occupations hung over the city today as a result of the failure, so far, of the express companies and their striking employees to come to terms. Exercise of the authority to call a general strike which was conferred last night upon the general officers of the teamsters by the executive council of the brotherhood would affect approximately 30,000 men in addition to the upwards of 5000 men involved in the strike of express company drivers and helpers and practically tie up all traffic in the city, it is asserted.

No promulgation of a general strike order was expected, however, pending formal presentation announced to take place today of the men's demands on the companies and conferences expected to grow out of this move and the efforts being made by Gov. Fort of New Jersey, Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor Wittmann of Jersey City to bring representatives of the companies and men together.

Announcement of an order that New York city policemen hereafter shall not ride on express wagons while engaged in protecting the passage of these vehicles through the streets seemed to have a pacifying effect, for the moment at least. Labor leaders have insisted that an alleged unjustified use of the uniformed force was being made in this way. The guard upon property was in no wise relaxed, however. Orders were that mounted or bicycle patrolmen accompany wagons sent out by the companies. Heavy reserve detachments stationed at the company's offices and stables and other danger points were also maintained in force. William E. Rogers, chief mediator of the bureau of mediation and arbitration of the state department of labor, announced today that his bureau had drawn up plans that it adopted will end the trouble at once. He said he has conferred with representatives of both sides. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals today sent men to the train sheds to feed livestock awaiting shipment.

FREIGHT WRECK

Four Injured at Belmont This Morning

BELMONT, Nov. 2.—A rear-end collision between two freight trains on the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine road in the early morning mist today tied up both tracks for several hours. Four train hands were sent to the hospital with minor injuries.

FOUR BATTLESHIPS

LEAVE BOSTON FOR RENDEZVOUS OF FLEET

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Four battleships of the North Atlantic squadron sailed at noon today for the general rendezvous of the fleet in Lat. 40.20 and Long. 69, where the European cruise begins. The ships leaving here were the Virginia, Nebraska, and Rhode Island of the fourth division and the Michigan of the first division, all of which have been refitting at the Charlestown yard.

ELECT COL. CARMICHAEL

If Col. Carmichael could cover the rest of the district as well as he has covered Lowell he would be elected by a big majority. As it is his chances of election are very encouraging. He has put his candidacy before the people in a square and manly way, and voters of all classes should unite to elect him as a protest from the fifth district.

Nothing will scare the trusts, the speculators and the cold storage combines into fair dealing so readily as the election of democratic congressmen pledged to fight the combines responsible for the high cost of living.

PAYING DAMAGE CLAIMS

At a recent meeting of the committee on claims there was a very formidable list of claims, many of them for personal injuries caused by some roughness or obstruction in the public streets. When some of the claims were investigated awards were made according to the discretion of the committee. One claimant was paid a certain amount on account of injuries sustained in falling over a projecting stone on a certain sidewalk. Although the award was made several weeks ago the same stone is still there and still as high above the grade of the sidewalk as before. In view of what has happened one would naturally imagine that steps would be taken at once to protect the city against another accident of the same kind and to remove the stone or grade around it so that it will not remain as an invitation to somebody else to fall and collect damages from the city. This is but one of many similar cases that might be cited.

As a protection to the city in such matters would it not be well for the street department to take notice of all claims for damages on account of street accidents and proceed at once to repair the portions of the streets or sidewalks reported as dangerous? A little systematic attention to such matters might lessen the number of claims or at least prevent a multiplication of similar claims arising from the same cause; it may be an ugly stone or a hollow in the street, a broken sidewalk, a trough in a smooth-paved street or one of many other causes familiar to the committee on claims.

PROTECT THE HOMES AGAINST VILE LITERATURE

When a medical advertisement is rejected by the press on account of obscenity or some criminal suggestion the authors simply have it printed in the form of a circular or handbill and distributed to the homes of the city.

Is this fair or is it right?

When some quack invents a supposed remedy that druggists are afraid to handle on account of some objectionable quality, the quack can deliver sample packages to the homes with circulars landing his discovery as a sure cure for one or more diseases, although as a medical remedy it may not only be worthless but injurious. Is not this a menace to the lives of children who may pick up such packages and eat the contents, supposing them to be candy?

Then again it is a common practice to distribute about the doors objectionable literature that no man would want his children or any member of his family to read. It may exploit some new cult, condemn some society or organization or assail some movement or some cause to which the recipient is deeply devoted. It is wrong to allow the home to be besieged in this manner, and we are rather surprised that so much latitude is allowed in this respect.

We do not refer here to the advertising sheet which announces bargains at stores, special sales or anything of that kind. If the housekeeper can get any free information of this kind that may be useful nobody has any right to object. But it is the distribution of the vile, scurrilous and objectionable literature to which we refer.

Is it just or right that the homes of our city should be exposed to any such abuse?

Certainly not.

We believe the homes of the people should be protected against literature that will alarm the nervous, excite the weak-minded and suggest criminal practices. It should be protected against the advertising of quacks that assails the upright and reliable medical practitioner who does not advertise and makes many people believe they are in the early stages of some dread disease when in reality they are in perfectly good health.

There is a law that partly covers the various evils here complained of, but not all of them. The law should be more comprehensive so as to cover all the objectionable literature, samples and packages delivered at doors.

Section 21 of chapter 212 of the revised laws reads as follows:

Whoever sells, lends, gives away or has in his possession with intent to sell, lend, give away or distribute or offers to sell, lend, give away or distribute to a minor a book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or other printed paper which is devoted to the publication or principally made of criminal news, police reports or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of lust and crime; or exhibits upon the street or highway or in any other place within the view or which may be within the view of a minor, or employs a minor to sell, lend, give away or distribute, or, having the custody or control of a minor, permits him to sell, lend, give away or distribute any such book, pamphlet, magazine, newspaper or printed paper, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years or by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

With slight amendment this section would cover the evils mentioned and thus protect the homes of our citizens against immoral, obscene or inflammatory literature, against dangerous medical samples, against the booklets of the quacks and every other objectionable book, circular or package delivered otherwise than by mail.

The police authorities of every city and town should be the censors of all matter, advertising, political or otherwise, distributed to the homes, so as to exclude whatever may be offensive, immoral or dangerous.

SEEN AND HEARD

Common sense bows to the inevitable and makes use of it.

If you are lonesome, cultivate the habit of work and you will soon get over it.

A cruel story runs on wheels and every hand oils the wheels as they run.

Literally saturate your whole being with what you aim to do in life and there is nothing that can stand in your way.

While we stop to think we often miss our opportunity.

The greatest work has always gone hand in hand with the most fervent moral purpose.

There is only one real failure in life possible; and that is not to be true to the best one knows.

The wise prove, and the foolish confess, by their conduct, that a life of employment is the only life worth leading.

A man cannot keep his grouch and his friends at the same time.

Hard things are put in our way not to stop, but to call out our courage and our strength.

Nothing is too high for a man to reach, but he must climb with care and confidence.

William had just returned from college, resplendent in pegtop trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, and a necktie, that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked, the more disgusted he became. "Well," he finally blurted out, "you look like a darn fool!"

Just then, the old maid who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with undisguised admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago when he came back from school."

"Yes," replied William, "so father was just telling me."

"Papa?"

"Well?"

"Is there a Christian flea?"

"Why, what on earth ever put that idea in your head?"

"The preacher read it today from the Bible—'The wicked flee when no man pursueth.'"

"Why, Tommy, that means that the wicked men flee!"

"No, no. It means that the wicked flees, runs away."

"Why do they run?"

"Who?"

"The wicked flees."

"No, no! Don't you see? The wicked man runs away when no man is after him."

"Is there a woman after him?"

"Tommy, go to bed!"

A NEGLECTED EDUCATION.

When Ned, the eldest son, came on, To Art he turned his mind,

So went abroad to Barbizon, Art's "atmosphere" to find.

Five years in Paris he remained, The Pa sometimes protested—

But then, as he explained, "Twas money well invested."

Sam was the next in order, he On literature decided.

So studied for his Ph. D., To start out well provided.

Then traveled for a year or two Thro' all of Europe's quarters—

As Sam explained to Pa anew, "Twas bread upon the waters."

Alonso followed Sam, but turned His ear to Must's voice.

He felt that genius in his burned, He was Antonio's child on him.

So, like his brothers, forth he fared His soul in travel steeping—

Assuring Pa when he got scared, "Twas seed for future reaping."

Now, last of all came little Jim, A simple lad and plain;

No good had he to boast on him, He was a mighty brain.

Fa's money, too, had all been spent—Twigs grow as fortune bends them.

The others haven't got a cent—Except what Jimmy sends them.

Of all the troubles mother endures during baby's helpless days, skin troubles are the most perplexing. There are so many, and all are so obstinate and persistent, so wearying to the little sufferer, and so apt to become chronic, and mar baby's beauty. I am constantly being asked for some safe and effective home remedy for bleaches on baby's skin, rashes, pimples, blotches, eruptions, and especially for something really effective in cases of eczema, and I am quite delighted to hear that even my correspondents, that they have used Cuticura, the new medical compound, and have obtained results far in excess of their expectations. 10c and 25c per box.

STIMSON'S TALK

He Says Cost of Living Can be Reduced

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Before an audience in Brooklyn last night, Henry L. Stimson, republican nominee for governor, replying to the charge of his opponents that republicans are responsible for the high cost of living, declared that while the causes are worldwide, there are some elements of the evil "which we can grapple by legislation and administrative action." He said:

"When I became district attorney for the federal government about five years ago, I found that the sugar trust, established here in your borough, had entrenched itself against competition from the various small competitors that it was meeting throughout the country by a gigantic and most complete system of special railroad rates. I found for instance, that they had special special rates over the New York Central to crush out a growing competition in the state of Michigan. "Within an hour after I took office on the first of February, 1906, I was engaged in the study of certain evidence bearing on these discriminations. I formed the main part of my work for nearly a year was to secure the New York Central railroad, the Great Northern railroad, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Central Vermont and also the sugar trust itself for receiving rebates from those roads, and I convinced them all that it was proper to say, and I think it is true to say, that mainly as a result of those prosecutions the entire fabric of special secret rates in this locality has been wiped out and the great highways of commerce are free on even terms to the small as well as to the great shipper."

3804 KILLED

AND 82,374 INJURED BY RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—"Killed, 3804; injured, 82,374." This is the casualty record of the railroads in the United States during the year ended June 30 last, according to the interstate commerce commission yesterday. It is an increase of 1013 in the number killed, and 18,454 in the number injured over the previous year's figures. There were 5861 collisions, killing 433 persons and injuring 7765 and damaging railroad property $4,629,279. In the year's 5910 derailments, 345 persons were killed and 10,194 injured. During the last three months of the year the total killed or injured was 20,650.

ECZEMA ON HANDS FOR TEN YEARS

Were Raw All Over—Was Spreading to Body and Limbs—Used Cuticura and Was Cured—Also Cured Daughter's Eczema.

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it finally came to stay. I had three good doctors to do all they could but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, together with the Cuticura Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was healthier than I ever was. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to fool with nothing else, but to get Cuticura and get well. My hands, cured by the use of Cuticura, have never given me the least bit of trouble to this day. I cannot recommend Cuticura highly enough. It has done me and my family so much good. My daughter's hands this summer became perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing to do with it. I gave her one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for members of my family and it always proved successful. I recommend it to any one with eczema. After using it you will never use anything else. Mrs. M. E. Fells, Speers Ferry, Va., Oct. 19, 1909."

WELLESLEY GIRL

Becomes a Bride at Age of 17 Years

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 2.—Lourin

Seth Uiman, who gave his residence

Lynn, Mass., and the name of his father Seth A. Uiman, a banker and broker of the shoe city, and Miss Madeline Fowler, a student of Wellesley college, aged 17, were married yesterday morning at the parsonage of the First Congregational church by Rev. George Edmund Soper.

The couple came to Nashua unaccompanied and telephoned from the union station to the office of the city clerk to know whether it would be necessary for the bride to appear personally at the clerk's office to get a license. Mr. Uiman, who did the talking, was informed that it would not if he or any applicant had the necessary knowledge to impart to all the blank.

Some time afterward the couple drove up in a hack and the man came in. When he gave the bride's age as 17 Miss Coranna Bourgoon, the assistant city clerk, asked the groom to bring his lady in, that she, the clerk, might have a chance to judge of age personally the limit in New Hampshire being 16 years.

To this the man demurred, and finally Miss Bourgoon issued the license and the couple went to the minister's and were married. Mr. Uiman, who had been 20 years of age, declared he intended to open a branch of his father's business in Butte, Mont., whether they would go from Nashua. Later they will visit the home of the bride's parents in San Francisco, he said.

OUR GERALDINE

Patriotically Says Dukes Aren't Worth a D—

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, was an arrival yesterday aboard the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm

der Grosse. Miss Farrar arrived about a week earlier than usual, in order that she might appear in Boston Friday and Saturday as soloist at the Symphony concerts there.

"Aren't you going to marry somebody or elope with a grand duke or something?" asked one of the interviewers hovering near the singer, who was closely chaperoned by her mother.

"Married, ha, ha," was the jovial reply. "No, I have not met my fate yet."

That parental story about Mr. Scott is absurd. I never see him very much, except during the opera season. You see, I never could sing Madame Butterfly and 'Tosca' without Scotti.

"And as for grand dukes," sighed the singer, "oh, dear, I have known so many, and I can assure you that not one of them was worth a damn."

She did not say whether this applied also to the counts and lords, but apparently Miss Farrar patriotically approves of the American man. Shortly before sailing she had an interesting experience when she sang for the Emperor of Germany at the royal palace at Potsdam on the occasion of the fifty-second birthday of the Empress.

"It was a very delightful time," said Miss Farrar. "The Emperor presided and about fifty members of the royal family were present. At the request of the Empress I sang English ballads—the didn't want any 'blarney' music—and Caruso sang arias by Mozart."

"The Emperor was very nice. I talked to him about twenty minutes and he asked me why I was returning to the United States. He declares that when he wished to hear opera in the winter, he finds that almost all the singers have departed for America. He is a wonderful man."

When you look the Emperor in the eye, you recognize that he is a remarkable personality."

On Question of Voting Money for the Shedd Park

Similar Disagreement on Appropriation For Fire and Police Autos—Anne Street Park to be Named After Lucy Larcom

There were meetings of both branches of the city council last night. The aldermen held a regular meeting and the council met in special session. The special meeting of the common council was called by the mayor in order that prompt action might be taken in the matter of voting money for preliminary work in Shedd park, but the council refused to vote the money. The aldermen voted it unanimously. The council also refused to concur with the board of aldermen in voting money for an auto police patrol and automobile for the fire chief.

Board of Aldermen

All members of the board of aldermen were present when Chairman Gray called to order at 8.15. Aldermen Charles G. Adams, James S. Hanson, Michael Baker, 22 Livingston avenue, Lawrence, where he had addressed meetings, in order to attend the meeting of the board.

The aldermen voted a loan of $10,000 for preliminary work on Shedd park; loan of $7500 for an auto police patrol; and an automobile for the fire chief, $500 for two alarm boxes and $1000 for a new boiler in the Central fire station.

The proposed loan of $2000 for an increase in the wages of street laborers was turned down and the $25,000 for a new stable in the health yard was referred to next year.

The committee on convenience station met in the mayor's reception room at city hall last night. The members of the committee are Councilmen Chapman, chairman; Aldermen Adams and Byam and Councilmen Morla and Gargan.

Councilman Chapman said that the committee had been unable to find a suitable place for a comfort station in Merrimack square or in close proximity thereto.

Just for that, Alderman Adams moved that the mayor be instructed to petition the legislature for the passage of a bill to be prepared by the city solicitor providing that the Boston & Northern Street Railway company build and maintain a convenience station in Merrimack square. Mr. Adams' motion was seconded by Councilman Gargan.

Alderman Byam allowed that the bill should include in it the provision that the city should have the right to support in the legislature if other cities were included. His views in the matter, however, did not coincide with those of his colleagues. Councilman Gargan and Alderman Adams expressed the belief that other cities might look out for themselves and they believed that to make it a general proposition throughout the state would kill it in the legislature.

The original motion was put and carried.

Councilman Chapman brought up the question of a public bath on the South common, the bath to be built at a cost of $17,000, divided as follows: Steam and plumbing, $7000; stone and cement, $5000; carpenter work, $5000.

Alderman Adams thought that inasmuch as there is a demand for a new bath stand on the South common, it might be erected out of the bath house. Councilman Chapman and other members of the committee believed this feasible, particularly in view of the fact that a bath stand has been advocated in the hollow of the South common.

On motion of Alderman Adams it was voted to invite the park commission and the city solicitor to attend a meeting to be called by the chair at an early time to discuss the matter with the committee.

The following jurors were drawn by Alderman Byam to serve at Cambridge the first Monday in November: George B. Holden, 363 Walker street, clerk; James S. Hanson, 20 Bartlett street, storekeeper; Henry Clay, 31 Race street, teamster; James S. Hanson, 534 Westford street, horse dealer; E. Garfield Baker, 22 Livingston avenue, contractor.

Pole Locations

The Telephone and Telegraph company petitioned for a pole location in Boynton street, but anticipating opposition, C. S. Marshall, representing the petitioners, asked leave to withdraw. The matter is in the hands of the committee on wires and will be reported upon by that committee.

The appointment of Frank O'Brien as wrecker of coal was confirmed.

A joint resolution for changes in the lines in a portion of Clark road was read and adopted.

The joint resolution to lay out and accept Shaw street from Warwick street to Wilder street, and that certain sums be paid parties for land taken, was read and adopted.

An order providing for $888.84 for the extension of Shaw street, was read and adopted.

A communication from Robert W. Van Tassel, president of the water board, asking for permission to expend $45,769 for a pump in the Centralville station, was read and referred to the committee on appropriations.

The recommendation of the committee on appropriations for a loan order of $7500 for the purchase of an auto police patrol and an automobile for the fire chief was read.

Alderman Byam was in favor of "striking out" the chief's wagon. Alderman Carmichael asked as to the life of an automobile. He said if he were sure the life of an automobile was ten years he would vote for it. "I say ten years," he said, "because we are borrowing money for ten years."

The question came on the adoption of the order, and it was adopted by a vote of 8 to 1. Alderman Carmichael voted against.

The joint order appropriating $900 for a new boiler for the Central fire station was adopted.

The report of the committee on appropriations recommending that the proposition to borrow $25,000 for a new stable for the board of health be referred to next year's government, was read and the recommendation adopted.

The joint order for a loan of $10,000 for the Shedd park was read and adopted unanimously.

The report of the committee on appropriations recommending that $500 be appropriated for fire alarm boxes at the corner of Cashin street and Princeton boulevard, and Fourth avenue and Moody street, was read and accepted and an order for that amount was adopted.

The board took a recess and chime bells at the end of thirty minutes.

On motion of Alderman Brown, seconded by Alderman Adams, the action whereby the petition of the Oblate Fathers for a relocation of poles in Moore street was referred to the committee on lighting, was rescinded and referred to the committee on wires.

An order that the park commission be requested to name Anne street park "Lucy Larcom Park" was introduced by Alderman Carmichael. "This name," said Alderman Carmichael, "was suggested by J. Joseph Hennessy, Esq., who thought it would be a fitting name to a fitting tribute to the memory of one who endeared herself to the people of Lowell. She was one of the early literary mill girls and she brought fame to Lowell. I fell in love with Mr. Hennessy's suggestion at the start, and I sincerely hope it will have the approval of this board."

The order was unanimously voted. The board adopted the recommendation of the committee on lands and buildings, that the mayor sell the Fayette street school property.

The question of adhering to the former action of the board in turning down a proposed loan of $2000 for increasing wages of city laborers, was

Financially Embarrassed and Affairs Under Investigation

The creditors and bondholders of the P. R. Warren company met at the office of the company in Warrenville yesterday to look into the financial standing of the concern and to ascertain whether the financial obligations can be met.

Among the bondholders are many residents of Lowell and the Federal Trust company of Boston. After a prolonged discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of five made up of three creditors and two bondholders to devise a means of meeting the obligations and if possible starting up the plant.

At a meeting of the stockholders on Friday, it was discovered that the liabilities were pressing beyond the company's ability to pay and Treasurer Charles Bradford was appointed a trustee to manage the property for the benefit of the creditors and bondholders.

The company has employed about 125 persons in the manufacture of fancy paper boxes, cigar labels and other work of that kind. It has had orders for millions of boxes from the sugar trust, from candy manufacturers, the tobacco trust and other concerns brought up and it was voted, 5 to 4, to adhere to the former action.

The Common Council

There were 24 members present when President Jewett called to order at 8.40.

An ordinance introduced by Councilman Chapman, transferring the power for the repair of schoolhouses and the alterations for the same, and also for the selection of the sites for school buildings from the lands and buildings committee to the school board was referred to the committee on ordinance and legislation.

The majority report of the street committee refusing to recommend the extension of Dummer street, was read as was also a minority report recommending the extension. The majority report was by Councilman Dow, who, at the last meeting of the committee on streets, voted alone for the extension because he said it was along the line of permanent improvement and was favored by a majority of the citizens of Lowell.

There was considerable discussion of the reports at last night's meeting and the report was taken the majority report was accepted, 18 to 8. Councilman Dow gave notice of reconsideration at the next meeting.

A recess of 15 minutes was taken and when the councilmen reconvened several minor street petitions were referred to the joint standing committee on streets.

A joint communication was received from Supt. Whitcomb, relative to the placing of closets in schoolhouses to replace any of the present Fuller & Warren closets that might be taken out.

A joint order, asking for $388 for extension of Shaw street, was adopted in concurrence.

The joint report from the appropriations committee, recommending that the proposed $25,000 order for the erection of a barn for the health department, be put over to next year, was favored.

The order for $500 for new fire alarm boxes was adopted.

The order from the lands and buildings committee, recommending an appropriation of $900 for a new boiler at the central fire station, was adopted in concurrence.

The proposition concerning the sale of the Fayette street school property came up for consideration and was adopted.

The loan asking for $7500 for fire apparatus and also for $5000 for an auto police patrol, was next considered. The appropriation committee recommended purchasing the auto police patrol and an auto for Chief Blossmer. The order was voted down, 14 to 12.

The joint order asking for $10,000 for improvement of Shedd park was read. Councilman Achin offered as an amendment that the sum $10,000 be reduced to $5000 because of the lateness of the season.

Councilman Kilpatrick opposed the order. He said that that particular section of the city is more in need of fire protection than anything else; yet it had been refused.

On a ye and nay vote the amendment was lost 14 to 12.

Councilman Kilpatrick moved that action on the original order be put over to the next meeting, but this was voted down.

of a similar kind as far west as Ohio and as far south as Washington, D. C.

Among the bondholders are the Hawthell Boxboard Co. and H. L. Ellard, they being the heaviest holders. At yesterday's meeting there was every evidence of an intention to repair the finances of the company and to endeavor to treat all creditors with fairness and consideration.

The company issued $75,000 in bonds and of these but $500 remain unsold. The Warrenville plant is an extensive one and the machinery is a considerable asset.

The company located in the Warrenville plant a little over three years ago. It is hoped that some arrangement can be made to keep the plant running as there are families employed there who came recently from New York and have no resources except what they can earn at the factory.

A great many people are surprised to find the company embarrassed although the lack of sufficient capital has been felt for some time.

At yesterday's meeting the unsecured creditors were represented to the amount of $16,000 but this amount may be reduced to $30,000, when the assets are canvassed.

N. E. COLLEGES

Hold Annual Convention at Amherst Today

AMHERST, Nov. 2.—How to bring about a concentration of interests that will be effective and yet conserve unimpaired the individuality of the institutions which they represent, was the general theme for discussion among the presidents and delegates of New England colleges who gathered at Amherst college today for their annual convention. The prime purpose of these meetings, which really partake of the character of a symposium, is to coordinate so far as may be practicable the aims of New England's higher institutions of learning and to this main proposition all other exchanges of views were today subordinated.

Harvard, Yale, Amherst, Brown, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Trinity, Middlebury, Tufts, Williams, Wesleyan, Clark, and Boston universities are each represented by the president and a delegate.

Tonight a reception will be given by President and Mrs. Harris in honor of the visiting educators.

WAS A DESCENDANT OF COUNT KOSCIUSKO

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Piotr Slinzek, 15 years old, was deported yesterday to Poland from the country for which his ancestor, Kosciusko, fought in the revolution.

The boy's greatest pride is his relationship to the Polish nobleman who came to this country in 1777, offered his services to Gen. Washington and was made a general. So by hard work the boy saved nearly $50 and came to Boston unaccompanied.

The immigration officers had no difficulty in gaining from him the admission that he was not 16 years old. There was nothing to do but order his deportation.

Sobbing as the Cymric left her pier, she declared he would return to America and become a citizen here as soon as opportunity offered.

The Burgess von Blomberg, another passenger on the Cymric, is making her first trip across the Atlantic. In the ship's hold were 25,000 barrels of apples.

PINCHED AT 107

CENTENARIAN ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING LIQUOR LAW

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Nov. 2.—Probably the oldest man ever arrested in the United States was imprisoned at Fort Totten yesterday, when O. M. Zlobach, aged 107 years, was arrested on a charge of introducing liquor on the Indian reservation.

Zlobach's case will be considered by the next federal grand jury, and in the meantime he will be allowed freedom under bonds.

RICH MERCHANT KILLS WIFE, SON AND HIMSELF

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 2.—While possessed of murderous mania, caused presumably by nightmare, Jos. D. Wallace, a wealthy merchant, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning seized a pistol and opened fire on his family.

He shot his son Felton, aged 9, inflicting a dangerous wound, killed his wife and son Cline, aged 7, fired several shots at his two little girls and then blew out his own brains.

The surviving members of the family can give no clear idea of the tragedy, but they insist that Wallace was subject to nightmare and that he began shooting while in a state of madness following an attack.

Wallace came home from a lodge meeting last Monday night and immediately retired. About 3 o'clock the children were awakened by wild shouting in their father's room and then they heard a shot. The little ones ran into the room and found their mother dead and father standing over her apparently a raving maniac. As the children entered Wallace began to utter unintelligible cries and to shoot at the little ones, wounding Felton and killing Cline.

The other children fled and Wallace turned the weapon on himself.

The family physician says that Wallace had been afflicted by nightmares for some months and that frequently when aroused from one of his seizures he would be in a state of mania for several minutes. Mrs. Wallace, talking to friends about her husband's nightmares, had expressed the fear that some time he would harm her or the children.

Big Balloon Trip Planned By Pilots' Association

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Plans were discussed at the second meeting and banquet of the Association of International Pilots of America at the Hotel Somerset last evening for a balloon flight across the American continent, which, if successful, will serve as a preliminary to a balloon passage of the Atlantic ocean.

It was the opinion expressed by H. Helm Clayton, the meteorologist, who won the Hindenburg trophy last season, and Charles J. Glidden, president of the Aero Club of New England, that the prospective cross-continent flight, in view of the recent record-breaking trip of the America II, is practicable in every way. The experience gained in the flight from coast to coast of this country, they say, will pave the way for crossing the ocean.

The starting point was not settled, but four under consideration were San Francisco, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, Ore. Mr. Clayton, Jay B. Denton and J. Walter Flagg, all international pilots under licenses from the Aero Club of America, were nominated to pilot the balloon.

Mr. Glidden was instructed to obtain bids from the balloon builders of the United States, England and France for the construction of a hydrogen gas, spherical rubber and silk balloon of a capacity of 200,000 cubic feet to be used in the attempt to cross the continent, which will probably be made during the early spring of 1911.

At the proposed aerial voyage Mr. Clayton said:

Four Days' Trip
"With a balloon of this capacity using hydrogen gas, a lift of 14,000 pounds (seven tons) would be obtained. Of this six tons of ballast at least could be carried. We would immediately ascend to an elevation of three miles to clear the mountains, and after that maintain a lower elevation but high enough not to be affected by the variable winds at the usual levels in which balloons sail. Starting from a point on the Pacific coast the landing would probably be made on the Atlantic coast, south of New York city, and the journey could be accomplished in four days. This trip is preliminary to an attempt to cross the Atlantic ocean by skillful use of the upper currents of air, which in this latitude at certain elevations moves from west to east."

"It would not be difficult for a balloon of the type mentioned to stay in the air three days," said Mr. Glidden, in discussing the feasibility of the trip across the continent. "There is no doubt that it would be possible to add another day, and in this time the trip could be made. This balloon would be twice the capacity of the America II, in which the aeronauts Hawley and Post traveled over 1300 miles. Since this distance is about half that from coast to coast, a balloon of twice the capacity of the America II should be able to make the passage without difficulty."

"As for the flight across the Atlantic, Mr. Clayton and I agree that it can be accomplished. In order to do so, the balloon would ascend to a height of two miles to take advantage of the steady west wind that has been found to prevail at this altitude. If Wallace had ascended to this height, he would have been all right, but flying at the altitude he chose, the north wind carried him into the cyclone that took him to the south. I think that a balloon would be able to cross the Atlantic in four or five days."

"The basket of the balloon will be large enough to provide sleeping quarters for three men, who would take turns in the navigation of the craft."

Aeroplans Tour

Mr. Glidden announced that the National council of the Aero Club of America, had considered his offer of a trophy for aeroplans touring, and referred it to the committee on rules. In the letter of acceptance the secretary of the national council said: "I am directed to express to you the thanks of the national council for the offer and for the sportsmanlike and generous spirit shown by your tender of the trophy."

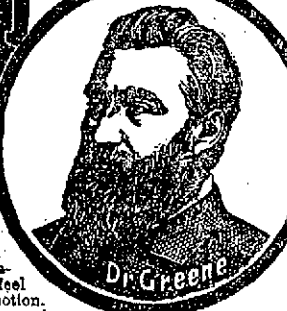

It is planned to make the contest for which this trophy is offered take place in aviation similar to that held in automobile racing by the Glidden tour. The starting point would be from Boston, and, although no limits to the tour have been set, South Framingham and Worcester have been suggested as offering suitable lighting spots on a flight to extend beyond these cities.

Precisely to the banquet the annual meeting of the association, which was held in observance of the 120th anniversary of the first ascension in a balloon from the city of Boston, took place, and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Charles J. Glidden, president; H. Helm Clayton and J. H. Wade, Jr., vice presidents; Walter Flagg, treasurer; advisory board, Charles J. Glidden, A. Holland Forbes, Jay B. Denton, H. Helm Clayton and A. P. Lambert.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA

BLOOD & NERVE REMEDY

Rheumatism

An Account of a Painful and Deforming Disease.

Many persons claim that they can fortify changes in the weather, the only explanation for their knowledge being that they feel it in their bones. This is not a foolish notion. The nerves of persons suffering from rheumatism are more highly sensitive than those of other people, and for that reason they are more easily affected by any change in the atmosphere.

Rheumatism is the subtle foe which steals away the joy of life. It gets into your joints and your muscles. It comes and stays and everything you do to dislodge it seems useless. Sometimes it lays you up, sometimes it lets you drag around, but its sting is always with you when you make a quick or unguarded movement.

Don't think because nothing has yet helped your rheumatism that Dr. Greene's Nervura won't do it, for it will if you give it a chance. Start today using Dr. Greene's Nervura.

Take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for now at all times it is most dangerous to neglect your health, and the system is always made strong and vigorous by this perfect medicine.

Remember the great advantage of having your medicine put up by Dr. Greene, a regular practicing physician, who guarantees his Nervura and will stand behind it at all times. Dr. Greene himself will give free consultation and advice, personally or by mail, at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Massachusetts, to all.

A SUICIDE PACT

Couple Married Only Two Weeks

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A suicide agreement between a despondent young couple on the upper West Side of the city, and carried into at least partially successful execution, was revealed yesterday afternoon when a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Torrea broke into their rooms. Torrea was found dead in bed and his young wife, partially overcome by gas and a wound in her left wrist, calmly waiting for her life to end.

When Mrs. Torrea was revived in the hospital to which she was taken a prisoner, she said that the knife wound had been inflicted by her husband in the carrying out of a suicide agreement which they made yesterday morning. She told the police that her husband had first cut a deep incision in her left arm and then slashed his own right arm. He then turned on the gas and they lay down to die.

The Torrea were married only on October 17 last. The smell of gas escaping from the room led to the discovery of the dead man and his wounded wife.

The surviving members of the family can give no clear idea of the tragedy, but they insist that Wallace was subject to nightmare and that he began shooting while in a state of madness following an attack.

Wallace came home from a lodge meeting last Monday night and immediately retired. About 3 o'clock the children were awakened by wild shouting in their father's room and then they heard a shot. Newton Woman Burned From Head to Foot

NEWTON, Nov. 2.—While her mother, who is 98 years old and not able to rise from her chair, looked on helplessly,

Mrs. Mary J. Carroll of 172 Lexington street, Auburn, was probably fatally burned yesterday when her clothing caught fire from the kitchen stove. Her clothing a mass of flames the unfortunate woman rushed screaming from the house, scattering a group of small children who were playing in the yard. Her cries, coupled with those of the frightened children, attracted the attention of neighbors and Mrs. Mat thew McBride of 154 Lexington street managed to beat out the flames by using wet blankets. With the help of others she then carried the unconscious woman into the house and applied oil to her entire body pending the arrival of two doctors who were called. Mrs. Carroll was then rushed to the Newton hospital, but late last night it was said there that her condition was critical and that recovery was doubtful. She was burned from head to foot.

Mrs. Carroll is 48 years old. She is a widow and is partly crippled. She made her home with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Benson, together with two sons, Thomas F. and John E. Carroll. Mrs. Benson suffered from a shock several years ago and has been unable to move herself without help since that time.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Carroll was at work around the stove when a towel fell from her hand and landed on top of the stove. In reaching for it the sleeve of her dress caught fire and almost instantly the flames spread to her body. At first she rolled on the floor and then dashed blindly from the house to the yard, where the neighbors found her.

"I was suffering constantly from throat and lung troubles until I came to use Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye. Having heard through a friend that he had been using Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye and had received great benefits from this grand medicine, and knowing that our past family record suffered from that dreadful disease, consumption, I decided I would give Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye a trial, and since doing so I have improved wonderfully. ## LABOR LEADERS

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Replying to Gov. Draper's letter stating that he neither condemned nor praised Eugene N. Foss for his vote on the Hughes amendment while in congress, James W. Wall and Martin T. Joyce, chairman and secretary of the labor campaign committee of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, wrote to the governor, yesterday asking why labor men should vote against Mr. Foss. The letter says:

"You say, 'you may remember that Mr. Foss severely criticized me for having vetoed the so-called eight-hour bill after having advised me to veto it.' You are in error in the statement of what you mean to be a very cruel issue in the campaign. We investigated that claim last year. Mr. Foss advised that you veto a bill which was not before you, which never has been before you, which we would never have drawn to be placed before you, and which existed only in the intention of republican machinery to inflame manufacturers against our eight-hour bill, which did not include those manufacturers, and which the wisdom of a legislature had granted us against the pressure of the master builders' lobby. It is possible, and more probable, that many labor men even at this hour are in doubt whether to vote for or against Mr. Foss."

"We now challenge you to either condemn or endorse any such condemnation of Mr. Foss for his vote on the Hughes amendment, and to give your reasons why labor men should be influenced by any such condemnation to vote against him."

SUES DAUGHTER FOR ALIENATING AFFECTIONS OF STEP-FATHER

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Johanna Husselmann was awarded $9800 damages from her daughter, the wife of Dr. Wilhelm Becker, in the circuit court in a $25,000 alienation of affection suit of mother against daughter.

Mrs. Husselmann and Dr. Becker were married in 1900. She was then 46. He was 31. She had two daughters. One of them was Mrs. Hattie Bott, 26. Mrs. Bott was then living at St. Paul. Her husband was Dr. Henry C. Bott.

Shortly after the marriage Mrs. Bott came to Milwaukee to visit at the home of her mother and her new stepfather. The result was that on Sept. 29, 1906, Mrs. Becker and her husband separated. On Nov. 3, 1906, Mrs. Becker got a divorce, resuming the name of Husselmann.

On Nov. 9, 1906, Mrs. Bott began suit for divorce from Dr. Bott. She got the divorce Nov. 24, 1907. Five days later, according to testimony, Mrs. Bott and her stepfather were married.

The mother said that her daughter "willfully, maliciously and wickedly" gained the affections of Dr. Becker and sought to entice him to desert his wife.

MISSSES HIS JOKES MAYOR TO DRINK GOAT MILK FOR INDIGESTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—Mayor Shank is preparing to drink two quarts of goat milk daily as a cure for indigestion and is satisfied that if a cure results he will be able to stay in his office longer, and therefore transact the business of the city more expeditiously.

He has gathered statistics showing that goat milk taken in sufficient quantities will cure the disease and he is going to try it.

The mayor says that as an auctioneer he was never troubled with anything, but the mayoralty gives few opportunities for cracking jokes, and he attributes his indisposition to the fact that he has not as many laughs in the mayor's business as there was in crying sales.

CHELMSFORD

Last night the Central Baptist church held its 16th annual roll call, and the meeting was a decided success, both in point of numbers and in the religious spirit that it brought to the church. The roll call was read by the pastor of the church, the Rev. C. H. Ellis, and all those present responded in a very fervent manner. A solo was given by Mrs. George Blackadar, following which Rev. Mr. Ellis expressed his regret that through illness, Rev. A. P. Wedge of the Worcester Street Baptist church, who was to have spoken, was unable to be present. Remarks were made by Rev. H. A. Cornell of the Baptist church at Groton, a former pastor of the society, who spoke of the pleasant recollections of his stay here and his high regard for the present pastor, and the excellent work that he is doing. It was during Rev. Mr. Cornell's pastorate that the roll call of the church became an annual event. Duets by Misses Della and Hester Baker were a pleasing part of the program. The members of the church committee were Rev. C. H. Ellis, Miss Emma J. Perham, Miss Bertha H. Dutton, Mrs. Edward Setton, George M. Setton, Arthur E. Dutton. The support was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Brown and Miss Nellie G. Hazen.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

HELD BY AUTUMN LEAF CLUB MONDAY EVENING

Halloween parties were in order on Monday evening, and many were the real enjoyable parties that took place in the city. Among the most popular might be mentioned the party held by the Autumn Leaf club, at the residence of Miss Elizabeth Robertson, 48 Quebec street. The party was one of the most successful held in years. The house was decorated with ferns and autumn leaves, and there was a great exhibition of the fruits of the season. There was a fine musical program, including selections by the Princeton orchestra, and vocal and violin solos by Sadie Robertson, Percy Bixby, Fred Sanford, Elizabeth Robertson. Halloween games were then played, after which all retired to the dining room, where a harvest supper was served by Misses Rose Eber and Mae Wallace. The entertainment was under the direction of Misses Lillian Travers and Mae Sanford. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Katherine Sanford.

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A very pretty Halloween party was held Monday evening at Clinton avenue when Misses Anna and Catharine Collins entertained a number of their friends. The house was beautifully decorated with Jack-o'-lanterns, and during the course of the evening Halloween games were played. A literary and musical program was carried out, and refreshments were served. The musical program consisted of a quartet, Messrs. Devlin, Hagan, Keller, Smith and McPherson; piano solos by Miss Virginia Martel; recitations by Miss Mary Garvey.

PLAYED DETECTIVE

WIFE KEEPS TABS ON HER HUSBAND

BOSTON, November 2.—Mrs. Virginia A. Love, wife of a former Boston broker, told before the divorce court, yesterday, how she had played detective to obtain evidence against her husband, Henry H. Love, and Miss Marie Ross, who once worked in the office of Cardenio F. King, where her husband was manager.

Mrs. Love names Miss Ross and a Mr. Wilson of Fairport, N. Y., as co-respondents. Love has brought a cross libel against his wife, alleging confirmed habits of intoxication and the use of drugs. Mrs. Love was daughter of a former mayor of Rochester. Her maiden name was Aldridge.

Mrs. Love was the sole witness during the afternoon. She said she went to 90 Corey road, Allston, early in the evening of June 16, entered the third suite, that of Mrs. Aldrich, and from the veranda was able to hear conversation in what was formerly her suite below. She said she saw Miss Ross looking out of a window, and that her husband and another man arrived in an automobile.

GRANITEVILLE

Very Rev. Dr. F. J. Oidaker of Boston, conducted a very interesting service in the Long-Sought-For chapel at North Westford last Sunday afternoon. The Rev. L. F. Havermale assisted by Mrs. Lucy Blood, had charge of the Sunday school work.

There were a great number of parties Monday evening and the spirit of Halloween was thoroughly gone into by those who were present, and many of the old time games were repeated.

A regular Halloween party, under the direction of Miss Angela Mattson, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mattson in West Graniteville, the proceeds of which will be added to the treasury of the Epworth league.

Many people from this village will attend the big democratic rally to be held in Ayer on Wednesday night.

MUTUAL BENEFIT

Pollard Co.'s Clerks Held Meeting

The annual meeting of the Employees Mutual Benefit association of the A. G. Pollard company was held last night in the drapery department of the store. The attendance was very large and while the feature of the meeting was the election of officers, after the meeting there was an entertainment and banquet.

At the business meeting several matters were discussed after which officers were elected for the ensuing year, the election resulting as follows: President, Robert Young; vice president, L. R. Jordan; secretary, T. Lee Taylor; treasurer, J. H. Kimball; collector, Mary Jutras; auditors, N. Losenau and F. Hutzborn.

Following the business meeting, the guests adjourned to Middlesex hall, the use of which had been provided for through the generosity of Mrs. A. G. Pollard. Here a banquet with an elaborate menu was served followed by a delightful entertainment.

The guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Pollard and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunlap.

The program was: Selection, "The Rosary" store quartet, Misses A. Lavelle, A. J. Ducharme, Edward Desrochers and J. A. Ducharme; piano selection, Miss A. Alexander; soprano solo, "Madrigal," Miss Marguerite Turgeon; remarks, A. G. Pollard, Mr. Riley of Worcester and Mr. Kenny of Boston; piano duet, Miss Eva and Archie Archambault; remarks, Harry Dunlap; cornet solo, Charles Belandier; piano solo, Miss Irene Parthenais; reading, David Cadell; reading, "How a Church Was Built at Keo's Bar," Mrs. Maude Knight; selection, male quartet.

Made Rousing Speech at Plattsburg Last Night

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Judge Alton B. Parker, the democratic candidate for president in 1904, who went to Connecticut Monday to speak for the democratic ticket there, resumed his campaign for the democratic state nominee at a big rally here last night.

Five special trains brought voters from all parts of the county. Judge Parker in his speech called attention to Colonel Roosevelt's discovery of an alleged alliance between Mr. Dix and Wall street and said in this connection:

"Col. Roosevelt and his candidate, whom he calls 'Harry,' instead of answering the issues presented to them in this campaign, are shouting about an alliance between Wall street and Tammany hall, and the only evidence the colonel has intended to adduce is a circular asking for funds, issued by the chairman of the finance committee of that organization. I hold that circular in my hand and also similar circulars issued by the republican committee and the democratic state committee."

"In the appeals therein for funds they do not differ in substance, but there are marked differences in the reasons assigned for the need of funds as well as in the affiliations of the men who sign them."

"I cannot help feeling that the democratic appeal is more impressive than that of the republicans."

"As for the signatures to each of these appeals, they seem to be those of reputable men who are not unknown to the public of that city. I don't find on the democratic circular, however, the names of many Wall street men who would be supposed to have special influence with the Wall street brethren, but I do find a great volume and variety of Wall street interests represented among the signers of the republican circular. For instance, there is Cornelius Vanderbilt, whose name stands well up on the list.

"Mr. Ogden Mills, who has kindly consented to act as treasurer this year is also somewhat identified with Wall street interests. He is a director of only seventeen steamships, railroad, banking and other corporations. Besides that he is president and director of a daily newspaper that is loudly extolling the many good qualities of the republican candidate, and incidentally is not too boastful in its praise of the colonel's conduct as a campaigner."

"Mr. Otto T. Baughard, another of the signers, is a director in only 11 corporations, among them financial institutions, railroads and mills."

"Mr. E. A. Sands sits at the same table with the directors of 16 corporations and he, too, signed the Macedonian cry for help."

"Mr. Walter T. Rosen, another signer, is a director of 11 corporations while Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, of whom you have heard before in the matter of raising campaign funds, has reduced his interests in Wall street corporations to a meagre two."

"Mr. E. W. Bloomington also has two, so has Mr. William H. Douglas, while Mr. James B. Ford has 11, four of which are corporations concerned in the manufacture and sale of rubber. Mr. John Hays Hammond aids in the direction of a steel corporation and a roller bearing company. Mr. Alfred B. Marling is a director in only nine corporations and their titles seem to indicate that he is the representative of important insurance interests. Mr. John R. Sheffield is a director in a land company. Mr. Louis Stern is a director in corporations while Mr. Bronson Winthrop, the law partner of Mr. Stimson, is a director of three corporations."

"Mr. Victor Morawitz is also a director, we are told, in eight corporations, one of which is a sugar company, and so it goes. I give these facts to you not in criticism of the efforts of these gentlemen to help their party, but solely to show how absurd is the colonel's contention that there can be any connection between Wall street and any body of men that is diligently seeking to promote the candidacy of Mr. Dix for governor."

GREATEST DANGER OF THIS COUNTRY IS ROOSEVELT, SAYS WHITNEY

BROOKLINE, Nov. 2.—"This country's greatest danger today is Theodore Roosevelt and his preaching of new nationalism," declared Henry M. Whitney, a former democratic candidate for governor here last night. "If Roosevelt is allowed to continue his preaching," Mr. Whitney continued, "the capitalists will refuse to invest their money and the country will feel the effects. Mr. Whitney predicted sweeping democratic victories in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Ohio."

John P. Fitzgerald of Boston also spoke.

THE REFORM CLUB Pres. Bowers Delivers a Rousing Address

At the close of a short but important business meeting last evening during which three candidates were initiated and several new names were proposed, The Reform club held a most delightful housewarming and smoke talk by way of dedicating their new quarters in Odd Fellows Temple, Middlesex street.

After cigars had been passed around and several musical numbers were given, President Noonan of the club congratulated the members on their new quarters and spoke words of encouragement to the members present. He called upon President E. M. Bowers of the Reform club, who spoke earnestly and impressively of the great work done by the three total abstinence institutes in Lowell, the Mathews, the Burkes and the Reform club.

"The good people of our city," said the speaker, "have never been brought to realize the great work that has been done by these three institutions. Mr. Bowers paid a glowing tribute to Father Mathew and to the Mathew Temperance Institute in Lowell and said that every business man in the city should glory in the privilege of assisting the Mathews in wiping out the debt on their building. 'The life of this noble institution may be at stake,' said Mr. Bowers, 'and we must all be ready to make a little financial sacrifice. Yes, Lowell is always ready and is today waiting to assist and will promptly respond to the call.'"

Mr. Bowers dwelt on the splendid work done by the Reform club during its history of nearly thirty-five years. "Every tree is known by its fruit," said the speaker, "but not until the dawn of eternity will we realize the harvest."

"You are to be congratulated on your neat, cosy home-like quarters. You are up high here, a delightful view of the city. Take an optimistic view of life. Keep the atmosphere pure here. Throw out a good influence. The future of the club is in your hands, young men, much depends upon your conduct. Make every day you live just a little better than the day just past and our society's future is secure. Remember the moral obligation you have assumed in becoming a member. Do not disappoint us then, but put forth your best efforts. Be zealous, aggressive and earnest. Lend a hand where you can. Give a lift, not a kick to the poor fellow who is down and out. The Mathews, I understand, are to give a series of big temperance meetings; try and attend them. You will receive a moral uplift yourselves and besides, your presence may help the other fellow, too."

The regular weekly meetings of the club will be held every Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Temple.

UP 10,500 FEET Glidden Has Beaten Johnstone's Record

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—J. Walter Flagg and Charles J. Glidden on May 4 last reached an altitude of 10,500 feet in the balloon "Boston," thus going nearly 1000 feet higher than the aeroplane altitude record established by Ralph Johnstone at Belmont park Monday. Mr. Flagg talked about his trip last night, while at the dinner of the Association of International Aeronautical Pilots at the Hotel Seaboard.

"The view of the ground from such a height is more beautiful than can be imagined. Large buildings are but dots of color on the earth, while the lakes seem but flecks of blue in the surrounding green of the trees and fields. The big black shadow of the balloon noticed when but a few hundred feet from the earth is dimmed by the distance and shows just a slightly darker hue on the ground."

"No matter at what speed you may be travelling, not a breath of wind disturbs the flags of the balloon or blows against your face. This seems strange to those who have seen the windblown faces of the pilots of aeroplanes, but the explanation is simple. The huge gas bag of the balloon is blown along by the wind at the same rate of speed, so there is no breeze."

SENATOR LODGE REPEATS HIS OLD DEFENSE OF THE TARIFF

CLINTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking at a largely attended republican rally here last night, repeated his claims made at the rally at Malboro Monday night that the tariff is not responsible for the increased cost of living, citing examples in cotton, hides and other staples that are either on the free list or have been greatly reduced under the new tariff bill but which have continued to increase in price. He also referred to the fact that although Mr. Foss is posing as a friend of labor he has had two strikes on his hands during the past few months.

The other speakers at the rally included Speaker Joseph Walker of the Massachusetts house of representatives; Congressional Candidate William H. Wilder of Gardner and Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester and Amos T. Sanders of Clinton.

BIG GAS BUOYS

Will Guide Shipping in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The ten big gas buoys, each of which weighs more than three tons, have been put in position in Broad sound, and Boston harbor now has the only lighted channel for big ships in the United States, with the exception of New York. Each buoy is made of iron and gas and will burn for six months without refilling. It costs Uncle Sam just 4 cents a day to keep the beacons going.

It was expected the buoys would be placed two weeks ago, and this was the intention of the officials of the lighthouse department. But the delay in getting the buoys sent to this out of the question. Monday night the monster beacons were operated for the first time.

"The lighted ship channel owes its existence to an organized demand by all shipping interests at this port. The most formidable petition ever sent to Washington from Boston stated the case plainly, and the government was prompt to act. It allows the docking of big ships at night with practically the same ease and safety as in the daytime. It is believed the new step will be of immense advantage to Boston's commerce."

PROF. BREWER FAMOUS YALE EDUCATOR IS DEAD

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—William Henry Brewer, professor emeritus of agriculture in the Yale Sheffield Scientific school, died at his home here early today from infirmities due to old age. Professor Brewer was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1825, and was graduated from the Sheffield school at Yale in 1852, completing his education abroad, studying at Heidelberg, Munich and Paris. He was twice married, his first wife dying in 1859, and his second wife dying in 1889. He took up educational work in 1863 when he became connected with Washington college as professor of chemistry and geology. In 1869 he acted as first assistant to the survey of the coast of California, and in 1863 became professor of chemistry in the University of California. In 1864 he came to Yale as professor of agriculture in the scientific school. He had been a member of the National Society of Science and in 1892 was made president of the Connecticut board of health.

To Remove Superfluous Hair

Dr. Duval, the eminent physician, says: "I consider Depilatory the only safe, sure and radical cure for that very common and objectionable trouble superfluous hair. Depilatory is totally different from the powder, paste and other remedies, which simply break the hair off, making it grow again. It is a permanent cure. The booklet containing full information of this remarkable treatment, with testimonials of physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals, prominent magazines and newspapers, will be mailed free in plain sealed envelope on request to Dr. Duval, Chemical Co., 100 Park Ave., New York."

No home dealer will offer a substitute on the ground that it is a swindle. It is sold at all good stores, including

FEAR FOR DRAPER

Caused Adjournment of Cattlemen's Meeting

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—There was considerable discussion at the widely advertised meeting of the New England Live Stock Dealers association at the Revere house last night, and three members of the minority voted against the adjournment of the meeting, when that motion was put and hastily carried declaring that republican influence was brought to bear, through fear that political questions might arise.

Walter S. Glidden, the governor's council and abeyard Walker of Belchertown, chief of the cattle bureau of the state, were both about the corridors of the hotel, and it was claimed they exerted influence to bring about an adjournment of the meeting. Mr. Glidden and Mr. Walker emphatically denied the allegations.

A portion of the advertisement of the meeting, which was sent broadcast inviting all members, butchers and farmers to be present, read:

"Important business that affects all the above classes who do business at the Brighton market under the present law will be discussed by competent speakers. Open free discussion, whether for or against the existing law."

When the meeting was called shortly after 8 o'clock the rooms were cleared of all persons not actually members of the association. The greatest secrecy was maintained and within a short period the doors were opened and it was declared the meeting had been adjourned for two weeks.

Five members voted against the adjournment. They were James Bryan of Westboro, Harry Kelley of Brighton, Henry Gunshuiser of Brighton, A. C. Foss of Lynn and Samuel E. Winch of Shrewsbury.

Immediately after the adjournment, Harry Kelley said to a reporter:

"The reason for the hasty adjournment was obvious. It was feared the question of the law relative to 'bills' might become a topic for discussion, with the result that it would injure Gov. Draper. The meeting was a force and most of the 50 men present knew they would vote for an adjournment the minute they entered the room."

Mr. Foss said:

"The meeting was adjourned for purely political reasons. It was feared that arguments would be started which would be detrimental to Gov. Draper, and the republicans got together and decided before the meeting to vote at once for an adjournment. Why, just before I entered the room A. E. Baggs of Belchertown told me the meeting would be adjourned within a few minutes after it had been called to order."

Mr. Foss and Mr. Winch pointed out a man they said was Mr. Baggs to the reporter, but when the gentleman was asked if he were Mr. Baggs he replied he was not. He was informed of what Mr. Foss had said, but insisted in declaring he was not Mr. Baggs.

Mr. Winch said:

"Politics was the reason for the hasty adjournment. The present laws could not be discussed for they would injure Gov. Draper. That was known and that was the reason for the adjournment."

The president of the association, H. L. Glidden of Lynn, Mr. and Vice Presidents E. L. Gayer and A. M. Ricker of St. Johnsbury, Vt., denied that politics played any part in the meeting whatsoever. Goodrich disclaimed all responsibility for calling the meeting. Mr. Kiker did the same. It was said Mr. Glidden was invited by him to address the gathering.

Mr. Glidden was told by a reporter of the charges which had been made against him. He was most emphatic in his denial and scoffed at the allegations. Mr. Walker was also indignant when the matter was broached to him.

FOSS CONFIDENT

Expects to Carry State by 50,000

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—"Going to win by 50,000," Eugene N. Foss, democratic candidate for governor, told everybody he met yesterday.

"I'm satisfied with the outlook and was never more confident of winning than I am at the present time," Gov. Draper told his friends.

Back from his second trip to the western part of the state yesterday Eugene N. Foss said that only one reference could be drawn from the big rallies he addressed in Holyoke and Springfield, and that was democratic victory. Mr. Foss says he is sure that the democrats are going to gain three or four congressional seats, capture the legislature and elect a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

He added that the republican campaign managers realized months ago that they have a pretty tough job on their hands to elect Draper this year, but in addition they must carry Lodge along with them, and this burden, he declared, was more than the faithful G. O. C. elephant can stand.

FOUND IN CAVE

THE STERRETT

SHOWS UP WELL ON TRIAL TRIPS

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 2.—Although slightly slower than her sister ship, the Dayton, as shown by the standardization test of yesterday, the torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett put out to sea this morning with the prestige of having surpassed the three other oil-burning craft of this type of naval construction. Today's trial of the Sterrett consisted of a 12 hour run at 25 knots for tests of water and oil consumption. The builders are confident that today's showing will be relatively better than that of yesterday.

HERRING SCARCE

EASTPORT FISHERMEN WILL SUFFER BIG LOSS

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 2.—A loss of many thousands of dollars will be sustained by the fishermen of Passamaquoddy bay by the absence of the schools of herring which ordinarily frequent that body of water at this time of year. The local canning factories are receiving their supplies of fish almost wholly by rail and boat from Portland. No diminution of the sardine output is expected to result from the failure of the herring to come back.

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moulden, 2115 Second St., North Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

COULDN'T BELIEVE HIS EYES.

The professor was dining out and had drunk several glasses of port. He did not know this wine's extraordinary strength, and in all innocence he took too much. When he rose to leave the table his legs, to his dismay, tottered and the room seemed to sway slightly. The horrified professor got to the parlor in safety. He sat down in the most distant corner, but soon his young hostess, leading a maid who carried her two beautiful twin babies, came to him for his approbation. The professor sat up very erect. He gazed at the twins glassily. Then he articulated carefully, in a hoarse, thick voice, "What a bonny little child!"

Too Many Waists

October's waist business was not up to our expectations, notwithstanding the fact that we anticipated and bought heavier than ever before. The result simply means that you will be given the greatest money-saving opportunity beginning tomorrow (Thursday) that Lowell people have ever known.

Our customers and the public generally are fully qualified to make comparisons and render judgment accordingly. We are ready and willing to abide by your decision whether we win your patronage or not. We are never undersold for goods of equal quality, and we guarantee everything we sell. Your money back if not satisfied with each and every purchase.

226 TAILORED AND LINGERIE WAISTS in madras, soisette, lawn and linen; some plain, some fancy; not one in the lot ever sold for less than 98c and many at $1.98. Choice 49c

$1.50 LINGERIE WAISTS—The most inviting and daintiest patterns shown this season. Every one full value for $1.50, but this is war-path week and they too are sacrificed for speedy sale to 98c

$2.50 BUTTON FRONT TAILORED LINEN WAISTS, embroidered fronts and laundered cuffs; the best $2.50 waist ever shown and a bargain at full regular price, but the waist question must step lively this week, so we offer them at $1.69

$3 PURE SILK SEMI-TAILORED BLACK TAFFETAS, excellent quality and stylishly gotten up. $1.98

Plenty of other prices and values just as good or better, but time and space prevent specifications.

ALL ON SALE TOMORROW (THURSDAY) MORNING.

TEACHERS' MEETING

ment of school and educational conditions in this city and the keynote was touched by one of the speakers who said that there never was a spirit of human superiority and not a hint of stimulus in organization.

The organization had for its guests the superintendent of schools, the grammar masters and the principals of the High and Normal schools.

Autumn foliage, flowers and corn were used for decorative purposes and were made to blend prettily on the platform and refreshment tables.

Three-minute addresses were given on the general topic of "The Value to the Schools of a Teachers' Organization."

Following the speaking there was a social hour with refreshments. The hostesses were Miss Devereaux, supervisor of kindergartens; Miss Baker of the High school; Miss Jantzen of the Butler school; Miss Burnham of the Highland school; Miss Fay of the Varunum school; Miss Josephine Coburn, assistant superintendent of music; and Miss Parnham of the Bartlett school.

Miss Bella F. Hatchelder presided at a business session which preceded the speaking. At the business session notice was given of a change in the constitution to be voted upon at the December meeting, providing for a permanent program committee. The December meeting will be held on Wednesday, the 17th, at the State Normal school, in virtue of a vote to suspend the rule providing for meetings to be held on Tuesdays.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to the chairman of the temporary program committee, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, who introduced, as the first speaker, Superintendent A. K. Whitcomb. His subject was "The Value to Our Schools of a Teachers' Organization." He had three reasons for believing that the organization brings to the individual teacher; second, on account of its social benefit; third, because when the teachers of Lowell stand together with unanimity they can have anything they ask for, without regard for the advancement of their work.

The speakers kept well within their time limit, three minutes. Mr. A. L. Bachelder of the Green school spoke of the value of the organization in its influence upon the welfare of the city. Mr. C. W. Bank of the Edison school, had for his subject, "The Value of Such an Organization With Reference to Our Standing With Other Cities."

Mr. Frederick A. Wood of the Greenhedge school, spoke on the value of an organization of teachers, in securing a professional spirit, and that the ethical consideration implied in the professional spirit of teaching, means the making of good citizens.

"The Value of the Organization in Securing and Maintaining High Ideals," was Mr. J. E. Barr's subject. Mr. Barr is principal of the Washington school.

Mr. Herbert D. Bixby, of the Bartlett school, spoke on the value of the organization in securing free discussion among teachers of all grades, as to the merits and defects of the schools. He said that free discussion of the right kind is very valuable, and in order to be valuable, it must be, above all, in a kindly spirit.

Mr. C. W. Morey of the Highland school spoke on the value of organization in securing unanimity of work; not a unanimity of spirit is prescribed, but that which is gained by rubbing elbows with each other and comparing notes.

Mr. James H. Mellen of the Lincoln school spoke on the influence of the organization upon the parents of school children. He suggested that co-operation might be attained by the committee of the organization meeting the parents in the large school halls.

Mr. C. F. Callahan, of the Butler school, had for his subject, the value of the organization to the teacher, socially. He gave as his opinion that teachers should mingle with the social life of the city in order to prepare the pupils to meet the obligations of citizenship.

The influence of the organization upon the school board was treated by Mr. Henry H. Harris of the Varunum school. He said that the object of the organization is professional advancement, and a broadening of the outlook upon life, he believed it would receive the hearty endorsement of the board.

Mr. William S. Greene of the Moody school spoke on the value of a teachers' organization to the grade schools.

Principal C. W. Irish of the High school drew his inspiration from the football field, saying that the main point is to make progress with the ball and organization is necessary to progress. "The enemy," he said, is inertia, on the part of the city government and the public, with reference to school matters.

Principal C. A. Durgin of the Normal school spoke on the value of the organization to the Normal school. He said that much can be done by teachers interesting themselves in the girls, going through their schools and by assisting them on their way to the profession. Then, after they are in the Normal school, by continuing their interest and letting them know that a great organization having the purpose of making the school better, is watching their efforts.

Miss Andrews, Miss Penn, Miss Cornish and Miss Lamore played the piano during the social hour.

After the meeting a general feeling of satisfaction was apparent at the success of the meeting especially as an index to what may be expected in the future.

Wise, "Prof. I. E. Schmitt," "Aunt Abby" and the other characters familiar to readers of the Sunday Globe, will contribute their share towards the merryment. There is a chorus of pretty girls, who sing and dance, and a number of musical interpolations that are catchy and pleasing. The prices for this engagement are 10 and 20 cents for the matinee, and 10, 20 and 30 cents for the evening performance.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"
"The Man on the Box" was an amusing comedy of almost farcical mchance when Henry E. Dixey acted it for two seasons in New York and on tour, and it ought to be no less amusing when John Meehan and a special company present it at the Opera House on Saturday, matinee and night. The book by Harold McGrath has been widely read and the play follows the lines of the story very closely. The box of the title is the box of a carriage that was waiting to take Miss Elizabeth Annesley home from a ball at the British embassy in Washington. For reasons of his own, "Bob Worburton," a lieutenant of the regular army, lately resigned, dons a coachman's livery, sprang upon that box and obstinately fixed himself there. The spring and the obstinacy bring him to the police court; they bring as well many amusing consequences to Miss "Ditty" and her circle. Cupid, the insinuating, even in the precincts of a police court, speeds his arrows and barbs each with a new complication. The sum makes a diverting play, which is acted lightly, swiftly and merrily.

It is a question if any play that has been offered in recent seasons presents so many good points for the pleasure of the theatergoer as does "The Man on the Box," for it combines comedy, farce, sentiment, emotion, and has also a slight touch of high class melodrama, all of which, deftly intermingled by the cunning hand of the dramatist, make up a play of absorbing interest.

"The Man on the Box" will be presented here by a strong cast, special scenic settings and a production that is complete to the slightest detail. Seats are on sale.

NEW OPERA CO.
Frances Hewitt Bowne, the gifted soprano prima donna of the New Opera company which will present American grand opera here on Nov. 12th, at the Opera House, in connection with the New York season, is not the only one of the hard workers of the modern operatic stage, but she has succeeded in pleasing some of the most austere workers and critics. Proof of this statement lies in the fact that her personal co-operation as a singer, and her artistic interpretation of the lecturer and critic of the New York Sun, and by Clarence Eddy, ranked at home and abroad as one of the few great organists of the world when not on the stage. Miss Bowne assists Mr. Henderson in his lectures and sings at the organ for Mr. Eddy.

GERTRUDE ELLIOTT
In "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," Mrs. Burnett's new play which Gertrude Elliott (Mrs. Forbes-Robertson) is bringing to the Opera House next Friday, Nov. 11, there is a scene in London for that is said to be remarkable as anything of the kind ever attempted. It is quite different from the usual fog effect, which employs steam, and which has been responsible for some queer accidents in the opera houses, to say nothing of an incident here panic in a New York theatre last season. In Mrs. Burnett's play the effect is mainly due to the clever manipulation of lights. It is so realistic, in fact, that when the first production of "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" in New York City was followed by a week of unusual and heavy fog, a newspaper humorist loudly accused an employee of leaving the stage door open while the fog scene was in progress.

HATHAWAY THEATRE
Wright Huntington, in his best medium, that of a high comedian, is at Hathaway's theatre this week, in the pleasantly effective comedy playlet, "A Vision of the Night." The title might suggest something quite tragic, but, as a matter of fact, a charming little love story is developed in pretty comedy is the main theme of the play. Huntington is most congenially cast, while supporting company is wonderfully good. Horace Wright and Gene Dietrich, "the somewhat different singers," are in a class by themselves, so far as vaudeville is concerned. Mr. Wright has a brilliant voice, while Miss Dietrich is a soprano of more than ordinary ability. The Great Lutz and company give a variety of entertainments, and Vittorio and Georgetti, the upside down boys, have the last word in acrobatics. Other acts on the bill are: Kessler, Lee, dancers; William J. Morrissey, pianist; and William Herbert and Lealand, comedy acrobats, and the Hathascope.

MRS. BELMONT
HOT ON TRAIL OF SENATOR AGNEW
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont walked up and down that portion of Broadway lying west of the Hotel Manhattan yesterday afternoon distributing to the passersby yellow handbills emblazoned in big letters with her latest slogan, "Down with Senator Agnew."

Few of the pedestrians who accepted the bills recognized the smiling dispenser in the conservatively hobbled frock and black picture hat, but they seemed to like the slogan and not one of them turned away in scorn. Many of them grinned as they read the campaign document.

"He does not believe in justice to women," it continued. "He cannot, therefore, believe in justice to men and children. Vote for Saxe."

"That's the first time I ever did such a thing," said Mrs. Belmont, when she returned to headquarters and sat down to rest, "and I can't say the experience was altogether pleasant. It wasn't, however, nearly so bad as I had always supposed it might be."

"Whatever annoyance I suffered was due to purely subjective causes. Not a single person whom I approached," showed me the slightest discourtesy. I believe that no woman who is earnest and sincere need hesitate to speak for suffrage on the streets of New York or to distribute literature. So long as she conducts herself in a dignified manner she will be treated with respect. The time has gone by when suffragists are regarded in the light of dime museum freaks."

"As for Senator Agnew," continued Mrs. Belmont, "we expect to assist at his political burial in a few days. I have ordered an effigy of him falling out of a senatorial chair, and as soon as it is completed it will be placed on a wagon and driven through the district."

A protest meeting in front of the senator's house was planned for last night, but when the organizers for the ballot learned that the organizers for the protest decided to bottle their own until tonight.
